Fairfax chairman Gerry Connolly will be the Democratic nominee for an open seat in Virginia's 11th Congressional District.

Fairfax County Board of Supervisors Chairman Gerry Connolly (D-At-large) won his congressional district's Democratic primary June 10, capturing approximately 58 percent of the vote and more support than the three other candidates combined.

The win means Connolly will face Fairfax County businessman Keith Fimian for an open seat in Virginia's 11th Congressional District this fall. Incumbent Rep. Tom Davis (R) announced his retirement earlier this year and Fimian, who has never run for public office before, is the Republican nominee.

"Voters in the 11th District have an opportunity to change the direction of our country," said Connolly during his victory speech at the Police Association Hall in Fairfax.

If the chairman wins the general election, Connolly could contribute to a net gain for Democrats in the U.S. House of Representatives overall.

The high stakes of the race have led to some national attention already. After winning last night's election, Connolly received phone calls from the congressional Democrats' Majority Leader, U.S. Rep. Steny

"I was surprised by the margin. With this low of a turnout, I didn't think it would be this clear."

— Del. Mark Sickles (D-43)

Hoyer (Md.), and the head of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, U.S. Rep. Chris Van Hollen (Md.)

IN THE PRIMARY, Connolly received 14,228 votes. His closest competitor, former Rep. Leslie Byrne, collected 8,196 votes, or 33.35 percent of the total ballots.

Iraq War veteran Doug Denny won 1,508 votes, or 6.13 percent of the total. Physical therapist Lori Alexander garnered 638 or 2.59 percent of the votes.

Of the three localities included in the 11th Congressional District, the county chairman ran strongest in Fairfax County, where he received 60.48 percent of the vote. He also won in the City of Fairfax, where he received 54.76 percent of all ballots cast.

Byrne, considered Connolly's most formidable foe, won a larger percentage of the votes cast in Prince William County, with 45.07 percent to Connolly's 43.94 percent.

But overall, voter turnout was much higher in Fairfax County and Fairfax City than Prince William. Approximately 7 percent of Fairfax County's active voters and 8 percent of Fairfax City's active voters turned up to participate in the primary, compared to just 2.5 percent in Prince William County.

The lion's share of 11th Congressional District voters also live in Fairfax County. Those residents account for 290,000 of the 446,073 active voters in the district.

SEVERAL FAIRFAX COUNTY residents who participated in the Democratic primary said they supported Connolly because of his performance as county chairman over the

Dwight Day Arrested Federally, Locally

Dwight Freemont Day Jr., of Fairfax Station, is charged federally with conspiracy to distribute 500 grams or more of cocaine, according to an affidavit filed in U.S. District Court in Alexandria.

Day is accused of distributing cocaine from his house as well as his business, KMN Sheet Metal in Lorton, according to the federal affidavit.

His business grosses more than $10 million in sales annually, according to the business Web site.

His 5-acre house and property, in the 6600 block of Rutledge Drive in Fairfax Station, has been assessed earlier this year for more than $1.3 million. It was purchased in 2001 for $970,000.

One source, according to the federal affidavit, claims that Day has provided the source with cocaine about 300 times during the last seven years, including a gram on July 24, 2007 in Burke, which agents tested to have a purity of 46.3 percent.

Another source claims Day sold cocaine to the source from 2001-03. Another source purchased one ounce of cocaine from Day for $1,500 every two weeks the past two years, according to the affidavit.

Fairfax County Police and the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency identified a drug distribution conspiracy and illegal gambling business centered around Day in 2007, according to federal court documents.

While executing a court-ordered wiretap of Day's cellular phone in early 2008, agents heard Day "on several occasions taking and making bets with numerous subjects," according to affidavits filed by local police in Fairfax County Circuit Court.

"It became apparent to your affiant that Dwight Day was operating an illegal gambling/book making operation," according to the Fairfax court documents. "Your Affiant also monitored Dwight Day taking numerous orders from subject and placing orders with suppliers for quantities of cocaine."

Fairfax County Police arrested Day on March 28, 2008 for distribution of cocaine.

He is currently scheduled to face a pre

Another Round of Middle School Pleas

With $10 million set aside for construction, constituents urge School Board to build new school, not an addition.

In January, the School Board also committed to using $2 million set aside to deal with the U.S. Military's Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) decisions for the middle school. The Virginia General Assembly has also allocated funding to the Fairfax schools for BRAC-related issues that could be used for the new school's construction.

"But even with our South County community's past few years of activity, producing exactly what you requested, we are now more than just a little chagrined to learn ... that Mr. Tistadt has raised the South County Middle School's funding requirement to $53 million," McBride said.

Earlier this year, Tistadt had said building a middle school now would cost about $30 million to $40 million. But the request for a building with more capacity, from 1,000 to 1,250 students, and a change in location had brought the price up considerably, he said.

South County resident Elaine O'Hora likened the School Board considering building a wing instead of a middle school to Dorothy's treatment by the Wizard of Oz when she asked to go home.

"The injustice is palpable," she said. "By almost any measure, a 3,000-seat, post-elementary school is considered large. The common wisdom is that, in general, large schools are inconducive to an ideal learning environment. ... Convincing FCPS to build southern schools is like nailing Jell-O to a tree."

School Board members wary of the construction of a new middle school note that several other schools in the county have 3,000 or more students, including Hayfield Secondary, Lake Braddock Secondary, Robinson Secondary and Westfield High School.

They also expressed concern that the construction of a middle school might be fiscally irresponsible, if the county could solve South County capacity problems by adding a wing.

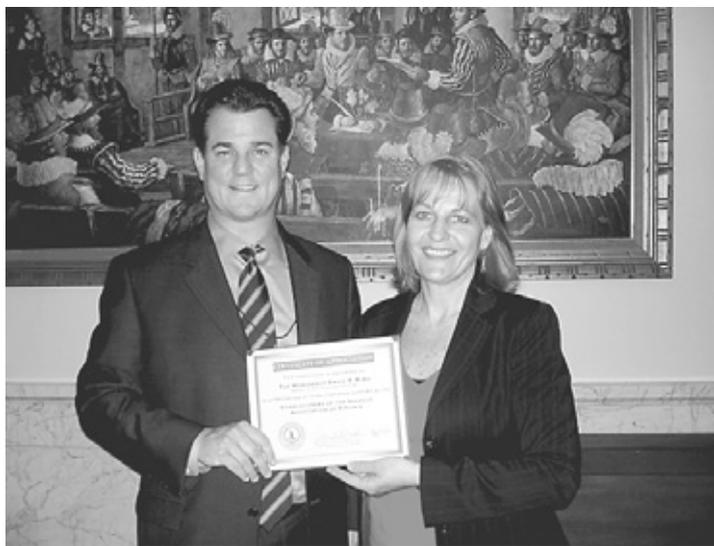

According to school system projections, a new middle school would add approximately 1,000 seats at the secondary level that would go unused. Tistadt said that the southern county region already has 1,300 extra seats, though he admitted it would be hard to move South County students into schools with capacity because of where the vacancies are located.

"I have expressed all along my concern that we are spending money we don't have for a school we don't need," said School Board member Stu Gibson, who, like most board members opposing the middle school, represents the northern part of the county.

Sharon M. McDonald, the president of the Commissioners of the Revenue Association of Virginia, formally expressed her gratitude to Del. David B. Albo (R-42). Albo was recognized for his opposition to recent state budget cuts that would have had a damaging effect on localities throughout the Commonwealth and their ability to generate revenue.

The office of the Commissioner of Revenue's job is to identify and assess all personal property, including the real estate of many localities, ensuring compliance with state and local tax laws, issuing licenses to businesses in many localities, administering fiduciary taxes like the meals tax and providing assistance in many localities with the filing of state income tax. The proposed cuts, which Albo opposed, would have eliminated 6 percent of state funding for all Commissioners of Revenue budgets. This would have led to a loss of essential personnel and county/city services.

Lorton Man Killed in Driveway

A 22-year-old Lorton man was found dead outside his home Saturday, the victim of an apparent shooting, according to a Fairfax County Police release.

On Saturday, June 7, at 10 p.m., the body of Feridullah Abbasi was found in the driveway of his home in the 6600 block of Paper Birch Drive in Lorton. According to the release, Abbasi apparently came home and was confronted by someone who shot him in the upper body. Neighbors called the police after they heard gunshots and saw the victim lying in his driveway.

Abbasi pronounced dead after he was flown to Inova Fairfax Hospital. An autopsy will be conducted this week. This is the ninth homicide in Fairfax County this year. No suspect information has been released.

"There were a lot of people across the region that night that were out and about," said Lucy Calewell, a public information officer with Fairfax County Police. "There were proms, graduation parties and outdoor events. So there are many people that we will need to talk to. Certainly, if there was anyone in the area that we don't know about, we would like to talk to them. We encourage them to call."

Fairfax County Public Schools has not intentionally built a secondary school for the past 30 years. So during a School Board meeting on Thursday, June 5, a group of parents from the South County area wondered why the Board would consider permanently turning their school, built as a high school, into a secondary school facility.

"If we build a wing, we surrender South County students to being in a permanent secondary school for the first time since the Nixon administration," said parent Eric Kleppinger. "You are so close to delivering on the promises made to the South County community."

Seven parents spoke in support of a middle school on the same evening a report written by Dean Tistadt, assistant superintendent of facilities and transportation, was on the School Board's agenda as new business. In the report, Tistadt and facilities staff recommend the School Board vote to build an addition on South County to accommodate the school's overcrowding and return it to a seven-period day, instead of the nine-period day it has used for two years.

The approval of the school addition may squash any hope of a new middle school, which residents in South County have been requesting for several years, but would address the issue of overcrowding more quickly.

The school may have to continue with a nine-period day, which extends hours for school staff and administrators, until 2017 if they wait for a new middle school. The building addition could be completed by 2014 and could allow the South County to return to a normal day three years earlier, according to school system documents.

But many residents and several School Board members support the idea of building a new middle school instead of a wing as recommended by staff. They said Fairfax County promised the South Community a middle school and should honor that agreement.

"I'm starting to feel like the Bill Murray character in the movie 'Groundhog Day,'" said Neal McBride, another middle school supporter.

The School Board requested the South County community develop a funding plan for a middle school one year ago and McBride noted, the community has "done that and more," listing a $10 million contribution from the Board of Supervisors for construction of a middle school.

who advocate for a new middle school said they do not trust the school system's student population projections, which have changed several times over the last few months and have been wrong in the past.

Rob Robertory, a member of the Middle School Solutions Group, provided a list of dates in the past 10 years when the School Board and facilities staff have made mistakes regarding the need for schools in southern Fairfax County, including a 1999 statement from facilities that "the area couldn't support a new school and that Hayfield was all that was needed."

South County Secondary opened in 2005 and was quickly 500 students over its 2,500-student capacity, which led to talks of a boundary study and change. However, Hayfield and Lake Braddock are no longer believed to have the extra capacity to handle the surplus students at South County.

"We have a Congressman in the 11th District who has made building a middle school in South County a priority, we have a delegate and [state] senator who sponsored legislation which the Virginia governor signed to aid in construction of South County Middle School, we have a Board of Supervisors that voted 10-0 to assist the middle school with $10 million," Robertory said. "It is unprecedented, the level of government and community support this cause has garnished because building a middle school is the absolute right thing to do."

South County was built as a high school, acting as a secondary school until the middle school was built, said Christine Morin, chair of the Middle School Solutions group. Land was set aside for an elementary school, a middle school and a high school when the Lorton prison closed, she said, and it was time to make good on that last piece of the education puzzle.

"Why not build a middle school with the capacity we need to bring in our neighbors from two miles away," Morin said, referring to students from Lorton Station that were moved to Hayfield after a boundary study in 2007.

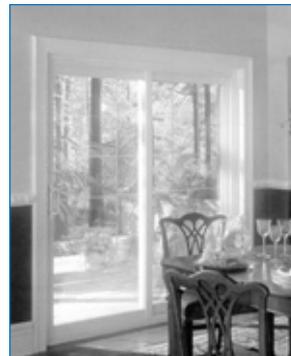

"A year ago, you asked us to find the funding solution to build a no-cost middle school and we've made tremendous progress," she said. "Wings are not acceptable."

Several speakers also mentioned two possible public-private partnership agreements, including one submitted by a developer and another in the works that would include EnviroSolutions, a waste management company, and the Fairfax County Park Authority. Fairfax County planning staff is considering both proposals, each of which included a $10 million contribution toward building a middle school.

Getting To Know ...

Colvin Wang, who will compete in the Summer Olympics.

BY LEAH KIEFF
THE CONNECTION

Colvin Wang, a sophomore at Thomas Jefferson High School and a resident of Fairfax, is headed to Beijing, China this summer to compete in the Olympic Games in the sport of Wushu. Wushu or Kungfu, as it is sometimes referred to, is the national sport of China, and while not an official Olympic sport, it is therefore a part of this year's Olympics. Wang will stay in the Olympic village and compete in a separate competition.

"Every time I tell someone I have to explain how it's not official Olympics and I don't even know what it is really," said Wang. "Also, when I tell them I'm going for Wushu they don't even know what it is or if they do they're like, 'Oh, Jackie Chan,' that's so fake."

Wang began studying Wushu when he was 6 and now trains 17 hours a week, 2 1/2 hours per day. He will compete in the spear and straight sword competition, as one of six members of the U.S. Olympic team. During the World Wushu Championships, Wang placed fourth, however the Chinese were not present. Wang hopes that the inclusion of Wushu this year will help the sport to gain international notoriety.

"I'm not nervous, I'll probably be nervous when I get there, because competitions are always like that," said Wang. "I'm excited to compete, showing off is pretty cool." Wang plays down his achievements. He dislikes it when the other students mention it at school.

Since Wang began Wushu, he has attended O-Mei Wushu Center in Merrifield and has been coached by Xiaolin Lu. "From 6-years-old at the beginning level he was winning, he was always competing at the adult level, first third then first eventually," said Lu. "Even with losses he kept trying. Every year, he's been the champion for his levels. He never says he's tired. If I say it's not good, he does it again. He's really good at concentrating. He's different from other students in that he's very self motivated. If I tell him to do it once, he'll do it three times. He's always thinking about technique."

Are you excited to be going to the Olympics? I'm not excited that much, what is there to be excited about? One reason I'm not excited is I'm not going to win. I'm excited to meet all the other athletes; I'm excited to meet the other Wushu athletes, because I admire them.

How do you feel about going to the Olympics?

I'm happy to be going, it makes me special, not many people go to the Olympics in their lives. A little bit of fame is pretty nice. It makes you kind of proud of yourself when people know you for your accomplishments who you don't know.

How do you balance your classes at Thomas Jefferson High School with your training schedule?

I do the least I can do to get by, like in Biology. I have a 93.5 and that's an A it doesn't matter if you have a 99 or a 93.5 it's all an A.

What is your favorite class at school?

I like history because the teacher's good, but I don't like history. I like computer science.

What is your favorite restaurant?

The Cheesecake Factory, their steak and of course the cheesecake, they're all good.

What is your favorite type of music? Favorite artist?

Rap or Techno, I would say Eminem but is he even around anymore?

"I'm excited to compete, showing off is pretty cool."

Fairfax Looks To 'Sister City' Relationship In Korea

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors endorsed a "sister city" relationship with Songpa-gu, a district located in the southeastern part of Seoul, Korea.

The supervisors voted to share best environmental, educational and cultural practices with the Korean locality at its June 2 meeting. The partnership would not require the expenditure of county funds, outside of e-mails and phone calls, according to supervisor Sharon Bulova.

Songpa-gu has a population of approximately 620,000 people spread over 34 square kilometers. It has four major subway lines and three major expressways near it and was the site of the main stadium for the 1988 Olympic Games.

The Mayor of Songpa-gu, Kim Young Soon, is aware of the large Korean-American community in Fairfax County and expressed an interest in becoming Fairfax's sister city in January. Fairfax County Public Schools has also been enthusiastic about the relationship, said Bulova.

Fairfax May Join Lawsuit over Prisoners

Fairfax County may sue Virginia if the commonwealth insists on renting 1,000 prison beds to other states when it could use them for hundreds of its own prisoners taking up space in county and city jails.

Supervisors directed staff to look into the possibility of a lawsuit at its June 2 meeting. They also asked officials to return with the precise number of state prisoners currently housed in the local Fairfax County jail.

County chairman Gerry Connolly said he thought it cost the locality approximately $125 per day to keep a prisoner in jail and Virginia reimbursed Fairfax for approximately $14 of that cost.

"It would be interesting to know has cost us [to house state prisoners] for the last five to 10 years," said supervisor Gerry Hyland (Mount Vernon.)

Others expressed concern that the keeping state prisoners in county jails was eating up the locality's ability to house offenders.

Fairfax Schools May Pass on Hybrids

Several Fairfax County School Board members are less than enthusiastic about automatically replacing the school system's cars with hybrid vehicles, a policy change called for by Fairfax's "cool counties" initiative.

Each hybrid would cost about $10,000 more for the school system to purchase than a regular vehicle, said the schools chief operating officer Dean Tistadt. Hybrids also require special motor oil and some maintenance has to be provided by the dealer, said school board member Tessie Wilson (Braddock.)

Other board members also said several questions remain about the environmental damage hybrid vehicle waste can cause.

"This is not such a simply swap. What looks like an environmental savings, it could actually be a wash," said at-large school board member Tina Hone.

If the school board decides to forego purchasing hybrids, it will run counter to similar decision made by the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors. The county government has already started buying hybrid vehicles in an effort to reduce its carbon footprint, said Fairfax County chairman Gerry Connolly in a recent debate.

"I know they are buying a lot of hybrids," said Tistadt.

Parents Would Lose Rights

Parents oppose Virginia proposal that could write their leverage out of special education regulations.

BY JULIA O'DONOGHUE
THE CONNECTION

Linda Falkenson's daughter doesn't pick up on the social cues that most other people do. She suffered from a stroke in utero that has left her with some challenging emotional disabilities.

At times, the 13-year-old, isolated at school, can make inappropriate comments or talk too loudly. She doesn't have full sensation around her mouth, so she doesn't realize that crumbs are on her chin, according to her mother.

Sometimes Falkenson is the only person who understands the full impact of her daughter's disability. So the Vienna mother does not understand why Virginia's Board of Education would consider decreasing her power over her daughter's special education.

Currently, a Virginia school system can only terminate a student's special education services with a parent's consent. But proposed changes to special education regulations would revoke this veto power. Parents would also lose the right to call additional meetings with school staff to review their child's "individualized education program."

"I am my daughter's best advocate," wrote Falkenson in testimony to Virginia's school board.

MORE THAN 100 PEOPLE, including Falkenson, signed up to speak before the state school board at Oakton High School June 2. Most came to oppose the proposed changes in special education regulations. Parents, students and other advocates were most concerned about the new limits that could be placed on parents of children with special needs.

"I know of no families who request services their child no longer needs," said Phyllis Yoshida, the special education representative on the McLean High School Parent Teacher Student Association.

Several said the change would end up hurting special education students and could lead to an increase in litigation on the part of parents. Without an avenue to secure the services their children deserve, families would be forced to resort to the legal system, said many parents at the hearing.

special education process can be summarized in two sentences: 'Parents, get out of the way and let us do our job. We're the professionals.' If only that were true," said Teresa Champion, a Springfield resident whose son has special needs.

The Oakton hearing was the eighth of nine the state school board conducted around Virginia. Complaints about the proposed limits on parents rights "have been a constant through out all the public hearings," said Charles Pyle, director of communications for the Virginia Department of Education.

One person spoke in favor of the proposal to eliminate parental consent during the hearing. Mary Lou Wall, of the Virginia Council of Administrators of Special Education, said it doesn't make sense to give parents unilateral veto

Special Education Report

In addition to concerns about changes in the state law, Fairfax County special education advocates are also worried about practices in the local school system.

In its annual report to the Fairfax County Public Schools, the school board's advisory committee on students with disabilities stated it is "very concerned that the rights of students with disabilities are being violated under [federal law] and their access to the education available to their non-disabled peers compromised."

The committee listed the following as some of the most "prevalent and pervasive" issues:

- ❖ Special education screening committees at local schools will require a child to fail before they will test for disabilities thereby forcing parents to forgo the support they have already put in place in order to get services.

- ❖ High school guidance counselors resist placing students with disabilities in accelerated classes.

- ❖ Some children must "work" their way back to a less restrictive environment.

- ❖ Some teachers do not have the proper training to implement the individualized learning plans of students with special needs in the general education classroom.

- ❖ Some school administrators are unprofessional or intimidating toward parents who are trying to be advocates for their children.

- ❖ Some schools fail to provide reading remediation to students in middle and high school who have been successful with accommodations but cannot read independently.

"There is a lot of confusion about these regulations. This is about celebrating children who tested out of special education," said Wall.

Even if the private funding materializes, the school system would still have to put up some cash to complete the middle school, meaning that other schools waiting for renovations could have more limited access to funding, said Tistadt.

The school system has not made any promises about which school communities would be receiving facilities funding in 2014, the year a South County Middle School project would start drawing down on capital dollars. But at least one community, West Springfield High School, has already started advocating for some renovation money.

"There is a real possibility of having West Springfield and South County Middle School competing for the same money," said Tistadt, who added that facilities had not determined whether West Springfield would be the next in line for facilities improvements yet.

But Lorton Station resident Greg Schuckman said his community deserves to go to the school two miles from their homes, not seven miles away to Hayfield. The division between the schools has created a sort of "Mason-Dixon line" in Lorton Station, and building a middle school would erase those boundaries.

Schuckman added that the construction and contractual support of workers arriving at Fort Belvoir from BRAC mandates will most likely move to Lorton to be closer to their clients, possibly bringing with them more children to attend South County schools.

"We've done more than any constituent should be asked to do in order to get schools," he said. "One community should have one school."

The School Board is scheduled to vote on whether to approve an addition Thursday, June 19.

More Reasons for Change

Price of gas, 'Code Red' add reasons to change behavior.

After days of intense heat, we begin this week with a "Code Red" air quality day, meaning that breathing the air is "unhealthy for all individuals."

On a "Code Red" day, no one should stay outside or exert themselves outdoors any longer than necessary, according to federal guidelines. At particular risk are active children and adults, and people with lung diseases, such as asthma.

EDITORIAL The primary causes of air pollution in Northern Virginia are vehicle emissions and pollution from power plants here and to the west.

Approximately 60-70 percent of the pollutants that cause ground-level ozone are created from vehicles, lawn mowers, other garden equipment and common household products, according to the Washington Metropolitan Council of Governments.

The price of gas has already motivated more commuters in the area to turn to public transportation. On predicted "Code Red" days, local bus service is free, which should provide even more incentive to see if you can use transit for all or part of your commute.

The price of gas is excruciating, and takes a far higher toll on the working poor, but at $4 a gallon and above, we're all motivated to seek conservation and alternatives. As businesses and individuals work to save money, the environment and air quality will also benefit. There's a chance that such measures could ease traffic as well.

ON BAD AIR quality days, children, older people and individuals with heart or respiratory ailments should reduce outdoor activities. Even healthy individuals should limit strenuous outdoor work and exercise.

Here are a few more suggestions to help air quality:

- ❖ Limit driving and when possible, combine trips or work from home.
- ❖ Use area bus and rail lines or carpool.
- ❖ Avoid mowing lawns with gasoline-powered motors.
- ❖ Refuel vehicles after dusk; avoid idling.
- ❖ Conserve electricity, keep air conditioning no lower than 78 degrees, turn off unneeded lights.

For the air quality forecast for Northern Virginia and links to maps, see <http://www.deq.virginia.gov/airquality>.

For more information, see www.epa.gov/airnow.

Consequences of Bad Air

While some people say they might consider moving out of the region because of the traffic congestion, for others the choice to move might be necessary to save their health.

Consider the risks:

❖ One out of every three people is at a higher risk of experiencing ozone-related health effects, including active, otherwise healthy children who spend a lot of the summer playing outdoors.

❖ People of all ages who are active outdoors are at increased risk because during physical activity, ozone penetrates deeper into the part of the lungs that are more vulnerable.

❖ Ozone can aggravate asthma. When ozone levels are high more people with asthma have attacks that require a doctor's attention or the use of additional medication. One reason this happens is that ozone makes people more sensitive to allergens, the most common triggers of asthma attacks.

❖ People with respiratory diseases that make their lungs more vulnerable to ozone may experience health effects earlier and at lower ozone levels than less sensitive individuals.

❖ Ozone can irritate the respiratory system, causing coughing, throat irritation, and/or an uncomfortable sensation in the chest.

❖ Ozone can increase susceptibility to respiratory infections.

❖ Ozone can inflame and damage the lining of the lungs. Within a few days, the damaged cells are shed and replaced — much like the skin peels after a sunburn. Animal studies suggest that if this type of inflammation happens repeatedly over a long time period (months, years, a lifetime), lung tissue may become permanently scarred, resulting in less lung elasticity and permanent loss of lung function.

When Fixing Up, Don't Get in a Fix

Better Business Bureau offers tips about when to do-it-yourself or hire a professional.

BY EDWARD JOHNSON

With the return of warmer weather, most folks find themselves sprucing up their residence. From planting flowers to hanging wallpaper, the "to-do" list can be lengthy. For many home improvement projects the tricky part is determining if it is a do-it-yourself (DIY) or a get-a-professional job.

According to the 2008 RemodelEstimates.com Remodeling Sentiment Report, 87 percent of those surveyed said that cost was their biggest concern when it comes to home remodeling projects. A third of respondents said they were planning to keep costs down by not hiring a contractor at all and another 46 percent said they would cut costs by doing at least some of the work themselves.

With the number of DIY shows on television, combined with tough economic times and the desire to save a buck or two, it is no wonder that the DIY-movement has gained significant momentum. However, consumers should use caution before jumping in to a project. The Better Business Bureau (BBB) warns that a lack of planning could land you in over your head. The need to save money should be balanced with having a job well done.

The BBB offers the following advice to help consumers make informed decisions on whether or not they need to enlist the help of professionals.

COMMENTARY ❖ Know what you're getting into

Cosmetic changes, such as painting lend themselves to DIY projects. Structural changes, such as plumbing, wiring or framing, are typically best left to the professionals. Even moving a bathroom sink a few inches can become a huge hassle involving re-routing the plumbing, painting, caulking and tiling. The BBB recommends that DIYers do some research on the project and realistically consider the scope of the project.

❖ Hiring a professional

If the project requires specialized skills or will take you an extensive amount of time, hiring a contractor is likely the best option. In doing so, the BBB recommends obtaining at least three detailed estimates. Then, compare the estimates and negotiate on issues that are important to you. Remember that once the project is underway, changes often result in additional expenses. Before you hire a contractor, start with trust and check their record with the BBB at www.mybbb.org. For your convenience, the BBB also has a list of BBB accredited member contractors. BBB accredited businesses and/or contractors associated with a professional association, like NARI, are committed to a code of ethics. This is important to bear in mind.

❖ Divide the work

One way homeowners can defray costs is to work with a contractor to determine what they can do on their own. Demolition work on the front end and clean-up or cosmetic work, such as painting or putting up wallpaper on the back end, are DIY projects that can keep costs down while the homeowner still reaps the benefit of having an expert for the "heavy lifting" that requires more skill.

❖ Weigh the costs

For DIYers, the BBB recommends comparison shopping. Saving money requires research, both online and with visits to home improvement and specialty supply stores.

❖ Get the right tools for the job

Some DIY jobs can be done with as little as a screwdriver or a hammer, but most require special tools that add to the cost of the project. Using the right equipment can mean renting large machinery or buying new tools.

Cool Solution to Heat Wave

Small, locally run ice cream shops offer retreat from the heat.

While ice cream lovers have multiple places to purchase their favorite frozen treats, from fast-food stores to nationally-known chains, the Fairfax area has several "mom and pop" outlets that harken back to the corner ice cream shops of long ago.

Peterson's Ice Cream Depot, found on 7150 Main St. in Clifton, has been open since April 2007 and is run by the town's mayor Tom Peterson and his wife Jean. "Mayor Peterson wanted to open an authentic ice cream parlor with a family atmosphere," said Ashley Whitehead, Peterson's employee and a Clifton native.

Within the shop, several concoctions can be found, including a new attraction, the ice cream wheel. Whenever a train passes through the town and the whistle blows, the first customer in line has the chance to spin the wheel and receives the item the wheel lands on for free. Items on the wheel include free toppings, small shakes or scoops of ice cream.

Children are also given the opportunity to create their own mix of flavors and toppings, and even name it after themselves. This can be seen directly above the ice cream wheel, with the current week's menu titled "Catherine's Treats." Peterson's has yet to undergo competition with major ice cream chains, as a strong town following and the large number of out-of-town customers steadily increase.

Dairy Bar on 6641 Arlington Blvd. in Falls Church. Decorated with a 1950s theme and specializing in custard making, the Frozen Dairy Bar overflows with historic content. Four generations of families have owned the property since the 1920s, until it was officially opened in the mid 1950s.

The third generation and current owners, the Aiken family, bought the shop in 1999 giving it a facelift while still remaining true to its historical integrity by offering its classic flavors of chocolate, vanilla and strawberry. In 2000, the Frozen Dairy Bar expanded to include Boardwalk Pizza in the shop.

"The shop is very much a part of our local community. We get plenty of stories of couples who met in line in our shop and

The Frozen Dairy Bar strives to maintain historic value in several ways, such as using the original custard machine that was used in the first shop over 50 years ago.

"We go the extra mile here. We make our high end custard and waffle cones fresh each day," said Natoli. For over six decades, Frozen Dairy Bar is another family owned business that has remained strong and successful.

The Sweet Life Café on 3950 Chain Bridge Road in Fairfax is another family run café, currently owned by Maureen Lederer. The café is hidden within a large house that dates back to the late 1800s. Opened in summer of 2006, the café specializes in ice cream, but serves a full menu as well.

The main attraction within the café is the large Jelly Belly Jellybean machine, which customers can use to top their ice cream.

"Kids love to use the jellybean machine; the ice cream changes from a snack to an activity," said Sweet Life Café employee Randall Colville, who is the nephew of the current owner. Seating is offered inside the café with large leather seats, and outside the café with a view of the City of Fairfax.

Finally, Woody's Ice Cream, which is located on 4005 Stonewall Ave. in Fairfax, is another locally owned ice cream shop. Opened in 1998 and named after its owner Woody Lashly, "Woody himself built this shop by hand. He wanted a classic ice cream shop with that vintage feel," said Woody's employee George Greco.

Woody's menu offers traditional and generally well-known items, such as milkshakes, banana splits, strawberry shortcake, root beer floats and hot fudge brownies.

"We know when customers crave our ice cream, so we are open from April 1 to Oct. 1," said Greco. "When it hits July, we've got lines down the street. There's something really satisfying about ice cream on a summer night. It hits the spot."

While it may seem like a dwindling business to some, family run ice cream shops are still as successful as they were decades ago, based on traditions, lifelong customers and the desire to return to the good ol' days.

"We get plenty of stories of couples who met in line in our shop and have been married for 40 years."

CAMPS & SCHOOLS

Select members of Hayfield DECA and teacher, Lynn Hendricks, spent a recent week in Atlanta, Ga., at the 62nd DECA International Career Development Conference. Anne Loughner and Jessica Berggren participated in "Hospitality Services Management Team Decision Making" and Joey Martelli and Chris Fuller competed in "Sports & Entertainment Marketing Management Team Decision Making."

Rebecca Wilburn retired last June after 40 years at Hayfield Secondary leading the drama department. To honor her, several hundred of her past students conducted a ceremony in the school's auditorium, which was named in her honor. Through the combined efforts of the Drama, Choral, Band and Orchestra Boosters, along with hundreds of patrons of the performing arts at Hayfield, a check was presented to Pat Burke, Fine Arts Department chair, in the amount of $10,217 to be used in Phase One of the Auditorium Sound/Lighting Upgrade in honor of Rebecca Wilburn.

Sallye Mahan-Cox's Art 2, 3, 4 classes at Hayfield have just completed an unusual project in which they had to identify a problem, decide on an appropriate solution, select the best agency to fix the problem, and then become an active agent in solving the problem. As the final part of the project the students are using money that was donated to the class and giving it to the agency they decided can help with their problem.

Some 26 Hayfield National Honor Society members, led by sponsor Levi Brown, attended the Alexandria Relay for Life cancer benefit at Thomas Jefferson High School. Joining the walk were Jinelle Baldorado, Kasey Cerney, Connie Chee, Lindsay Christensen, Katherine Drakeley, Paul Fitzsimmons, Christopher Folk, Carson Giammaria, Erika Guevara, Ariel Holton, Ji-Young Hwang, Austin Kim, Chris Kinkade, Brendan Kurzke, Adam Labriny, Matthew Lopez, Melissa Ngo, Alexander Olihovik, Jonathan Russell, Heather Thornton, Kim Tran, Adriana Velarde, Anthony Wilson and Tania Zsisler. The group raised $1,653 in donations and made up the largest single group to attend this event. Students also participated in activities including having a member of the group continually walking for the entire 15 hours.

Tech Adventure Camp is designed to give current fifth-, sixth-, and seventh-grade students an opportunity to explore careers and technology as they rotate through six areas over a two-week program. The courses offered at the 2008 camp are: Design in Mind, Focus on Forensics, A Virtual Life, It's a 3D World, Kid's Chef, and Robotic Engineer. Camp will take place at the Edison Academies, July 7-18, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day. The cost is $400 for Fairfax County residents and $500 for out-of-county residents. Registration Form A and information on the camp may be found in the Encore booklet now available online at <http://www.fcps.edu/DIS/OACE/summer/pdfs/Encore2008.pdf>. Registrations should be mailed no later than June 24 to: Summer School Registration, Adult and Community Education, 6815 Edsall Road, Springfield, VA 22151. More details and registration information can be found at 703-208-7789.

Bruins' Streak Snapped in State Semifinals

Three-run sixth propels Colonial Forge over Lake Braddock, 7-6.

BY PAUL FROMMELT
THE CONNECTION

This season, the Lake Braddock baseball team didn't make a habit of losing. The Bruins' historic 2008 season saw them win 20 consecutive games, a Patriot District title and their second Northern Region crown in three years. All of Lake Braddock's success this year made their 7-6 loss to Colonial Forge in the AAA Virginia state semifinals

AAA VHSL BASEBALL all the harder to swallow.

"It was swept right out from beneath us," said senior Shane Halley in the Bruins' dugout after the game. "This is like salt in a wound. This is bad."

Facing a 4-run deficit after two innings, the Bruins calmly took the lead in the top of the fourth with a 5-run inning that included a two-out, three-RBI double by senior catcher Steven Lindemuth. The Bruins collected three hits and walked twice in the inning to chase Colonial Forge starting pitcher Garrett Marin. Senior Brenden Daley hit a solo home run that hugged the left field foul pole to put the Bruins up 6-4 in the top of the fifth inning.

After Haley pitched 1 1/3rd scoreless innings, Lake Braddock head coach Jody Rutherford brought in junior Brian Derner, the Bruins' most consistent pitcher this year, to close out the game. Despite a large bandage over his left eye, covering an injury suffered in pregame warm-ups, Derner pitched a scoreless bottom of the fourth and retired the Eagles in order in the fifth inning.

In the sixth inning, however, everything fell apart.

With one out, Colonial Forge senior Nick Lanciault stroked a double and seniors Jason Kittell and Levi Hyamns drew walks off of Derner.

"Those walks were just some good at bats," said Rutherford, who said that he never entertained the idea of taking his junior ace out of the game. "He was our best. We were going to go down with our best. If I am going to lose, I am going to lose with my best pitcher."

The Eagles cut the Bruins' lead to one when senior Shayne Paskanik scored Lanciault on a groundout. The Eagles' next batter, junior Taylor Guinn, hit a slow roller up the middle to give Colonial Forge the 7-6 lead.

"That was not the way that we wanted to go out," said senior Shannon Mark. "It's just not the way that we wanted to go out."

Colonial Forge senior Jimmy Buel retired the Bruins in order to secure the victory.

It was the Bruins' first loss since April 1. "We are just proud for our guys. We played hard all year long. There is not much that you can say to make them feel better," said Rutherford after the game. "They played with heart. They showed a lot of class and represented the program well."

And One for the Thumb: Rams Win Fifth State Title

Baxter's goal in the 89th minute gives Robinson a 2-1 win.

BY PAUL FROMMELT
THE CONNECTION

Fighting 94-degree weather and an impressive offensive attack by Battlefield, it took two overtimes and an 89th minute goal by junior LeighAnne Baxter before the Robinson Rams could celebrate their fifth AAA Virginia state title with a 2-1 win over the Bobcats.

"Everybody was expecting us to do well this year and it was a weight on their shoulders. It is a relief now to live up to the expectations that everybody had," said

AAA VHSL GIRLS SOCCER

When Rike walked into Robinson on the first day of school last fall, he ran into Robinson Director of Student Activities Mike McGurk.

"We are going to win the state this year, right?" Rike remembers McGurk asking.

"We are certainly going to try," responded Rike.

Whether the Rams' DSA was joking or not, Rike knew that the expectations were there for his Rams this year. After watching neighborhood rival Lake Braddock take the AAA Virginia state title the past two years, the Rams began to feel the pressure to win their first state crown since 2002.

"It is something that we dealt with all year long," said Rike.

Entering the season, Rike, a recent VHSL Hall of Fame inductee, had led the Rams to eight Northern Region titles, eight Virginia AAA state semifinals appearances, five state finals appearances and four state titles.

After adding another Northern Region title last month and beating First Colonial and Woodbridge in the first two rounds of the state tournament, the Rams found themselves on the cusp of living up to all of those expectations against Battlefield on Saturday afternoon at Westfield High School.

From the first whistle, it became apparent that the Rams and Bobcats would be battling the sun as well as each other.

"I won't forget this one for a long time because of the heat," said Rike. "I was dying and I'm not talking from the tension, I'm talking from the heat. I can't imagine the kids on the field." The Rams and Bobcats combined for 10 shots in the first half, with none finding the back of the net. At halftime, Rike made sure to focus on the Rams being able to keep their composure.

"Both teams were playing in the same heat and both teams were feeling the same effect. I basically said that whoever made the first mistake was probably going to lose the game," he said. "If something happens, don't lose your composure."

In the 67th minute, it was the Rams that made the same mistake. Battlefield senior Jessica Jewell got behind the Rams' defense and received a lob from senior Alyson Shaughnessy, then placed the ball past Robinson senior goalkeeper Katherine Yount.

Just as Rike preached, however, the Rams kept their composure.

Just 23 seconds later, the Rams responded when sophomore Stephanie Johnson's cross somehow found its way into the back of the Bobcats net.

Just like that, the game was again tied.

"It says a lot about the kids," said Rike of the Rams' ability to quickly respond. "There is a lot of fight in these kids."

Regulation ended with the same 1-1 score, as did the first five minute overtime.

"I don't think that the girls wanted to go into sudden death. They had enough of the heat," said Rike.

Receiving a ball from senior Kristen Smith in the 4th minute of the second overtime, Baxter made sure that the Rams wouldn't have to go into sudden death.

"I was just hoping that it went in," she said after the game. "We just came out there and did what we had to do."

Drew Courtney: The King of Virginia Tennis

Robinson senior wins two more AAA Virginia state crowns to bring high school career total to 10.

BY PAUL FROMMELT
THE CONNECTION

Just days after winning his third consecutive AAA Virginia state boys tennis singles title and fourth consecutive doubles title, Robinson senior Drew Courtney lists the Robinson boys tennis team's 2006 and the squad's title this year as his two favorite moments of his high school career.

"Winning the state title for the first time in school history, that was an awesome experience," said Courtney. "Winning the team title this year, I'll remember that the most. It was so close with so many ups and down. Emotionally, it was the craziest thing that I have been involved with."

As for his individual titles, they're nice, but the team's titles are special.

"High school tennis is all about the team. Sharing it with all my friends and family and teammates," he said. "I love winning individual titles, but there is nothing like a team title."

With the Rams' third consecutive state team title won a week earlier, however, last Saturday's tournament finals at Jefferson District Park were all about Courtney. The Rams' senior easily dispatched Cox's Ian Frazier, 6-2, 6-1, to win his third state singles crown on Saturday morning.

Courtney was not done, however, as the senior grabbed a quick shower and lunch before joining Stephen Hardy in the boys doubles final against Mills Godwin's Kyle Parker and Kevin Calhoun. In a hotly contested match with temperatures reaching the mid-90s, Courtney and Hardy took care of Parker and Calhoun to win the pair's second consecutive doubles title. It was Courtney's fourth consecutive doubles title as he teamed with Mike Smith in 2005 and 2006.

"It is definitely hard to know that it is over," said Courtney of his high school career. "It was an amazing experience."

Courtney ends his career with 10 state titles – three singles, three team and four doubles titles.

"I knew that the team could have success and if I worked hard, I could continue success, but to actually do it is two different things," he said.

Courtney, who will play tennis for the University of Virginia next year, will travel down to the Charlottesville campus over the summer to work out with some of his teammates.

"I'm not nervous at all," he said. "I am eager and excited to go down there and bring more success."

Rams Fall Short of State Title

Robinson boys soccer braves heat but falls to Deep Run, 1-0.

BY JOHN C. MARCARIO
THE CONNECTION

Robinson did not have enough energy, or luck, in trying to win its first AAA Virginia state boys soccer title, losing 1-0 to Deep Run at Westfield High School on June 7. The Wildcats scored the game's only goal in the 12th minute as senior Bryan Wharton scored near the goal line after a pin-point pass from fellow senior Brian Ownby.

AAA VHSL BOYS SOCCER

The Rams offense did not get in gear until the second half as they had a handful of scoring chances, but were unable to get the equalizer. Robinson captain, senior Seth Goldman, played only 28 minutes after missing time since injuring his left knee in the first round of the regional tournament.

"You can't say enough about our team. We worked hard and fought to the last minute. I am proud to be a Robinson Ram," said Goldman, who played with a slight limp.

The Wildcats recorded their 17th shutout this season as the Rams were held to one goal or less for the ninth time this year. Robinson had three shots on goal while Deep Run had four. Ram goalkeeper Adrian Dominguez made the save of the game in the second half as he stonewalled Ownby who got past two defenders and had a one on one opportunity against Dominguez. The game was played in extreme heat – near 100 degrees temperatures. Players and coaches said that had an affect on the outcome. Robinson's 1-0 semifinal win over Thomas Dale the day before was close throughout and played during the afternoon as a heat warning was in affect in Fairfax County. Meanwhile Deep Run had an easy 6-0 win over Kecoughtan, as several starters rested in the second half. The game was played during the evening hours.

"They got the one goal and we were down and we put out heads down," Robinson sophomore Alex Makcumbi, who scored the game winning goals in the teams first two state tournament games, including a 1-0 victory over Cox in the opening round.

Makcumbi and Goldman both added that making it to the state finals was a major building block from where they came from earlier in the season.

"For the program, it's just ridiculous. I am glad to leave my senior year going to states," Goldman said.

The Robinson boys soccer team fell one game short of winning the AAA Virginia state boys soccer title.

Added Makcumbi: "At the beginning of the season we played bad and everyone thought we were the underdogs. Then we beat Westfield and we did some big things. We didn't win districts, we didn't win regionals, but we came this far, overall it was a good season."

Robinson head coach Jac Cicala failed in his bid to win his fifth state title, having won four with Lake Braddock having won back-to-back in 1982-83 and 1987-88.

Connolly Wins Congressional Primary

last four years.

"Connolly is like a [Lyndon Johnson] figure. He can get things done and move stuff along," said Jonathan Ottke, a Burke Democrat voting at Lake Braddock Secondary School.

Connolly, himself, has emphasized his performance as an elected official, noting Fairfax County has been recognized as the best managed county in the country during his tenure. The locality has also received national attention for its school system and enjoys the lowest crime rate of the nation's 100 largest jurisdictions.

Supervisor Sharon Bulova (D-Braddock), who serves as vice chairman of the Board of Supervisors, said she wasn't surprised by Connolly's strong showing in Fairfax County.

"I think Gerry has been an outstanding chairman. I expected him to win by very large margins in Fairfax County," said Bulova.

OTHERS EXPECTED a stronger showing by Byrne, who has represented parts of the district in the House of Representatives, State Senate and House of Delegates. Connolly beat Byrne by a little over 24 points.

"I was surprised by the margin. With this low of a turnout, I didn't think it would be this clear," said Del. Mark Sickles (D-43), a Connolly supporter who represents the Franconia area in Virginia's General Assembly.

Internal polls for the Connolly campaign had always showed about a 20-point difference between the two candidates, but even members of the chairman's campaign staff had thought the race would be tighter.

"Our polling showed it, but I thought the margin would close," said Celinda Lake, whose company, Lake Research Partners, conducted field polls for Connolly's campaign.

Several people speculated that Byrne's negative campaign against Connolly could have done more harm than good for her campaign.

Byrne and other groups supporting her campaign sent several pieces of direct mail to Democratic voters that bashed the chairman, particularly for his part-time employment in community relations at Science Applications International Corporation (SAIC), a government contractor that has received business as a result of the War in Iraq.

"When you attack somebody for being a government contractor in this area, it will most certainly backfire," said Sickles.

Some outside groups have also attacked Connolly on behalf of Byrne over the past several weeks.

A few of Virginia's most prominent Democratic political bloggers backed Byrne and criticized Connolly by trying to link him to Davis and other Republicans over the past several weeks. Many Democrats said they crossed a line by demonizing the county chairman in recent posts.

"I truly think that the bloggers, particularly Raising Kaine and Not Larry Sabato, hurt Leslie Byrne in this campaign. They posted mistruths and misrepresentations. It was revolting in my book," said George Burke, chairman of the Democrat's 11th Congressional District committee.

Others were upset with EMILY's List, a national political action committee that tries to help women who support abortion rights get elected to office. The group contributed at least $23,550 to Byrne's efforts and paid for several negative mail pieces against Connolly.

"It's hard enough to see that stuff in the mail, to know that your neighbors are seeing it too ... But EMILY's List embarrassed me as a woman. How can women around the country make assumptions about my husband?" said Smitty Connolly, the candidate's wife.

CONNOLLY ALSO sent negative mail pieces, including ones that attempted to tie Byrne to alcohol and tobacco lobbyists and all the negative campaigning may have turned voters off.

Those residents who usually participate in Democratic primaries said their mailboxes were flooded with fliers from both campaigns over the last several weeks. On primary day, many said they would be happy to see the end of the race.

"I am sick and tired of politics as usual. Negative campaigning is not something I am in favor of," said Burke resident Len Heimowitz, who called some of the direct mail he had received "awful."

Springfield resident Christine Stark said Byrne and Connolly, who promoted themselves as being "pro-environment," could have done a lot of good by not sending their "colored, non-recyclable fliers" through the mail.

Still, others said they were prepared for things to get nasty.

"I don't think anybody was surprised this campaign ended up negative," said Burke.

Many Democratic activists are trying to look forward to the general election in the fall, where they said Connolly has a very good chance of winning.

But the Democratic nominee cautioned his supporters not to be too confident. Connolly has spent most of the $653,518 he raised on the primary and Fimian, who is personally wealthy, still has most of his $957,263 available.

"Don't believe it is going to be easy," said Connolly of his race against the Republican.

stop of Moomau, Fairfax Police seized $2,800 from Moomau, according to court documents.

That same day, around 4:30 p.m., police learned from monitoring Day's cell phone that another source was going to purchase cocaine from Day. After the source left Day's business, Fairfax Police stopped the source's vehicle and seized 1 ounce of cocaine, according to the federal affidavit. Day's ex-wife was named as the source of that information, according to Fairfax County Circuit Court documents.

"Joyce Day stated that she had just purchased an ounce of cocaine from her ex-husband Dwight Day and that she had purchased it for $1,500. Joyce Day further stated that she currently does not work and her only source of income is a monthly payment of $12,000 in alimony that she gets from Dwight Day," according to the Fairfax County affidavit.

On the same day, Fairfax County Police arrested Dwight Day, who had $5,300 in cash, for distribution of cocaine. Dwight Day's vehicle was later searched and approximately one-half ounce of cocaine was seized from his briefcase in the trunk of his vehicle, according to the federal affidavit.

Police executed search warrants at Dwight Day's residence and his business, and agents seized approximately $270,000 and five rifles. According to the federal affidavit, Day is a convicted felon and a regular cocaine liminary hearing in Fairfax County General District Court later this month.

Day was also charged in federal court on May 21. According to federal court records, his bond motion was rejected because he "presents a risk of danger to the community due to the nature of the charged offense; criminal history and unknown information regarding illegal drug use."

At the time of this story, Day has not been charged with gambling activity, according to Fairfax County Circuit Court, General District Court and federal court records.

INTERCEPTION OF Day's cell-phone calls on Feb. 11, 2008 provided information that a source purchased cocaine from Day's residence.

Fairfax County Police arrested this source. He or she claims to have purchased 1 ounce of cocaine from Day for $1,500 every two weeks the past two years.

Agents claim Day's cocaine source is Richard Moomau, who is also charged in the same case, according to the federal affidavit.

On March 28, more court-ordered interception of Day's cell-phone calls provided information that Moomau was going to provide Day with cocaine at Day's business. Around 1:30 p.m. that day, police observed Moomau enter Day's business and leave two minutes later. During a subsequent traffic
