When the Centreville High football team looked to be in danger of losing a late game lead in last Saturday afternoon's Div. 6 Northern Region championship game at local rival Westfield, the Wildcats displayed the fortitude and character which they have showcased all season long throughout their marvelous autumn.

With Westfield threatening to tie the game or take the lead over the final six minutes, Centreville stood up admirably to the game's — and perhaps the season's — greatest test. Centreville held off a determined, previously unbeaten Westfield team, 27-24, to gain its first region crown since 2000 and earn a trip to the state AAA playoffs. Two late game defensive stands by the Wildcats, and a blocked field goal by Connor Coward with a minute remaining, clinched the hard-fought win for Centreville. The Wildcats (12-1) are now set to take on Central Region champion Hermitage High in a state semifinals game this Saturday in Richmond.

"This is my first [region title] as a head coach and I will remember this for a long time," said Centreville head coach Chris Haddock, the former Fairfax High coach who is completing his second season with the Wildcats. "These kids deserve this. They have worked hard and set goals. They've done everything I've asked."

Connor Coward of Centreville made the game's biggest play when he blocked a field goal in the final minute. Here, he runs with the ball following one of his four catches.

Westfield, with the finals lost, finished 12-1 in head coach Kyle Simmons' first season. It was a spectacular year for the Bulldogs, this year's Concorde District champions. In Saturday's game, Westfield nearly overcame a 27-10 fourth quarter lead but ended up falling short.

"I am very proud of our kids and staff," said Simmons. "They gave great effort to battle back from 17 points down. "Centreville has a very good team and Coach Haddock and his staff should be com

A Show To Ring In the Holidays

Encore performs "Santa's Special Delivery."

It will definitely feel like the holidays when Encore Theatrical Arts Project presents its musical extravaganza, "Santa's Special Delivery." The 35-member cast has rehearsed since July, and is now ready to burst upon the stage.

"People will hear new Christmas songs, as well as old favorites," said director and choreographer Raynor van der Merwe. "The story is engaging and uplifting, and the sets and costumes are colorful and joyous."

The show opens in New York City outside Macy's and Radio City Music Hall, and there are also scenes in front of Rockefeller Center. Act two features Santa's workshop, 20 feet high and 42 feet wide, with balconies and stairs, plus a slide for newly made toys to go down.

"There's also a cocoa shop for Santa and the elves," said van der Merwe. "And for the finale, set designer Tabitha Dees has created a glorious forest of snow-covered trees."

Besides the Encore members who are local students, guest per

Stone Middle School Presents 'Bye Bye Birdie'

Musical opens Dec. 8.

Featuring toe-tapping tunes, creative choreography and a cast and crew of 40, Stone Middle School presents the musical, "Bye Bye Birdie."

The show bursts upon the stage Thursday, Dec. 8, at 3 p.m.; Friday, Dec. 9, at 7:30 p.m.; and Saturday, Dec. 10, at 3 p.m. Tickets are $5 at the door; tickets for Thursday's show are only available in advance during school lunchtimes.

The students have been rehearsing since early September, and Director Lois Stanziani Walsh says things are "coming along beautifully. This is hard work, but it's a fun piece, and the kids jumped right in."

"The story is a satire of the Elvis time period and the turmoil that he and rock and roll caused in America," she said. "So the music and dancing reflect the spirit and energy of that time. This show was a Broadway classic, so we have to be true to it."

Lend a Hand to Our Neighbor's Child

BY BONNIE HOBBS
CENTRE VIEW

Anyone with a Christmas list knows how hectic and expensive it can be buying gifts for everyone on it. Imagine, then, the monumental task of purchasing presents for more than 600 families.

Yet that's what the all-volunteer, nonprofit group, Our Neighbor's Child, is doing for people in need in Centreville, Chantilly, Clifton, Fair Oaks and Fair Lakes.

It's a huge undertaking, but ONC can't do it alone. It counts on residents and businesses in the local community to open up their hearts and wallets and lend a hand.

"We see so many people losing jobs or being evicted from their homes, with their belongings on the street," said ONC Clothing Coordinator Denise McInerney. "But in this generally affluent area, most people don't even realize it's happening."

Yet, continued McInerney, "There's a lot more [poverty] around here than you'd think. When I tell people what areas we cover, they're shocked, because they don't realize the need here."

That's why she's hoping people will go to the various local churches, schools and businesses containing ONC giving trees, pick ornaments from them and buy the requested gifts for the children and teens who, otherwise, would receive nothing on Christmas.

"We always need coats and hats," said McInerney. To drop off new clothing, people may contact her at oncdenise@aol.com. But that's not all that's needed.

"We especially need items for teens because most people think of buying things for little kids," she said. "But teen-agers like getting presents, too, and gift cards are a great idea."

She said gift cards to stores such as Target and Kohl's are appreciated, as are cards for iTunes, Starbucks, Manhattan Bagel, Dunkin' Donuts, Chipotle, etc. — "any of the places kids like to hang," said McInerney. "Gift cards to movie theaters would also make good presents."

ONC provides new toys and clothing, as well as homemade cookies, for the families; but sometimes, the requests are for other things. Said McInerney: "We also need a

Workman Electrocuted

A 36-year-old Springfield man died Monday after being accidentally electrocuted while working on a house in Centreville. Authorities identified him as Edin Javier Carranza Cruz of the 7200 block of Commerce Street.

The incident occurred Nov. 28, around 1 p.m., at a single-family home in the 14400 block of Tracy Schar Lane in the Willoughby Woods community, off Old Centreville Road. When Fairfax County police and Fire and Rescue personnel responded, they found Cruz lying on the ground outside the front of the home.

He was employed by a window-installation company and was one of five people working on the house at the time of the tragedy. Police say Cruz was in the process of moving a ladder when it came into contact with power lines near the home. He received a substantial electrical shock and was transported to Inova Fairfax Hospital, where he was pronounced dead a short time later. Police had no information about whether Cruz left behind a family.

Free Carseat Inspections

Certified technicians from the Sully District Police Station will perform free, child safety carseat inspections Thursday, Dec. 1, and Dec. 15, from 5-8:30 p.m., at the station, 4900 Stonecroft Blvd. in Chantilly. No appointment is necessary. But residents should install the child safety seats themselves so technicians may properly inspect and adjust them, as needed.

However, because of time constraints, only the first 35 vehicles arriving on each date will be inspected. That way, inspectors may have enough time to properly instruct the caregiver on the correct use of the child seat. Call 703-814-7000, ext. 5140, to confirm dates and times.

Christmas Parade, Homes Tour

Christmas comes to the Town of Clifton, this Saturday, Dec. 3. Starting at 2 p.m., there'll be a parade of horses, decorated for the holidays, all through the town. Visitors are then encouraged to check out Clifton's shops and restaurants prior to the Candlelight Tour of Homes, from 4-7 p.m.

Five historic houses are on the tour, plus two churches, the Clifton caboose and the Masonic Acacia Lodge. The churches will have live music, and Dickens Carolers in old-fashioned, holiday attire will add to the ambience.

Homes-tour tickets are available in town at A Flower Blooms in Clifton, NOVA Music and T&K Treasures. They're also at Picket Fence in Burke and Banner's Hallmark in Centreville. Cost is $20, adults; $5, children under 12, before Dec. 3. That day, they're $25 and $10, respectively. For more information, e-mail Jennifer Chesley at townofclifton@aol.com or see www.cliftonva.us.

Sully District Council Meeting

To avoid the winter holidays, the Sully District Council of Citizens Associations and its Land-Use Committee will meet next month on the third Thursday, Dec. 15, at 7 p.m., in the Sully District Governmental Center, 4900 Stonecroft Blvd. in Chantilly. Call Jeff Parnes, evenings, at 703-904-0131.

Three presentations are scheduled:

- ❖ I-66 Automated Traffic Management plans;
- ❖ Outside the Beltway Tier 1 Environmental Impact Statement from I-495 to U.S. Route 15;
- ❖ Proposal to construct and operate a wireless telecommunications facility at Centreville United Methodist Church.

WFCM Seeks Food, Volunteers

Western Fairfax Christian Ministries' (WFCM) food pantry urgently needs donations of jelly, jam, spaghetti sauce, boxed potatoes, canned meats, fruit, spaghetti, vegetables (no green beans), juice, pancake mix and syrup, oil, sugar and cereal. Also needed are deodorant and toilet paper. (Toiletry items cannot be purchased with food stamps).

The most-urgent, thrift store needs are the donations of baby clothes and coats for re-sale in the thrift store. Bring all items to WFCM'S food pantry at 13981 Metrotech Drive (near Backyard Grill and Bar) in Chantilly.

Turkey Trot Raises $75,000

The 23rd annual Virginia Run Turkey Trot is now in the record books — and it was one of the largest and most successful races in the event's history. Between the 5K race and 2K fun walk, almost 6,000 people registered for the Thanksgiving Day event.

This year's Turkey Trot was run in memory of long-time, Virginia Run resident Wes Neff, who died of cancer in February at age 53. And proceeds from the event raised some $75,000 for Life with Cancer, Inova Health System's nonprofit program for cancer patients and their families.

"That was terrific," said event Co-chair Dominic DeVincenzo. "I'm very proud of everybody in the community and everybody who participated." He said some 4,200 people registered for the 5K and 3,750 actually did it.

"Running is really popular, and this race is for a good cause and really resonates with people, so they come back year after year," said DeVincenzo. "And we had great community support. Last year and this year, we raised the most money ever with this event."

He also tipped his hat to his co-chair, Laurie Horstmann, for doing such a wonderful job organizing the event, and to Virginia State Trooper Dean Jones for handling the traffic that day. After all, said DeVincenzo, "The intersection of Wetherburn Court and Pleasant Valley Road wasn't meant to hold 6,000 people."

From left are Steve Boyles and Gordon Hay. Boyles has served on the Turkey Trot committee for 22 years; Hay is the founder and director of Life with Cancer.

"Dean has been bringing State Troopers with him to every race since 1989," added Horstmann. "That year, we only had 150 runners and it snowed, so Dean was the only one."

Winning last week's 5K race was 19-year-old Alex Clark of Burke in a time of 16:05. Capturing second place was Scott Maxfield, 21, of Oak Hill in 16:25. Taking third was Taylor Torino, 19, of Fairfax in 16:29.

The top female finishers were, respectively, Kerry Hartman, 22, of Centreville in 18:33.5; Alisa Harvey, 46, of Manassas in 18:41.4; and Hayley Sullivan, 22, of Burke in 18:49.

The three fastest male and female Virginia Run residents also received prizes. This year, the fleetest males were, respectively, Timothy Boyles, 16; Kevin Deely, 15; and Daniel Coo, 17. And the quickest females, respectively, were Lauren Hicks, 18; Lindsay Andres, 24; and Kathy Barton, 17.

"It was a terrific turnout and a beautiful morning for the event," said Horstmann. "The founder and Emily Altadonna did the choreography. Accompanying the singers during the show will be pianist Carol Farn and drummer Marty Risemberg, both from GMU.

Playing the title role of Conrad Birdie is eighth-grader Collin Fiala. “He’s a rock star going into the Army, and his manager’s secretary, Rosie, picked a member of his fan club at random for him to kiss before he leaves,” said Collin. “But she has a jealous boyfriend.”

He described Birdie as a 25-year-old womanizer. “Everyone loves him, and even some parents are dazed by him,” said Collin. “He’s also a drunk. Everyone thinks he’s really cool and all that; but as Rosie says, ‘He’s just a greasy, bongo-playing car thief.’”

Collin’s enjoying his part because “I get to interact with the other characters, and Birdie’s the ‘face’ of the story.” His favorite number is “Honestly Sincere” because it’s Birdie’s first song and lets the audience see who he really is.” He said the audience will like everyone’s acting because “we’ve really bonded and work well together.”

Classmate Madison McCrory portrays Rosie, who’s both the secretary and girlfriend of Birdie’s manager, Albert Peterson. “She wants Albert to go back to teaching English and sees him in the music business as a bum,” said Madison. “She’s strong-willed and really loves Albert, but it’s difficult because he’s always off doing other things. And his mother hates Rosie and doesn’t want any girl taking him away from her.”

Her role’s fun, she said, because “Rosie has a lot of energy. She’s angry much of the time, but also has her good moments.” Madison especially likes the song, “English Teacher,” which she sings. “It’s fast-paced, so it’s fun to sing and has lots of gestures in it,” she said. Madison said the audience will also like the McAfee family – whose daughter Kim will get to kiss Birdie – “because they’re really funny.”

Playing Kim McAfee is eighth-grader Sarah Damers. “She’s happy and joyful and loves life,” said Sarah. “She and her boyfriend Hugo are going steady. But once she’s selected for the kiss, she becomes even more obsessed with Conrad. Her personality’s like mine, in a way. She’s positive, but not too out-there. She’s proud of who she is and what she likes.”

Sarah likes her solo, “One Boy,” because it explains Kim’s feelings about Hugo to him. She also likes the number, “A Lot of Living to Do,” because “it’s a catchy tune, is really energetic and we do a great dance to it.” She said the audience will enjoy the whole production because “we have a talented cast and the storyline is fun, upbeat and different from what’s performed in regular school shows.”

Classmate Eni Oyeleye portrays Birdie’s manager, Albert Peterson. “He’s well-meaning, but frustrated, because he has a domineering mother who doesn’t accept Rosie, the woman he loves,” said Eni. “He can also be both introverted and obnoxious. The character is 33 — much older than me — so this role is a nice way to explore acting as someone not close to my age.”

His favorite song is “Healthy, Normal, American Boy,” in which “Rosie and I sing opposing stories about Conrad together. Almost the whole town, including reporters, hears us. But we haven’t checked to know which version is true.” Eni said the show’s funny and the audience will like its “mix of serious and comic characters.”

Playing Kim’s father, Mr. McAfee, is eighth-grader Embrey Grimes. “He’s spent a lot of time dealing with kids and he finds both of his own annoying,” said Embrey. “The only thing that brings him joy is ‘The Ed Sullivan Show.’”

Embrey loves this part, especially his monologue where McAfee rants about his children. “It’s so much fun to do,” he said. “When my son Randolph — played by Andrew Sharp — ‘kisses up’ to me, I get to tell him to shut up; but in real life, he and I are really good friends.” Embrey likes the “Ed Sullivan” song because “my character learns he’ll be on the show and sings a dream number about it.” He also likes singing “Kids,” about why he doesn’t like children.

He said this show will “bring the audience back to another time and everyone will find something in one of the characters to relate to. The sets are amazing and the songs are really fun and catchy — the audience will be singing them as they leave the theater.”

The costumes and set are in a color palette of mainly blue, peach, yellow and purple. The costumes include pedal pushers, dresses and black-leather jackets. Scenes take place in the McAfee home; Kim’s home town of Sweet Apple, Ohio; Penn Station and the Sweet Apple railroad station.

Eric De Marco headed up construction of the 1950s-themed set. “It’s mod and youthful,” said Walsh. “We extended our stage with risers, and the aisle will even be lit for Conrad’s entrance.”

She said it’s been fun watching her young actors “learning about 1950s culture and embracing it. They even had to learn how to hold and dial a telephone. And I think the audience will love the whole experience and will feel like they were there.”

director of Life with Cancer [LWC], Gordon Hay — who will be retiring at the end of the year — was out to start the race.”

“Everything went well,” added DeVincenzo. “I’m exhausted, but very happy.”

Virginia Run’s Turkey Trot was founded in 1989 and, originally, said Horstmann, its purpose was to promote health, community spirit and raise money for charity. That first year, the money raised by the event went to the American Red Cross; the next two years, Western Fairfax Christian Ministries (WFCM) was the beneficiary.

“Then in 1992, our neighbor and friend, Gail Kurkjian, was diagnosed with breast cancer,” said Horstmann. “We wanted to do something for her and she asked us to donate the money to LWC, the organization that was helping her and her family — three young girls — cope with her cancer.” So the Turkey Trot organizers got in touch with Hay and formed a lasting relationship.

“Sadly, the community lost Gail in 1995,” said Horstmann. “But her spirit lives on — along with many others that have been stricken by cancer — not only in the Virginia Run community, but also in our surrounding neighborhoods.”

Since its inception, the Turkey Trot has raised more than $720,000 for LWC. “In 2010, we raised $76,000 and had over 4,400 participants,” said Horstmann. “But we could not put on the race without the community volunteers, our generous sponsors or our loyal participants.”

Clifton home's holiday decorations unique, animated.

A Christmastime Wonderland

BY BONNIE HOBBS
CENTRE VIEW

There are homes decorated for the holidays—and then there's Jerry Martoncik's house. Not only does he have a vast array of holiday sights and scenes adorning his front yard, but he designed, built and animated them.

"It takes 25 full days to get everything up and working," he said. "People tell me they have to come back two and three times to see it all."

Martoncik, 68, is a former computer-systems developer who, for 11 years now, has put his skills and experience to good use creating a winter wonderland outside his Clifton home. The lights go on, the day after Thanksgiving, and stay on through Jan. 2.

"When my son was 10 or 12 years old, he wanted me to build some yard displays, but I didn't have the time," said Martoncik. "But when I retired and he was 17 or 18, we started building them together."

Since then, word's gotten out about the holiday fantasyland in his yard and, each year, people come from miles around to see the colorful animations. "But you can't just drive by, or you'll miss a lot of it," he said. "You've got to stop, take time and really look at things."

Of course, there are lots of lighted stationary items, such as candy canes, Christmas ornaments and poinsettias, plus small-scale animations. But the show-stoppers are the 11 illuminated, computer-controlled, animated scenes. They include a ski jump, a fox chasing a rabbit and a snowball fight during which the snowballs usually miss their targets but, every so often, hit their mark.

"A big crowd-pleaser is the flying Santa," said Martoncik. "He goes from the North Pole to my house with a sleigh and a team of reindeer. Then Santa walks across the roof to the chimney, goes down it and back up and then walks to his sleigh. When I first put him up, about four years ago, tons of people came by. For about 2 and a half hours on Christmas Eve, 70-80 adults with toddlers were watching him from my driveway."

Also popular is the skating snowman. With his hands on his hips, he turns to his right and his feet go into a skating position. Then he skates down the ice, slips, tumbles and lands on his head and hands, upside down in the snow. Then a sign comes on reading, "Oops." Martoncik said people also like the sign saying, "Hey, kids, watch me." And then children enjoy watching the snowman's antics because "he's like a clown on ice."

But, said Martoncik, "The highlight of the whole thing is the Nativity scene. Inside are 86 different characters, either moving in unison or at different times. There are descending angels, shepherds walking, plus wise men riding camels."

He and his son, daughter and wife plan out the entire, yard display each year. Almost 100,000 lights and more than 10,000 feet of wire make it all "come alive." And for 1 and a half months, Martoncik's electric bill increases by about $170/month. But he doesn't mind because he knows it brings so much joy to others.

Each animated scene is operated by a computer called a microcontroller, programmed to cause each character in each scene to move and to go on and off at certain times. "I created all the circuit boards to make the computer operate," said Martoncik. "But I used to develop computer systems, so that was right up my alley. And I enjoyed the mere challenge of taking it on and seeing if I could do it."

So what's his favorite part? "I like the Nativity scene best because it's the reason for the season," he said. "And when you watch it, you can see the whole story of the Nativity taking place."

Still, it's a tremendous amount of work, each year, to make the display possible. "We started repairing things in October and setting it up outside, Nov. 1," said Martoncik. "It's such a big job and a time-consuming effort. But it's a good hobby and I've always liked to do it. I also enjoy talking to the people who come by. And I want to give people who've never seen it before the opportunity to do so."

However, for their own safety, visitors are not allowed to walk down Martoncik's driveway or go inside the display, itself. They're encouraged to get out of their cars for a better look, but they should remain on his cul-de-sac's gravel road. If it's raining, the lights won't be on. But, said Martoncik, "The lights look great in the snow." His address is 6512 Hanover Heights Trail. From Clifton Road, at the triangle before the Town of Clifton, turn left onto Newman Road, right on Fairfax Station Road and left on Hanover Heights. "The house is on the left," said Martoncik. "You can't miss it."

places.

One way to be sure holiday shopping comes with some holiday spirit is to do a portion of your shopping in some of the area's locally owned stores. There is special holiday ambience available by shopping in the heart of a town that is decked out for the season. Small retail shops are part of defining any community. Their livelihood depends on the livability and quality of the neighborhoods around them. A small business owner pays attention to every detail in his or her business in a way that no chain can.

Frequently, it is the small retail person who is active in fund raising for local charities, for fire and rescue service, for local schools and in organizing holiday events.

Local retail stores, mom-and-pop stores, face some of the toughest challenges imaginable right now. Competition from big box stores and online sellers make the holiday shopping season all the more important to locally-owned retailers.

Everyone will do some of their shopping at the mall. Everyone will do some shopping online. But local shoppers should be sure to save some shopping time and dollars for local stores.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Many To Thank for Virginia Run Turkey Trot's Success

To the Editor:

Thank you participants, volunteers and sponsors of the 23rd annual Thanksgiving Day Virginia Run Turkey Trot.

Thank you Virginia Run and the entire Centreville Community for your continued support of the Thanksgiving Day Turkey Trot. The weather cooperated and we broke another record this year for participants, over 4,700 total runners and walkers. All of the money raised will go to Life with Cancer (LWC). We are hoping to top the $75,000 that the Turkey Trot raised for the nonprofit group LWC last year. Our thoughts and prayers are with the family of Wes Neff and we thank them for allowing the event to be held in his memory.

Congratulations to all the finishers of 2k walk and the 5k race. The results of the 5K can be found online www.virginiarun.com/turkeytrot. The overall male winner was Alex Clark from Burke Virginia with a time of 16:05. The overall female winner was Kerry Hartman from Centreville with a time of 18:35. The top male from Virginia Run residents were WHS students Tim Boyles at 18:26 and Lauren Hicks , 2nd year in a row with a time of 19:35.

We want to thank our neighborhood volunteers from Fairfax County Police, Virginia State Police, Boy Scout Troop 893, Boy Scout Troop 30, Cub Scout Pack 2011, Centreville Volunteer Fire/Rescue Co. 17, Westfield High School Students, Stone Middle School students and all of the Virginia Run residents that came out to help at pack pick up and on Thanksgiving morning. Special thanks to Centreville Presbyterian Church, Korean Central Presbyterian Church and Centreville Baptist Church for allowing the participants to park in their lots. A special thanks also to our community newspaper Centre View who has been covering this event since 1989.

The planning for this event begins in May by an all volunteer committee who spend countless hours ensuring the event is a success. A big thank you to the committee for everything they do: Mary Mitchell, Mirchelle Enright, Dean Jones, Jean Novak, Sandy Boyles, Janet Logan, Steve Boyles, Janet Day, Jim Horstmann, Steve Logan, Jacquelyn Horstmann, Donna Latham, Helaine Newman, Bonnie Majors, John Mitchell, Tom Redmond, Greg Richter, Betsy Higgins, Joanne Royaltey, John Lalley and Brian Gavaghan.

This event could not be possible without the support of our sponsors. The event is presented by Mitchell Eye Institute, John D Mitchell M.D. who is a Virginia Run resident and serves on the committee. In additions we want to recognize all of our sponsors for their generous donations: Ourisman Chantilly Toyota; Edelman Financial Services; Virginia Cancer Specialists; American Windows & Siding of Va.; Elantech Systems, Inc.; VA Runner; Korean Central Presbyterian Church; Odyssey travel; NOVEC; Luck Stone; DogFish Ale House; ING Financial Partners; M3 Technology Consultants; Louis C. new or in-good-condition baby swing and high chair for a single mother with an infant son."

This is her third year volunteering as an ONC team leader. But for at least 10 years previously, she and her family were involved in donating gifts and clothing, baking cookies and helping deliver the presents to the recipient families on ONC's delivery day.

When asked why she continues giving her time and energy toward helping make ONC's holiday efforts a success, McInerney said volunteering is something she's always done.

"I've been involved in charitable organizations since high school, and my husband helps build homes for Habitat for Humanity on weekends, so it's just a natural part of our lives," she explained. "Helping others is very rewarding and keeps your attention focused away from your own problems."

McInerney said one of her most memorable moments came when she returned to a family's apartment, the day after ONC's normal delivery day, because no one had been home when she initially tried to deliver the gifts.

"When I knocked, the door slowly opened and I identified myself to the small, grandmotherly woman half-hidden behind the door," she recalled. "Her face suddenly brightened; then she burst into tears and

How To Help

♦ This Saturday, Dec. 3, from 9 a.m.-1 p.m., bring toys, games, books and new and like-new clothing to Stone Middle School at 5500 Sully Park Drive in Centreville. Everything will be given to Our Neighbor's Child.

♦ Also on Dec. 3, inside the Fair Lakes Wal-Mart will be a giving tree decorated with paper ornaments containing the age and sex of a child and the item he or she wants for Christmas. Residents may then purchase these items and place them, unwrapped, in the big, ONC gift box outside the front of the store from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. But the giving tree will remain in the store until Dec. 11.

♦ Warm, winter clothes are especially needed. To "adopt" a child and purchase his or her specific clothing needs, e-mail Denise McInerney at volunteer@ourneighborschild.org.

♦ Financial contributions would also be a huge help. Either mail checks payable to Our Neighbor's Child to: Karen Moore, Treasurer, Our Neighbor's Child, P.O. Box 276, Centreville, VA 20120, or make donations via the "donate now" link on the ONC Web site, www.ourneighborschild.org. One hundred percent of all monetary contributions is used to buy gifts for the recipient families.

launched herself forward, hugging me and crying."

"We had an emergency yesterday, and I was so afraid we had missed our chance to have a Christmas for my grandchildren," the woman told McInerney. "Thank you, thank you for coming back."

"We both hugged and cried together," said McInerney. "And that experience has stuck with me. I guess that's the pure essence of why all of us at ONC do this."

Beating the Holiday Blues

Area experts offer advice on keeping money woes, loneliness and family conflict from ruining holidays.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL
CENTRE VIEW

Ask the average person what feelings come to mind as they enter the month of December and you're likely to get responses that range from joy and excitement to grief and dread.

"Overwhelmed," said a Burke mother of two whose husband is deployed overseas.

"Nervous," replied an Arlington father of four who recently lost his job.

For many, what is often billed as the most joyous time of the year can bring anxiety, loneliness and depression.

"The media portrays the holidays as this never ending blissful time," said Lisa Calusic, M.D., a psychiatrist at Inova Mount Vernon Hospital and Inova Behavioral Health Services in Alexandria. "People [often say] 'I should have a loving, warm family. I should have the perfect holiday season. We should be merry 24-7.' Those expectations are going to lead to depression and feeling anxious because there is no such thing as the perfect anything much less the perfect holiday season."

Mental health experts say that holiday blues are caused most often by family conflicts, over-commercialization, grief, stress, fatigue, unrealistic expectations, financial limitations and an inability to be with family and friends. Local therapists offer suggestions for minimizing Yuletide stress and depression.

Develop A Holiday Strategy

From shopping for presents to dealing with difficult relatives, it is important to think ahead about how you will deal with challenging scenarios. "Plan strategies for how you're going to cope with situations," said Dr. Robert Hedaya, M.D., D.F.A.P.A., Clinical Professor of Psychiatry at Georgetown University School of Medicine and founder of the National Center for Whole Psychiatry in Chevy Chase, Md. "Maybe it is limiting your time with a family or maybe it is getting away for the holiday if you don't have family."

Be Realistic

"Do everything you can not to buy into what the culture or anyone else says your life should look like during this time of year," said Dr. Jeffrey W. Pollard, Executive Director of Counseling and Psychological Services at George Mason University. "There is nothing wrong with having the life that you had three months ago."

Stick to a Budget

Be a Part of CHILDREN'S (& TEENS') CENTRE VIEW

Every year between Christmas and New Year's, Centre View turns its pages over to the contributions of local students. We are seeking artwork, photography, poetry, opinions, short stories and reflections. We welcome contributions from public schools, private schools and students who are home schooled.

E-mail to: centreview@connectionnewspapers.com, or mail (.jpg and text files on disc only) to 1606 King St., Alexandria, VA 22314. Please be sure to include the student's name, age, grade, school and town of residence along with each submission. For information, call 703-778-9410.

CENTRE VIEW

Trying to buy happiness or holiday cheer with an abundance of gifts is setting the stage for anxiety and depression.

"One of the other things that happens is that people will put themselves in a financial bind in order to ... make sure everything is perfect or is happening the way that others want it to happen," said Pollard.

Decide how much money you can afford to spend, create a budget and stick to it.

More Exercise, Less Sugar and Alcohol

Don't allow the holidays to become a free-for all when it comes to wellness.

"You want to ensure that you're functioning as well as you can mentally and physically as you go into this time of stress," said Hedaya. "If you are going into a rough time you need to have better reserves. You need to limit your use of alcohol or stimulants."

Making an effort to practice healthy habits is a tool in battling holiday blues.

"Exercise is a huge part of it. Go for walks, hit the gym, or any kind of outlet that you can find to release nervous energy and depression," said Calusic. "Everyone loves their cookies and cakes and holiday favorites. But constantly eating sugary and fattening foods definitely has an impact on mood and anxiety levels."

Help Others

Benevolence is a mood booster.

"Is there any opportunity to do some volunteer work," said Pollard, of George Mason. "If you find yourself in a funk and you want to get out of it, help somebody, volunteer somewhere. You'll be surprised how good that can make you feel."

Learn to Say No

"In our area people have one or two [holiday activities] every night," said Linda Berg-Cross, Ph.D. a Potomac, Md.-based clinical psychologist and a professor in the Department of Psychology at Howard University. "[People] want to create merriment, but what they're creating is stress. The best motto for preventing holiday stress and depression is less is more."

Making realistic decisions about what you can and cannot do will quell anxiety.

Berg-Cross encourages her clients to focus on connecting with others. "Whatever you decide to do try to be present in it and experience that engagement," she said. "The top priority [should be] that you had chance to sit down with somebody and breathe and create space for the human encounter because ultimately that is what people most often remember."

KMA Junction

Model train enthusiasts should make a trip to KMA Junction in Manassas, a model train shop with an impressive holiday display in multiple train gages. Proprietor Fran Fortes changes the display three times a year, but pulled out all the stops in this year's display, designed with the help of Mansassas resident Rod Gillette. At the shop one can purchase O, O-27, HO, and N gages, as well as get repairs on O and S gage sets, and make special orders. For the holidays, the shop offers starter sets for first-time modelers, or those interested in getting their children started with model trains. For more information, see www.kmajunction.com.

The Encore dancers as the famed Rockettes of Radio City Music Hall.

A Show To Ring in Holidays

forming will be Tina and Dan Delafield and Scott and Karsten Dees. "I have such a talented group of dancers/singers/actors," said van der Merwe. "And I'm honored to have professional, guest performers who elevate our shows even more. Also helping is Vocal Director Kathy Ahearn of Clifton who's worked her magic with the songs and made them sound amazing."

The story's about a New York businesswoman with two young daughters. But she's too busy for Christmas, so Santa sends an elf to remind her there are more important things than work. The elf brings them to the North Pole where they all discover the magic of Christmas.

Westfield High senior Grace Martin plays an Elf named Flaky who the children meet at the North Pole. "I'm in my own world and have a hard time staying focused, so the head elf has problems with me not doing my work – and I'm the toy-tester," said Martin. "I'm also scared of jack-in-the-boxes."

It's her 10th year with Encore and seventh with its performing company. She said this role fits her well because she's just exaggerating her normal personality. And she especially likes the show's 10-minute finale – a mash-up of various Christmas songs and costumes.

"I change costume six times during that number," said Martin. "I like the different types of dancing in the finale, the full company is on stage and it builds toward the final song, 'White Christmas.' Our Christmas show provides singing, dancing and acting in a kid-friendly, holiday storyline that's different each year."

Portraying an elf named Frazzle, who prepares the reindeer for Christmas Eve, is Centreville High senior Jessie Peltier. "She's a little antsy and silly and gets stressed-out a lot," said Peltier. "It's fun being a new type of character. I'm usually sweet and innocent, and this one is more quick-witted."

With Encore since fourth grade, Peltier loves the feeling she gets from dancing onstage. "You feel so accomplished and have something to be proud of," she said. "It's fulfilling to work on something so long and then share it with the community."

Peltier called it a "feel-good show" everyone will enjoy. Her favorite number is the "Rag Dolls." She plays a Raggedy Andy and, she said, "It's a cute number and we get to be silly and do our own interpretations on stage."

Westfield High senior Corinne Holland plays Busy the elf. "She's organized and keeps things running as smoothly as possible," said Holland. "So I'm somebody I'm completely not, in real life. I'm outgoing and all over the place, so it's challenging playing something other than the ditzy blonde."

In Encore since age 5, she describes dancing as "a way to let go of my everyday life. It's what I love to do – it's my passion. Being with Encore made me a better person and opened my eyes to all the opportunities life gives you; it makes me not take anything for granted. It's a warm environment and you create bonds, friendships and a family with everyone here."

In the show, Holland especially likes the "Multiplying Santas" number. "It's a fun and creative dance that's always a crowd-pleaser," she said. "The audience enjoys it as much as we do. They'll find this year's show exciting. It keeps you on your toes, waiting for the next number, and it puts you in the Christmas spirit."

Playing Artsy the elf is Centreville senior Sage Coury. "She's animated and excited about the presents, packaging and glitter," said Coury. "She likes pretty things and is happy and outgoing. I have a calm and mellow personality, but she's loud and always has something to say."

In her three years with Encore, Coury's learned how to work with others, stay organized and prioritize. Her favorite number in the show is a new one called "Jet Set." It takes place in an airport and she's a flight attendant gliding across the stage. Overall, said Coury, the audience will enjoy the show because "it focuses on the meaning of Christmas and the importance of families spending time together."

mended on the great job they have done. I wish them luck against Hermitage and I can't wait for the sting from this game to subside. I know it will never go away."

CENTREVILLE went 9-3 last year in Haddock's first season as head coach at Centreville — a successful record for certain. However, the Wildcats, to a man, felt disappointed with the way the 2010 season ended — with three losses over their final four games, including a region semi-finals loss to Chantilly. Haddock felt his team had physically weakened down the stretch.

But that was hardly the case this season following an offseason which saw the Centreville players work especially hard in the weight room and in overall conditioning for 2011.

"We did work hard in the weight room," said Haddock. "I think we had a clear purpose and specific goals in mind while we were preparing in the off-season."

Centreville won its first eight games before finally experiencing its first loss of the season — a 13-10 overtime defeat at the hands of Concorde District opponent Westfield in a week nine game on Oct. 26. But the Wildcats came roaring back with a dominating 42-14 district road win at Oakton to conclude the regular season, then won home playoff games over both Fairfax, 42-19, and two-time defending region champion Lake Braddock, 21-18, to reach the championship game and a second meeting with Westfield.

The title game, played in front of a packed, standing room only crowd of 10,000 fans at Westfield, was riveting from start to finish with big scoring plays on offense, standout special team plays, and the late game Centreville defensive stands which helped save the day for the Wildcats after Westfield had stormed back from a 27-10 fourth quarter deficit with a pair of touchdowns, within two minutes of one another, to get within 27-24 with just over eight minutes remaining in the fourth quarter.

Jared Rondeau (9) made a 36 yard field goal late in the second quarter to give the Wildcats a 20-7 lead.

Centreville, which led 20-10 at halftime, looked to be on the verge of winning with relative ease when quarterback Mitch Ferrick, on the third play of the fourth quarter, took the ball into the end zone on a one yard quarterback sneak to give the Wildcats a 27-10 lead. But Westfield answered with consecutive possessions that resulted in touchdowns — a 22-yard run off the right side by standout running back Kendell Anderson, and a QB sneak by Matt Pisarcik — over the next two-plus minutes. The second Westfield score during that stretch was set up by a long Anderson punt return down the right sideline which brought a roar from the home side of the stadium and got the ball to the one yard line.

So the game's momentum, following Westfield's consecutive touchdowns, was now on the Bulldogs' side with plenty of time remaining.

The Wildcats' offense, on its first possession after Westfield had gotten within 27-24, could not earn a first down and had to punt. So Westfield, beginning its third possession of the final quarter, had a first-and-10 at its own 45 yard line with 5 minutes, 58 seconds remaining. The Bulldogs, over the next three plays, moved the ball to the Centreville 27 yard line. On two of the plays, Pisarcik connected on passes to senior receiver Quentin Basil, the latter covering 15 yards to the 27.

BUT CENTREVILLE'S DEFENSE came to the forefront moments later when, on a third-and-10 from the 27, Wildcat senior linebacker Ken Ekanem, one of the region's best all-around players, broke through for a QB sack that resulted in a nine-yard loss back to the 36, pushing Westfield out of field goal range and forcing a punt.

Centreville's offense, wanting to run out the clock, moved the ball from its own 10 to the 36 before having to punt. So Westfield once again took over — this time at its own 30 with 3:25 left. The Bulldogs, with plenty of time to tie the game or go ahead, moved the ball to the Centreville 40. A six-yard sack by Centreville junior lineman Connor Howell put Westfield in a second-and-11 hole, but Pisarcik responded by hitting Basil for a nine yard pass gain. Then, two plays later - on a do-or-die, fourth-and-two play — Pisarcik, on a rollout right, somehow was able to throw the ball between the outstretched arms of a charging rusher and into the arms of receiver Mark Behne for a 10 yard pickup to the 27 for a huge first down.

Anderson, on the next play, picked up five yards to the 22. But solid play in the Centreville secondary resulted in consecutive incomplete passes, and Westfield field goal kicker Matt Delaney, who had converted a 36 yarder on the final play of the first half, came into the game to attempt a 39 yarder with just over a minute remaining. But Centreville's Coward, coming off the right side, blocked the kick to end Westfield's chances. Centreville's offense then ran out the remainder of the clock with QB Ferrick taking a knee on three straight plays to end the game.

When the game clock hit zero, a sea of Centreville students, from the far side bleachers, stormed the field in celebration.

Centreville's defense, after Westfield had scored the two touchdowns earlier in the fourth quarter, had weathered the Bulldogs' scoring threats thereafter.

"Our defense bent a little bit did not break," said Centreville senior linebacker Matt Vlissides. "That last drove we held together."

"Our defense, which I think has been an underrated group all season long, stepped up," said coach Haddock.

It was a deflating ending to the season for Westfield, which went into the region title game unbeaten after playoff wins over Robinson and West Potomac. But the Bulldogs, even in the defeat, had shown great resilience in getting back into the game in the final quarter.

"In our hearts we never gave up and we stayed poised," said Basil, Westfield's outstanding senior receiver. "We felt we could come back. I'll remember this game the rest of my life. It was a great atmosphere."

A Blocked Field Goal Long To Be Remembered

Centreville's Coward has more than a hand in Wildcats' region title win.

BY RICH SANDERS
CENTRE VIEW

Connor Coward's late-game blocked field goal, which preserved Centreville's lead in its 27-24 Northern Region Div. 6 title game football win over Westfield last Saturday, will always be remembered by Wildcat fans. It was the play that clinched the win and gave the Wildcats their first region crown since 2000. Coward, a versatile running back/defensive back, summed up his team's emotions afterwards.

"The region [title] means everything to us. Our senior class has been talking about this since our freshmen. What I'll always remember about this team is how much heart we have."

The title game came down to the final minute. When Westfield quarterback Matt Pisarcik's medium range pass, on a third-and-five play at the Westfield 22 yard line, fell incomplete with 1 minute and 4 seconds remaining, every fan, player, and coach realized the Bulldogs would be attempting a fourth down field goal in hopes of tying the down-to-the-wire contest.

A short time earlier, Westfield, trailing 27-24, had begun the drive at its own 30 yard line with 3:25 left to play in the game. The Bulldogs, who had scored two touchdowns earlier in the quarter to close within three points of the Wildcats, needed another score — a field goal to tie it, or a touchdown to go ahead — if they hoped to win.

The team, with the steady Pisarcik behind center, moved the football down the field on that final drive as the game clock wore on. When Pisarcik completed a clutch, fourth down pass to Mark Behne for a 10-yard gain to the Centreville 27 yard line, the Bulldogs were in good shape with a new set of downs and more than a minute still remaining. A five-yard run by Kendall Anderson put the ball on the 22.

Westfield, on second down, went for the touchdown when Pisarcik threw left towards the end zone to receiver Quentin Basil. The ball sailed over Basil and incomplete, but it was a good attempt. When third down also resulted in an incompletion it was time for Westfield to bring out its kicking unit.

EARLIER, Bulldog kicker Matt Delaney, on the final play of the first half, had converted a 36-yard field goal to get Westfield within 20-10 of Centreville. And he had nailed all three of his extra point kicks in the game. Now, with his team facing a fourth-and-five, he was called upon to attempt a 37-yard field goal that, if made, would tie the game at 27 and likely force overtime.

Following a timeout, Westfield, with 1:04 left in the game, set up for the crucial kick. Behne, the holder, received the snap from center and put the ball down. Delaney approached and connected solidly on the ball. But just as quickly as the ball left Delaney's foot on its intended path towards the uprights, it was brought back to the ground — the result of a blocked kick by Coward, who had come in off the right side of the line and, fully extended, gotten his hands on the ball to end Westfield's hopes.

Centreville's offense, with the change in possession, took over and the Wildcats ran out the clock.

Coward, one of the premier players in the region, had perhaps saved the game for Centreville.

"It was fourth down and we were trying to block it," said Centreville linebacker/tightend Ken Ekanem, who was lined up near Coward on the field goal try. "They were blocking me so lanes opened up for Chase [Walter] and Connor to go. I was shocked [at the block]. I was like, 'did he do that?' It was the first one he blocked this year."

Walter, lined up on the inside of Coward, said his teammate got off the ball fast.

"He got a great lean off the ball and stuck his hands out," said Walter. "Every day we work on that in practice. This game our special teams brought it."

COWARD, throughout the game, had also made several big plays in his role as all-purpose running back. He finished the game with four catches for 91 yards, and also added 48 yards on five carries, complimenting premier back Manny Smith (80 yards).

Connor Coward makes his way down the field for a big gain in the Wildcats' region title game versus Westfield.

On one second quarter catch, on a third-and-10 play at the Centreville 40, Coward, on a ball thrown down the field and towards the left sideline by quarterback Mitch Ferrick, watched the lofted ball over his shoulders and into his arms as he kept his feet inbounds. The play covered 23 yards.

"It was a perfect pass, right over my shoulder, and I got both feet in," said Coward.

On Centreville's next possession later in the second quarter, Coward took a handoff left from the Westfield 46 yard line and jetted all the way to the one yard line before Austin Redman brought him down. Smith scored on the next play for Centreville to give the Wildcats a 10-7 lead.

"I should have scored, but No. 3 is very fast," said Coward, of his long run and Redman's tackle.

And Coward helped set up another Centreville touchdown in the second quarter when he caught an option pass for 36 yards down to the Bulldogs' 21. Six plays later, another Smith scoring run helped the Wildcats build a 17-7 lead.

Overall, it was a game to remember for Coward, especially with the game-saving blocked field goal. The win over Westfield marked the first time in a decade that the Wildcats had beaten the Bulldogs.

"We wanted to break the curse," said Coward. "This is the first time our senior class has beaten them."

Walter, who caught four passes for 59 yards in the win, said it was an amazing victory for the Wildcats.

"This is the biggest football win I've ever been part of," he said.

Christmas Tree Fundraiser: The annual Christmas tree sales have started. Come early for best selection. Christmas Trees will be available Thursdays and Fridays from 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.; and Saturdays and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Costs of trees: five to six foot trees - $55; six to seven foot trees - $60; seven to nine foot trees - $65.

Note: With the football team now going to the Virginia State semifinals, your support of a new turf field in the William R. Trussel Football Stadium is more important than ever before. Proceeds of the Christmas Tree sales will go to the Centreville High School turf field fund. A beautiful Fraser fir for the house equals a beautiful turf field for the school.

The Boys' Lacrosse: Congratulations to the Centreville High boys' lacrosse teams. They recently participated in the 10th Annual Fall Brawl, held at Robinson Secondary School. Centreville entered both a JV and varsity team for the event, and both teams finished with exceptional records. The JV team finished the tournament with four wins and two losses overall. The varsity team made it to the semifinals, losing only to the eventual first place team. In total, the Wildcats ended the day with five wins and one loss, placing them third overall out of 40 teams in competition. Next up for the varsity Wildcats is the Turkey Shoot-Out Tournament on Saturday, Dec. 3 at Oakton High School.

Football: Congratulations to the Wildcat football team, the 2011 Northern Region champions. The Wildcats defeated Westfield 27-24 in the Northern Region championship game last Saturday, advancing them to the Div. 6 Virginia State AAA semifinals. Centreville next plays Hermitage High School in Richmond this Saturday, Dec. 3 at 1:30 p.m.

All For One (At a Minimum)

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

As mentioned in last week's column, recently I was invited by Genentech/Astellas, the manufacturers of the anti-cancer, targeted treatment drug, Avastin (with which I've been infused for nearly 33 months), and Tarceva (an oral anti-cancer drug which I've never been prescribed) – among others, to participate in a Satellite Media Tour (series of television and radio interviews) in Salt Lake City to help raise lung cancer awareness during Lung Cancer Awareness Month (November, 2011). Much of what I learned was summarized in last week's column. To review and highlight once again: lung cancer is the deadliest form of cancer, combining for more deaths annually (160,000) than breast, prostate and colon cancer combined.

Along with Dr. Wallace Akerley, a nationally-recognized, medical oncologist from the University of Utah, Huntsman Cancer Institute and John Casterline from Orlando, Fl., a five-year stage IV lung cancer survivor (originally diagnosed in August, 2006), the three of us were interviewed by 21 different television and radio stations over a five-hour period. Three of the stations had national audiences; most were local, however, from Altoona-Johnstown, Pennsylvania to Miami, Florida to New York City to Phoenix, Arizona, with multiple other media outlets along the way.

The format was similar in each interview. Dr. Akerley began by answering a question – the one most often asked, anyway, concerning the most common misperceptions about lung cancer: "Lung cancer is actually a whole series of cancers. Fifteen percent of lung cancer patients are non-smokers. The discovery of genetic mutations in cancer cells have led to targeted treatments that harm the cell more than the patient, minimizing side effects." The doctor provided the facts and context for John and I to provide the feelings – which we did.

John spoke first and shared his unique journey. After being diagnosed in August, 2006 (seven years after he stopped smoking), he has survived, thrived even, offering these five recommendations: "maintain a positive mental attitude, eat five vegetables and four fruits daily; organic if possible, exercise five to six days a week, take your time to get a second, even a third opinion about the doctor and the facility that you choose to treat you," and finally he credits the drug Tarceva for his success.

Then I spoke, always in response to the same question about my story. My story is a little different from John's. "I am a lifelong non-smoker, with a family history – going back to grandparents on both sides, of NO CANCER. In addition, neither of my parents smoked cigarettes during my life, and since I've not worked in an office – and my wife never smoked cigarettes, my exposure to second-hand smoke has been minimal. Yet, here I am, at age 54, diagnosed with stage IV lung cancer, a terminal disease."

Dr. Akerley then answered a follow-up question to finish about where one can go for additional information. He suggested "first discussing symptoms with your doc," but also referred those interested to three Websites: "Lungcanceralliance.org, cancer.net and cancer.gov where they could find very user-friendly content," that he himself uses.

Each segment lasted about a minute. Occasionally, there were follow-up questions, as time allowed. There were no call-ins. The interviews were back-to-back with frequent breaks. It was not hard labor nor was there any heavy lifting. It was a bit fatiguing but we were directed well, hydrated well and fed well. Initial feedback has been positive.

It was an honor and a privilege to assist in promoting lung cancer awareness. If I had to do it over again, I would – in a heartbeat, which, thanks to Avastin, is still beating strongly, nearly 33 months post-diagnosis.

Business and Community Partnership News from Fairfax County Public Schools

In 2007, Time magazine called Fairfax County "one of the great economic success stories of our time." In 2011 that edict still rings true despite the challenging economics surrounding us. Fairfax County is faring better than most metropolitan areas. Fairfax County Economic Development Authority President and CEO Gerald Gordon, Ph.D., says Fairfax County continues to do well because of its exceptional educational offerings. "The Fairfax County school system is arguably one of the best public education systems in the United States," he said.

Fairfax County Public Schools is exceptional because business and community organizations are engaged in ways that are good for students and good for organizations.

The FCPS Office of Business and Community Partnerships recruits and supports business partners who want to work with students and the school system. More than 150 Fairfax County schools have a partnership with one or more businesses or community organizations.

Give Me Five:
5 Ways to Partner with FCPS

1. Mentor a Child
2. Partner with a School
3. Partner Systemwide
4. Support an Existing Partnership
5. Help Develop or Advance an Educational Initiative

Learn more about becoming a Fairfax County Public School partner. Visit www.fcps.edu and click on Community

In FY 2009, the Business and Community Partnerships team helped secure more than a million dollars in donations of money and valued goods through partnerships and direct donations, not including the value of volunteer hours contributed by partners and mentors.

Foundation for Fairfax County Public Schools
The Foundation for Fairfax County Public Schools is a partnership between the Fairfax Chamber of Commerce and the school system. It was established to enhance academic offerings, support teacher excellence and provide resources to the school system based on priorities and needs, through an endowment program. For more details, visit www.fairfaxchamber.org/educationfoundation.

Examples of How Local Businesses and Organizations Team Up With FCPS

The Rotary Club of Bailey's Crossroads has partnered with J.E.B. Stuart High School in Falls Church for more than 10 years and was named FCPS Partner of the Year in 2010. This partnership's focus is on literacy, particularly through the school's Interact Club, which places 200 student volunteers into the community working with underprivileged individuals. Interact Club members also tutor and mentor young students at a local computer lab. The Rotary Club is actively involved in the Culmore Support on Suspension (SOS) program, providing a supervised, safe learning environment for students from Stuart and Glasgow Middle School who are suspended from school.

Helping students gain real-world experience as actors is one way Cox Farms partners with Westfield High School in Chantilly. Students are recruited for actor positions in "Fields of Fear," popular fright nights performed at the annual fall festival. Cox Farms also provides seasonal internships to students who want to acquire paid job experience in other areas such as agriculture, horticulture, animal science, stage management and food service. When the Westfield theatre troupe needs set props such as plants, construction materials, and other items, they turn to Cox Farms who donates and delivers them.

Capital Caring, a hospice program, provides career experience to students as a West Potomac Academy business partner.

Students volunteer at Capital Caring in Alexandria through their health and medical science courses. "We are thrilled to partner with West Potomac Academy," said CEO and President of Capital Caring Malene Davis. "It is critical that we prepare the younger generation to work in health care and hospice, especially as our nation's aging population surges. This alliance will help students grow and develop on many levels, while serving our Capital Caring community. It's a true 'win win' from my perspective."

Students receive valuable hands-on experience under the guidance of staff, who discuss the philosophy and operation of a hospice program. The academy provides student volunteers unique opportunities to support the hospice through their classes in fashion design, professional television production, dance, music, computer technology, graphic design, and criminal justice. By volunteering, students also earn credits to meet graduation requirements and as well as the civics seal on their diploma.

"Our partnership not only supports gaining career experiences and volunteer hours but these opportunities allow students to give of their time and of themselves and make a difference in people's lives," said Maria Kappel, Career Experience Specialist at West Potomac Academy.

Word of Thanks

Thank you to the voters of Fairfax County for passing the 2011 School Bond Referendum! Your support will help to fund $252.7 million for school renovations and construction.

Broadband CNCT Partnership

This goal of the Broadband Computers & Neighbors Coming Together (CNCT) partnership is to provide computer access and broadband connectivity to underserved families living in low-income neighborhoods in Fairfax County. Current CNCT partners include Cox Communications, Comcast, VA Star, the Fairfax Education Foundation, Fairfax County Public Schools, dedicated volunteers, business partners, the Fairfax County Department of Neighborhood and Community Services (NCS) and the Fairfax County Office of Public Private Partnerships (OP3).

Students at Herndon and Luther Jackson Middle Schools work with volunteers to refurbish donated computers. Eligible students receive the refurbished computers and discounted broadband service. For more information, to donate or to get involved, please contact Karen Fuentes, 703-324-5176.

Getting To Know Us

FCPS Mentor Lisa Moffett

Lisa Moffett always wanted to be a role model for a young girl. The mother of two grown sons discovered more than 15 years ago that becoming a mentor to a Fairfax County Public School student was a great way to fulfill her desire to work with young girls and provide additional support to a student.

"It's very meaningful for the young person to spend time with an adult who is taking time out of their work day to spend time with them," she said.

"You develop a special friendship that is unconditional."

Did You Know

150 FCPS schools, supporting 5,000 students, have active mentoring programs. Community members and FCPS serve as mentors to students throughout the school system.

The Coldwell Banker real estate agent has mentored students from Louise Archer Elementary School for the past eight years. She has also worked with students at Forest Edge Elementary and Vienna Elementary Schools.

Moffett says she often visits her students armed with art supplies because she finds working on an art project provides an opportunity for her to talk and share stories with her mentee.

"We spend time making cards for members of the military or for Mother's Day because people love to receive a handwritten note," she said.

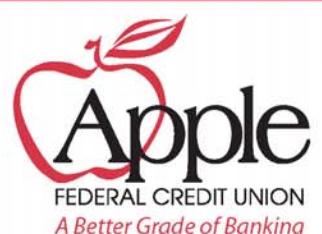

Moffett mentored the same student for the past six years, but now the student has moved up to middle school. At their last meeting, Moffett understood that she helped make an impact on the life of this student when the young girl told Moffett that she wants to be a mentor when she grows up.

"It's definitely a humbling experience," she said. "It's a gift of laughter, smiles, hugs and friendship." Are you interested in becoming a mentor? Please visit www.fcps.edu and click on Community to get involved.
