Teeth Whitening...What You Should Know.

With the holidays around the corner, everyone seems to be coming in to whiten their teeth for their picture perfect moments. So before you start using whitening products that you may be completely unfamiliar with, you may want to read this article.

If you want to whiten your teeth, the best place to start is with a healthy mouth. Tooth decay, sensitive or cracked teeth, infections or periodontal (gum) problems should be diagnosed and treated before any teeth whitening procedure. Otherwise, you could experience discomfort. If using the right products, the whitening process is safe; however, it can aggravate existing problems.

Rather than heading to the local cosmetic counter or shopping mall in search of teeth whiteners, start with a dental check up. This way, we can diagnose the cause of discoloration—injury, stains from food or tobacco, antibiotic treatment and so on.

Whitening products only work on natural tooth enamel, not on crowns, veneers, bonding materials or tooth colored fillings. Does this mean if you have any of the above mentioned conditions you are stuck with yellow teeth? Absolutely not! The diagnosis is important; from there, we can determine whether whitening will work for you and which product will suit you best; otherwise you could be wasting time and money!

Studies have shown the first thing a person notices when they meet you is your smile. Being a cosmetic dentist, I am aware of how desirable it is to have white, bright teeth and how it impacts your confidence, well being, and your entire life. By seeing a trained cosmetic dentist, you can achieve not only a whiter, more attractive smile, but one that is healthy and contributes to your overall health. For more information about whitening and to check out our holiday whitening gift ideas and specials, I encourage you to visit our website or set up a complimentary whitening consultation with our well trained and knowledgeable team. Happy Holidays!

President Barack Obama was not there, but U.S. Rep. Gerry Connolly (D-11) made sure the president's presence was felt at the opening of the first Northern Virginia field office for the Obama 2012 Campaign in Fairfax.

Connolly gave a stump speech to the 250 volunteers and supporters who crowded into the campaign office on Saturday, Dec. 3. The office is located in a strip mall on Lee Highway in Fairfax.

"If we needed living proof that President Obama is going to invest heavily in Virginia, this is it," Connolly said to shouts of "amen" and "that's right." "No president has been more vilified than Barack Obama, and throughout it all he has remained gracious, a true leader."

CONNOLLY INTRODUCED the prominent area Democrats who attended the opening, including State Sen. Chap Petersen (D-34), Del. Eileen Filler-Corn (D-41), Del. Ken Plum (D-36), Del. David Bulova (D-37), Kate Hanley, who preceded Connolly as chairman of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors, and Ryan McElveen, one of the newly-elected Democrats to the Fairfax County School Board.

Petersen predicted Virginia would be a battleground state in 2012. "The President has to do everything he did in 2008 to win across Fairfax County. In a lot of ways, the stakes are higher, because the statewide race will be closer," Petersen said, adding that the anti-Washington rhetoric doesn't play well

Workhouse Opens Youth Arts Center

The Lorton Arts Foundation (LAF) and Workhouse Arts Center celebrated the grand opening of the Youth Arts Center on Dec. 1. The Youth Arts Center will serve as the site of programs for young artists and youthful audiences, and is part of the Foundation's commitment to arts education as one of the primary activities of the Workhouse Arts Center. The event marked the first grand opening of a new building at the Workhouse in three years.

On hand to celebrate with the Foundation were Stephen Ayers, AIA, Architect of the Capitol; Kate Hanley, former Chairman of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors; and Mount Vernon District Supervisor Gerry Hyland. John Barron, President of Foulger-Pratt Contracting, who has served as general contractor for Phase II construction at the Workhouse, was a principal sponsor of the event and also in attendance. The presence of LAF Board and staff members, Workhouse volunteers and members of the community rounded out a very special evening.

A highlight of the evening included a presentation from Stephen Ayers, AIA, Architect of the Capitol. Ayers spoke on the importance of preserving buildings at the Workhouse as part of its human legacy. He also spoke about the significance of arts education for today's youth. Ayers pointed out the need to change our educational approach by incorporating arts into the traditional STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) philosophy, by transforming STEM to STEAM (STEM + Art = STEAM).

Following Ayers' presentation, a ribbon-cutting ceremony took place with Hyland, Chairman Richard Haasler and John Barron participating. Supervisor Hyland selected two children from the audience, Siena, 10, and Gianna Martin, 6, to help cut the ribbon. The ribbon cutting was followed by an excerpt from Schoolhouse Rock LIVE!, performed by Studio 3 Theatre for Young Audiences. The show is currently running on Saturdays through Dec. 17 at the Youth Arts Center.

Dan Hanlon, LAF Development Committee Chairman, later announced that Complete Construction Management, LLC has pledged $20,000 to name the first classroom in the Youth Arts Center.

Whose Road is it Anyway? County vs. State: A heated debate on who should fix area roads.

BY VICTORIA ROSS
THE CONNECTION

State and local government officials agree that Fairfax County's roads are in deplorable shape, but who should fix the problem has sparked a heated political debate.

On Dec. 1, Fairfax County, along with Prince William and Loudoun Counties, issued a joint statement firmly opposing any hint of legislation from the Virginia General Assembly that would shift road maintenance responsibilities from the Commonwealth to counties, a process known as road devolution.

"Road devolution is going to be a huge issue in Richmond this year," said Supervisor Jeff McKay (D-Lee). "The idea of local control is universally embraced, but the problem comes down to the cash, and the state is not going to give us the money we need to take over our roads."

County officials argue that devolution would lock in the state's chronic underfunding of secondary roads, and county taxpayers would be on the hook for the cumulative effects of deficient maintenance measures when the big bills come due.

The Virginia Department of Transportation (VDOT) has reported that more than a third of secondary roads throughout the state are in poor condition, and estimates that $75 to $100 million is required to bring just one percent of the state's 27,166 mile lanes up to performance standards.

McKay, who chairs the Board's Legislative Committee, said the cost to Fairfax County taxpayers could be close to $200 million.

"The start-up costs of taking this over would be significant, and my greatest fear is that we'd be pitting roads against schools and public safety," he said. He added that any additional costs associated with road devolution would necessitate a tax hike and likely take money away from projects such as new school construction and renovation of existing schools.

He compared road devolution to the state driving a new car into the ground, and then sticking the county with the repair bills.

"The biggest advocate of devolution is the state. They would like nothing more than to hand it over to us, because they've wrecked it."

IN A DEC. 2 PUBLIC LETTER, Fairfax County Board of Supervisors Chairman Sharon Bulova (D-At-large) joined her Republican counterparts in Prince William and Loudoun County contending that road devolution is really an unfunded mandate that would likely come under the guise of transportation funding reform.

"Although we are of different political parties, we are firmly united in opposition to devolution because of the massive property tax increase it will produce for the residents and businesses of Fairfax, Prince William and Loudoun counties...The cost could exceed $500 per household," according to the statement.

Supervisor Jeff McKay (D-Lee): "The biggest advocate of road devolution is the state. They would like nothing more than to hand it over to us, because they've wrecked it."

Supervisor John Cook (R-Braddock): "We should be chomping at the bit to take this over; instead, we are thumbing our nose at the Governor."

Bulova said that General Assembly created the problem by neglecting the roads, and they should be the ones to fix it.

"Once the state abandons this responsibility, it will never take it back," Bulova said. "Local governments and taxpayers should not be expected to shoulder what is now a responsibility of the commonwealth."

Although Gov. Robert McDonnell has not yet proposed specific road devolution legislation, House Republicans have been looking at ways to shift spiraling road-maintenance responsibilities back to localities for several years.

In 2005, the General Assembly directed VDOT to develop legislative recommendations, in conjunction with representatives of counties, on the process for any county that wants to assume responsibility for their secondary construction program. So far, no county has taken the state up on its offer.

Bulova noted that over the past few years the General Assembly has pushed the financial burden for more than $1 billion in services down to local municipalities without sharing state revenues to pay for them. "Then, they claim they have not raised taxes," she said, adding that it's a "shell game" that does nothing to address the state's nearly depleted construction funding.

But not everyone agrees that devolution is a problem.

"[Local control of local roads] is a great idea," said Del. Dave Albo (R-42), who has been a member of the House since 1994 and a key player in obtaining funding for road projects in his district, which covers

Springfield and Lorton. "We would not have to ask Richmond which roads to get repaved. We could ask our county supervisors, who personally know which roads are in need of repair."

Albo said legislation, along with a reallocation of resources to pay for it, is likely this session.

"I think it's highly likely that we pass it because this is the system we currently use for cities, so we are not reinventing the wheel," Albo said.

Currently, counties do not have the same taxing authority as cities and towns. Cities, such as Arlington, have more latitude in raising revenue through other means, such as cigarette, hotel and restaurant taxes, while the majority of Fairfax County's revenue is derived from property taxes.

State Sen. Chap Petersen (D-34) agrees that road devolution should be a local option, but with the stipulation that adequate revenue comes with the responsibility. "There needs to be an agreed formula which holds the county harmless if it decides to maintain its own roads," Petersen said.

Supervisor John Cook (R-Braddock), who made "local control of local roads" his signature campaign issue, said board members should see road devolution as an opportunity instead of an obstacle.

"Virginia is not the norm. We're one of only a few states where the state has maintenance and construction responsibilities for local roads," Cook said.

THE COMMONWEALTH'S SYSTEM goes back to the Great Depression. During the 1930s, many counties struggled with road maintenance, creating uneven levels of road maintenance and affecting commerce. In 1932, the Virginia General Assembly passed the Byrd Act, which gave VDOT all maintenance, operational, and construction responsibilities for secondary roads, with the exception of Arlington and Henrico counties.

"This is an opportunity, and the board is saying we don't even want to have a dialogue. This could be the best thing for us if it's done right, and they don't know the state is not going to change the funding formula. We should be chomping at the bit to take this over; instead, we are thumbing our nose at the Governor."

Cook said he has talked directly with McDonnell and Virginia Secretary of Transportation Sean Connaughton, and he sees an opportunity for Fairfax County to benefit from road devolution.

Cook said the way to make road devolution viable for Fairfax County includes having the state transfer ownership of the land and redoing the funding formula to be more in line with urban jurisdictions that control local roads.

"Don't fall for the argument that this is going to cost $200 million," Cook said. "That is misleading, because it only costs us if we choose to do a better job than the state. That's not an imposed cost. If we're getting at least what the state is already spending, and we have control, that's better than no control at all."

Asked what local control would look like, Cook said residents would see medians and roads mowed more frequently, potholes would be filled within a week of reporting and roads would be repaved every 10-20 years instead of 20-40 years, among other benefits.

But McKay and other board members are not so optimistic.

Pat Herrity (R-Springfield) one of the three Republicans on the board, said he generally thinks the most effective government is local government, but for Fairfax County to take over control of its secondary roads, a few others items must come with the mandate.

"The state needs to make up for years of neglect, there needs to be a guaranteed funding stream, and it needs to be at a level necessary to perform the maintenance – not the current level," Herrity said. "Otherwise the state is just transferring the burden and years of neglect onto Fairfax County taxpayers."

"There's no question Fairfax County could do a better job, but I am very suspect that the state is going to give us the tools to fix the problem. In my mind, this has to be dead on arrival," McKay said.

Fairfax County's position on road devolution is part of its 2012 legislative agenda, which will go before the Board of Supervisors on Tuesday, Dec. 6, for a final vote. On Wednesday, McKay chairs a joint session between board members and Fairfax County legislators during which the County's legislative agenda will be presented.

The Fairfax Station Railroad Museum, steeped in history, is a popular location for holiday parties and meetings in addition to the annual Holiday Train Show.

Trains in all shapes and sizes — from vintage Lionel to Lego and Thomas — puffed and chugged down the track during the 22nd annual Holiday Train Show at the Fairfax Station Railroad Museum last weekend.

"We come to this event every year, and it's a great way to kick-off the holidays," said Debbie Johnson of Reston, who said her sons love to climb the museum's caboose.

The event, held at the historic railroad museum, is hosted by the Friends of Fairfax Station, a non-profit, all-volunteer organization dedicated to maintaining and operating the rebuilt Fairfax Station railroad depot as a museum.

"Everyone loves trains, especially during the holidays," said Kay Gilbert, treasurer and former president of the Friends of Fairfax Station. Gilbert said the event usually draws about 1,000 train aficionados each year. "Many model railroad clubs set up at this event, and there's something for everyone."

Fairfax County's 'Little Gem'

Steeped in Civil War history, the Fairfax Station Railroad Depot was once the hub of a growing community in the 1800s. During the Civil War, Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross, tended to thousands of soldiers who were sent from the Fairfax Station depot to Alexandria and Washington hospitals. The depot was the last operating station when it was closed by Southern Railway in 1973.

In 1975, a group of local citizens headed by Lena Wyckoff and the Clifton Community Woman's Club began efforts to save the old depot. Southern Railway donated the building, and the Fried and Moore families donated land just up the hill from the original site.

A fundraising non-profit, The Friends of the Fairfax Station, formed in 1978, receiving financial and volunteer assistance from the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors and local groups to reconstruct the station. The museum was built by local high school students through Fairfax County's Vocation Educational Foundation. It was dedicated in 1987 and the museum opened the following year.

Washington Virginia & Maryland Garden Railway Society was back with its popular G-scale outdoor trains, with tracks winding around the entire station. The museum also has a permanent display case of Standard-gauge model trains on loan.

In addition to its display at the holiday show, NTRAK has a permanent N-scale layout in the caboose, and sets up modules to run trains in the Community Room the 3rd Sunday of each month (ex-Personally, that's why I'm a huge supporter," she said.

In order for candidates to be eligible for their party's nomination in the Commonwealth of Virginia, the state Board of Elections requires the signatures of 10,000 registered voters, including 400 from each congressional district in the state.

"Nearly three weeks ahead of the Board of Elections deadline, the Organizing for America volunteers delivered more than 15,000 notarized signatures collected through grassroots efforts in every corner of the Commonwealth," said Marianne von Nordeck, press secretary for Organizing for America.

More on Giving Locally Local organizations need your help right now to help needy families.

Organizations that help needy families and individuals in Northern Virginia have seen a dramatic increase in requests for assistance since the recession hit in 2008, and right now those organizations need your help to meet the need.

Connection reporter Victoria Ross cites the examples of Ecumenical Community Helping Others (ECHO) and Food for Others. In 2010, ECHO assisted more than 1,472 households, an increase of nearly 30 percent from before the recession. And Food for Others delivered a record 2.7 million pounds of food to an average of 125 families a day last year.

More than 45,000 students in Fairfax County Public Schools are from families poor enough to qualify for free or reduced priced meals. That's more than 25 percent of students in the schools. In Arlington, 34 percent of students are poor enough to qualify for free or reduced meals. In the City of Alexandria, more than 54 percent of students are poor.

EDITORIALS

In Fairfax County, 46,000 live below the poverty line; more than 80,000 have no health insurance.

In Northern Virginia, thousands are unemployed and many more are underemployed. Among the homeless in Northern Virginia, many are working poor, families with at least one wage-earner who doesn't make enough to pay for housing for the family. About half of the homeless in Northern Virginia are children.

Here are some suggestions about how to help, but there are dozens of other opportunities.

Once again, the Washington Regional Alcohol Program will provide a safety net for those who might celebrate the holiday season with alcohol and unexpectedly need a safe ride home.

WRAP's 2011 Holiday SoberRide program will be offered nightly from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. beginning Friday, Dec. 16, and running until Jan. 1, 2012.

To receive a free cab ride home (up to a $30 fare), call 800-200-8294 (TAXI). You must be 21 or older to use the SoberRide service. All requests for SoberRide service must be called to and dispatched from 1-800-200-8294. Callers will be responsible for any amount over $30.

WRAP's SoberRide has helped to ensure local residents have a safe way home on high-risk holidays, keeping likely impaired drivers off the roads. Since 1993, WRAP has provided nearly 53,000 safe rides home. SoberRide operates during the December/January holiday season, St. Patrick's Day, Independence Day and Halloween.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Deer Hunting: Hunter's View

To the Editor:

A recent letter (Saving the Deer Population, The Connection, Dec. 1-7) offered suggestions and comments that are, I am sure, well intended. But they lack scientific support or rational processing. I fully agree with the author that the County does need to do more to address the Lyme disease issue and I believe the 4-Poster program is a step in the right direction. The DeerDeter device is also effective and should be considered in doing repair, replacement and new road construction.

But to suggest that the reason deer are running across the roads in the fall is because there are hunters in the woods is simply wrong. Deer are most active at night when visibility is less for drivers as well as deer. They are active all year long. They become particularly active during the fall, whether in areas where hunting is severely restricted, such as Fairfax, or in rural areas because this is the time of year when baby deer are made by aggressive, determined and not so bright male deer who with no regard for family, child care or housing issues, run across six lane highways in pursuit of female deer. They don't think about it, and they are going to do it whether there are hunters behind them or not.

And as to killing deer (harvesting if you need political correctness) being futile because they will be replaced by another deer, this is, again, simply not so. The deer population in Virginia was a small fraction of what it is today when I first started hunting 40 years ago. It had been decimated by over hunting, poaching, market hunting and other causes. The simple fact is that if we do not kill (harvest, cull, whatever) more deer our deer will succumb to chronic wasting disease. Google that for an eye full.

I won't add that hunters in Virginia supply hundreds of meals of low fat, high quality meat to shelters and the underprivileged through the Hunters for the Hungry/Hunters Who Care programs. We pay for the licenses to shoot deer and we donate the deer and many of us donate the processing money as well through direct donations.

Yes, arrows do wound deer. So do bullets. And so do automobiles and motorcycles. And poor hunting skills do result in unfortunate suffering to some deer. People die in car accidents but we would scoff at banning automobiles as a solution.

Ironically restricting hunting in Fairfax County to bow hunting (with an onerous and usually impossible exception) does result in some inexperienced gun hunters hunting with bows and this does increase the number of arrow wounded and lost deer. None of us feel good about wounding and/or losing a deer and the fact that we spend as much time practicing our craft and tracking deer is a tribute to that concern.

Giving deer human characteristics makes for nice children's movies. But it is inaccurate and unrealistic and the more you learn about deer the more one will understand that, if one wants to.

Campaign Sign-Off?

County Board supports Herrity's 'thumbs-down' vote on political signs.

In an election cycle with 99 candidates running for almost every state and local office, thousands of campaign signs sprouted like weeds along Fairfax County's roadways.

Nearly a month after the polls closed on Nov. 8, many signs are still standing, and that fact annoys Supervisor Pat Herrity (R-Springfield).

"They're an eyesore, a safety hazard, and illegal," Herrity said. "It's ridiculous that we are the only county in the state that's not dealing with illegal signs in the right-of-ways. That needs to change."

At Tuesday's Board of Supervisor's meeting, board members unanimously approved Herrity's proposal to end to what he calls the "blight" of illegal political signs on roadways and medians.

According to state law, Fairfax County has an exception when it comes to political signs. Although it's technically illegal to post campaign signs in medians and other state-maintained roads, Fairfax County's exception allows campaign signs in Virginia Department of Transportation (VDOT) rights-of-way until three days after an election. The Board approved a motion supporting legislation that would end Fairfax County's exception to the state code.

But the proposal does not mean an end to political signs.

Dozens of signs are placed outside of the Great Falls Library.

"They can be on private property, in people's front yards, like everywhere else in the state," Herrity said. "I am delighted that now we can take our first steps to alleviate this problem, clean up our roadways, and show pride in our communities," Herrity said.

Creating the Holiday Table

Local designers offer suggestions for dressing a festive table.

By MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

A festive holiday table requires more than prime rib and plum pudding. From incorporating natural elements to maintaining a consistent theme, local entertaining and design gurus dole out advice for creating a tablescape as enticing as the food it holds.

Candlelight creates a warm ambience, but Ann O'Shields, owner of The Nest Egg in Fairfax suggests skipping tall tapers.

"Low candles set a really nice glow on the table and give it a really nice feeling as well," said O'Shields. "I always recommend doing unscented candles so they don't interfere with all the fragrances from your holiday meals."

Vienna-based design consultant Denise Willard of Décor by Denise suggests choosing a color scheme, but limiting the palette.

"A simple way to give your holiday decorations a designer look is to stick to two or three colors at most," said Willard. "This year the silver and green color combination is hot."

O'Shields agrees that simpler is better. "Whether you want to decorate with blues and browns and silver or go more traditional and use red and gold, keep your palate at a minimum for really high impact."

Bring the outdoors in by using elements from nature, even from your own property, on your table.

"The outdoor, woodsy, organic feel is really popular right now," said O'Shields. "You can incorporate [things] from your own back yard, whether it is pinecones or holly. [You don't have to purchase] brand new decorations every year. You can freshen up what you have by using new elements from outside."

Rustic floral centerpieces are also popular. But remember that when you're creating concepts for the table, height matters.

"You don't want it to be so high that you can't see the person across from you," O'Shields said.

For the most polished look, choose a theme and keep it consistent. "I always think that if you pick a theme and do it well throughout and don't falter, you'll be satisfied whether you spend a lot of money or not," said Michael

Corrado, owner and head designer at Devers Design Group in Arlington. "If your theme is candy cane, for example, and everything you do [is] red, white and candy cane oriented, it is going to be very successful looking."

"The outdoor, woodsy, organic feel is really popular right now."

— Ann O'Shields,
Nest Egg, Fairfax

Don't be afraid to break tradition. Holly and mistletoe are holiday mainstays, but O'Shields says sometimes it is wise to mix old and new. "If you have plates that you like that were passed down to you, you can use them and add in some new, modern elements, like mercury glass pieces," she said.

FOR YOUR GUESTS

Use care in choosing a menu, keeping in mind possible dietary restrictions of your guests.

"Make sure you understand all of your guests' needs and are doing your best to make sure that you have food for everyone so that no one feels overlooked or left out," said Scott Hoffner, corporate chef for Main Event Caterers in Arlington.

"Keep in mind that the dietary restrictions of the average person are much different than [they were] even just a few years ago. There is a huge turn to vegetarianism and veganism, and you have gluten issues and religious factors in terms of pork or shellfish."

Hoffner believes a menu with farm-to-table fare will make a memorable meal.

"Find food that is local, fresh and in season," said Hoffner. "At the end of that day, that is what is going to give you the best result."

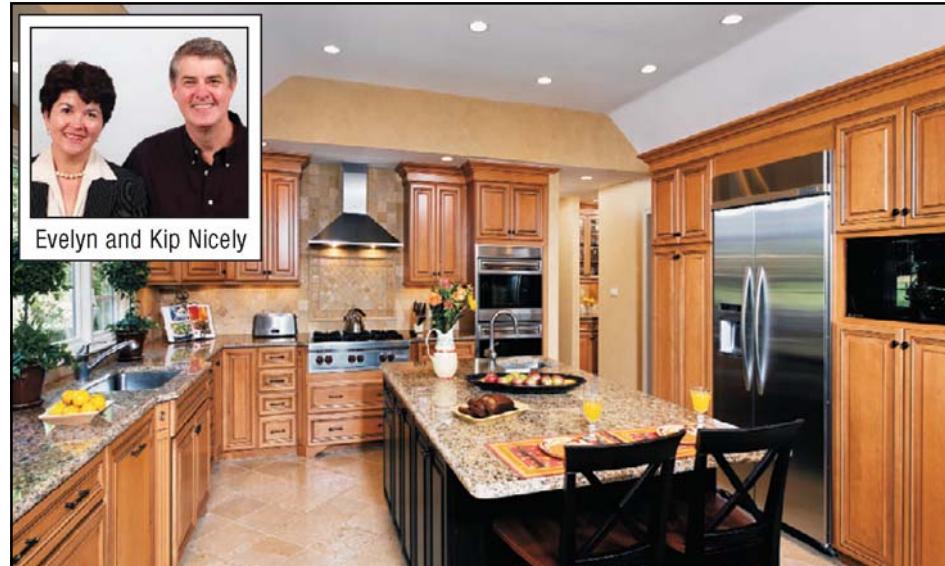

Ann O'Shields, owner of the Nest Egg in Fairfax.

Holiday Tested

Kitchen-centric,
open floor plan
well-suited for extended family entertaining.

BY JOHN BYRD

SPECIAL TO THE CONNECTION

What a relief to be living in a "holiday-tested" house as the season approaches.

Such are the reflections of Marie Brill on the kitchen-centric floor plan she and her husband introduced into their busy lifestyle just last year as the holidays commenced.

What tests has it passed so far? A sit-down dinner for forty or more. Family gatherings at Thanksgiving, Christmas. Open house parties. Birthdays. Anniversaries. "We're the hub for our extended family," Brill explains. "So I appreciate a plan that makes it easier to prepare meals and spend time with guests. I can stand at the range oven facing the living room. The visual connection really adds to the festivities."

A food preparation island, well-organized workspaces and several strategically located built-ins facilitate multi-tasking. Yet the kitchen artfully integrated so the entire first floor functions as an upscale entertainment suite.

The effect, Brill says, is a far cry from the compartmentalized warren of small rooms that dominated the home the couple purchased in late 2009.

Certainly, the existing house — a circa 1980s center hall Colonial on a tree-shaded lot in Burke — had potential for a young family that includes two preschoolers. There's a large backyard; a comfortable, well-located neighborhood.

"But when I took a critical look at the first level floor plan," Brill recalls, "I knew entertaining was going to be difficult." Brill pictured holiday parties as one endless trudge from the stove to the front parlor and back.

"We interviewed several remodeling firms," Brill says. "Sonny Nazemian, at Michael Nash Design Build, however, offered plausible solutions the first time we walked through the house together."

Since the Brills were especially interested in a more open first floor socializing scheme, Nazemian proposed a reconfiguration of rooms that places a gourmet kitchen squarely into the home's mainstream.

Satisfying the Brills' passion for enhanced visual linkage was another matter.

To open up sightlines, Nazemian removed a load-bearing wall between the family room from the kitchen, shifting upper level support to microlamine beams resting on vertical shafts. A wall between the old kitchen and dining room was also deleted. As an interior design solution, Nazemian proposed decorative archways that conceal supports, keep sightlines clear and add dramatic midroom accents.

"I've found that a successful open plan demands cohesive interior design," Nazemian says. "The point is to create a greater whole."

Top 10 Things To Know Before You Remodel

BY JOSHUA E. BAKER

There are very few decisions that can impact your family life, and the value of one of your biggest assets than selecting the right remodeler. Why not approach this as you would when hiring a lawyer, investment advisor, or even a physician?

1 Seek an Advocate: Unless you're an expert, and have an enormous amount of time, you will need someone who is able to assemble and manage team of professionals to work together on your behalf. Complex projects require input from numerous players, and may include an architect or designer, various engineers, landscape designer, lighting expert and others. Having one party who takes accountability and manages the entire process while looking after your interests is key to a successful remodeling experience.

2 Plan Early Government regulations and the permitting process for home remodeling are becoming increasingly restrictive and challenging. An experienced professional who understands the ever-changing requirements can help you navigate this process.

3 Find a Good Match Ensure that your contractor has a track record of success with projects similar to your own. Ask specifically about projects of comparable complexity, magnitude and level of finish, or requiring special areas of expertise, such as green remodeling, or historical restoration.

4 Get First-Hand Info Check the remodeling company's current references and visit recently completed projects to see firsthand if you are satisfied with the caliber of work. The best remodeling firms will be able to provide you with a list of raving fans who will welcome you into their homes.

5 Explore Options "Paper is cheap." Take as much time as you need to make sure that the design addresses all of your priorities. It is better to invest in design which is relatively inexpensive, vs. having missed opportunities or costly changes during the construction process. Look to the remodeler for advice on using durable materials, incorporating specialty items you may not know were available, and investing in green technologies that will pay off over time.

6 Be Wise Beware of offers and deals that appear too good to be true. Remodeling remains one of the most reported industries at the Better Business Bureau. Understanding exactly what you are getting for your investment and taking steps to ensure the remodeler will be able to provide service in the long-term is essential. Asking for bank references, researching employee tenure, and confirming that subcontractors have been paid on time can help you evaluate a company's financial stability.

7 Prevent Stress Especially for larger or more complex projects, insist on a full-time onsite project supervisor to orchestrate the entire process and all the players involved.

8 Be Firm Insist that a detailed production schedule be tied to your contract, and hold the builder accountable for these deadlines. While it's not commonly provided, ask for a written schedule guarantee with a penalty clause to ensure your satisfaction.

9 Double Check Warranties can vary greatly from one remodeler to another, so make sure you understand exactly what your builder will cover and for what duration after the completion of the project. Also ask about what resources are available to provide service if problems arise in the future.

10 Take Advantage Now is a great time to remodel! Compared to a few years ago, subcontractors are more readily available and their costs are significantly lower, enabling contractors to produce projects more efficiently and deliver greater value.

Stallions Gallop to State Football Finals

South County proves dominant in state semis victory over Hanover.

BY RICH SANDERS
THE CONNECTION

Behind an outstanding game from lefty-throwing quarterback Shane Foley and an offensive line which dominated play in the trenches, the South County Secondary football team soundly defeated Hanover High (Mechanicsville), 38-22, in a Div. 5 Virginia State AAA semifinals football playoff game last Saturday evening. The postseason contest, which began at 4 p.m., took place at South County's home field in Lorton.

With the win, South County continued what has been as dramatic a turnaround season as has perhaps ever been seen from a Northern Region football team. The Stallions began the season with three straight losses — to Hayfield, Oakton, and West Potomac — but have since won 11 straight and now find themselves preparing for this Saturday afternoon's state championship game against annual Div. 5 power Phoebus High (Hampton). The title game is scheduled to be played at the University of Virginia's Scott Stadium in Charlottesville beginning at noon.

"Honestly, 11 weeks ago, nobody thought we'd be playing for a state championship," said South County senior wide receiver/kicker Michael Ferguson, who caught three touchdown passes, converted a field goal, and connected on all five of his extra point kicks in the win over Hanover. "Week after week it's become more of a reality."

South County's 11-game win streak following its tough start has been fascinating to watch. The Stallions, under first year head coach Gerry Pannoni, had never before — in the school's relatively short seven-year history — won any type of postseason football title. Following the 0-3 start, South County won all seven of its remaining regular season games to make its record 7-3, earning the Stallions a part of the Patriot District title along with West Potomac and Lake Braddock.

Then, in the eight-team Div. 5 region playoffs, the Stallions continued their red-hot play with victories over three quality opponents — Madison, 31-0; defending Div. 5 region champion Stone Bridge, 25-3; and previously unbeaten Yorktown, 37-13. The latter victory over the Patriots (National District) coming in the region finals.

That earned South County its' first-ever trip to the state playoffs.

"The past 11 weeks, it's really been unexplainable," said South County senior running back Jake Josephs, who caught a touchdown pass and threw for one as well — on a halfback option play. "Everything has worked. If something goes wrong [in a game], the next play works. When we were 0-3 we all got together and said 'That's it, no more losses or we're done.'"

Hanover, the Div. 5 Central Region champion, had no answers for slowing down South County's rolling offense on Saturday as Foley, the Stallions' southpaw quarterback, behind ample protection from his offensive line, smoked the Hawks by connecting on 13-of-16 passes for 200 yards and three touchdowns. The signal caller threw no interceptions and was not sacked.

His biggest target was Ferguson, who caught three touchdowns on pass plays of 27, 11, and 13 yards. The Stallions (11-3), who led 24-0 at halftime, utilized an impressive running attack in the win to bring balance to the offense. South County, in all, rushed for 162 yards, the top ball carrier being senior running back Peter Basnight (15 carries, 64 yards).

FROM THE START of Saturday's game, South County was in charge. On the game's opening kickoff, senior Ryan Taylor fielded a high, short kick and returned it 38 yards to start the Stallions' first possession on the Hanover 40 yard line. Six plays later, South County was in the end zone as a result of a Foley hook-up with Ferguson from 27 yards out.

The Stallions began their second scoring march later in the quarter, moving the ball 80 yards over 10 plays with the touchdown coming on a 22 yard run by Drew Rector who, after taking a pitch to the right, methodically looked for running room, then dashed ahead. He was nearly tackled at about the 15, but used a spin move to ward off the defender before striding on into the end zone for the Stallions' second touchdown, which came on the fourth play of the second quarter.

On the ensuing kickoff moments later, South County, leading 14-0, made a huge special teams play. On a high, short kickoff to the right side of the field, the ball was not handled by Hanover and was instead recovered by Stallion player Devin Vandyke, a South County team captain. That set up the Stallions at the Hawks' 32. Six plays later, the South County offense electrified the excited home crowd on a third-and-goal halfback option pass play which resulted in a touchdown from 11 yards out. Foley pitched the ball back to all-purpose player Josephs, who then threw a pass towards the middle of the end zone which Ferguson, moving left to right, caught in traffic. Ferguson then knocked his third extra point kick of the game through the uprights and South County had a commanding 21-0 lead.

One play before the option pass touchdown, South County had fumbled the ball. But an alert Conor Quigley, a senior lineman, pounced on the loose ball on the 11.

SOUTH COUNTY, late in the first half, moved the ball from its 40 to the Hanover 12 over seven plays before Ferguson made it 24-0 with a 29 yard field goal with just less than two minutes left.

Ferguson actually made two field goals during that sequence. The first, from 34 yards away, was disallowed as a result of a defensive penalty prior to the kick. So Ferguson, from five yards closer, tried it again and converted again.

Hanover's offense, over the first half, managed just two first downs and 62 total yards.

The Hawks did come to life on the first possession of the second half with an 84-yard scoring drive, which took up just four plays. But South County, with its lead cut to 24-7, made a statement with an impressive 10-play, 66-yard touchdown drive which pretty much put an end to Hanover's thoughts of a comeback. On the touchdown, Foley, on a third-and-eight from the 13, found Ferguson over the middle. The receiver, on a left to right pass route, caught the ball at the goal line and got in for the score. His point-after kick made it 31-7 nearly midway through the third quarter.

The key play on that scoring drive came on a third down from the Stallions' own 37 when Foley threw a 30 yard pass to Basnight who, with two defenders right on him, made a nifty grab of the ball.

Hanover did score again in the third quarter before the Stallions, on the first play of the fourth quarter, scored their final touchdown when Foley, on a third-and-13 from the Hanover 21, connected with a wide open Josephs, who caught the ball on the left sideline right at the goal line. He fell over into the end zone for the score.

Hanover would later score in the final two minutes but South County had long since wrapped it up and had secured a trip to Saturday's state title game in Charlottesville. The Stallions' vocal student body, in the game's closing seconds, chanted, 'UVA, UVA.'

"This is just crazy," said elated South County offensive lineman Cody Smith, of the Stallions' making it to the state finals. "We've always wanted to go this far."

Bruin Boys Enjoy Cross Country Success

Lake Braddock Secondary School boys cross country team had a successful fall season. The Bruins had a strong autumn with an out-of-state invitational win at the North Port Invitation in Siesta Keys, Fla.

All members on the varsity team got a personal record and the first place runner of the meet came from Lake Braddock. Other Lake Braddock highlights of the season included: the freshman boys winning the Freshman Race at the Glory Days Invitational at Bull Run Regional Park; the boys sweeping the Patriot District Festival at Occoquan Park, winning both the Freshman-Sophomore Race and the Junior-Senior Race; the varsity winning the Patriot District Championship, with four of the seven boys making the All-Patriot District Team; two Bruins qualifying for states; and six Bruins going on to run at the Footlocker South Regional Championship in Charlotte, N.C. in late November.

South County's Henson Scores 19 in Defeat

South County sophomore April Henson matched the Robinson girls basketball team's offensive output during the final four minutes of the third quarter on Dec. 6, with each scoring 10 points.

In the game's closing seconds, Henson leaped high in the air to grab an offensive rebound before putting the ball in the bucket.

Henson, a 5-foot-9 guard, showed off her athletic ability, scoring a team-high 19 points against the Stallions' Concorde District opponent. But in the end, Robinson had too much talent and depth as the Rams defeated the Stallions 59-40 at South County Secondary School.

Robinson led 18-4 at the end of the first quarter and 34-14 at halftime. The Rams extended their lead to 40-14 in the third period before Henson scored 10 of South County's next 11 points.

The Stallions outscored the Rams 26-25 in the second half.

"I think we did much better in the second half of the game," Henson said. "We had more motivation."

Senior guard Angela Banks scored nine points for South County and junior forward Kim Levinstein finished with four.

Robinson's Tyler Hansen buried a career-high six 3-pointers and finished with a game-high 20 points.

The loss dropped South County to 1-3. The Stallions opened the season with a 48-38 win against Hayfield on Nov. 29, but have since lost to South Lakes, Madison and Robinson.

South County will host Centreville at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 13.

PUBLIC NOTICE

In accordance with the public participation requirement of 9 VAC 20-160-120, the general public is hereby notified that WPPI-Springfield HS, LLC, has voluntarily enrolled the property located at 7010 Old Keene Mill Road, Springfield, VA ("Property") into the Voluntary Remediation Program ("VRP"), administered by the Virginia Department of Environmental Quality ("VDEQ"). In accordance with the VRP, voluntary investigations and human health assessments have been completed. Groundwater and soil gas samples at the Property indicated the presence of volatile organic compounds ("VOCs") related to a release of dry cleaning solvents from a topographically and hydraulically upgradient dry cleaner. A site and human health risk assessment determined the impacts at the Property did not present an unacceptable health risk to site users in consideration of proposed site use restrictions. Actions required for continued protection of human health and the environment at the Property include institutional controls (deed restrictions) limiting property use to commercial and restricting groundwater use for any purpose. The VRP is prepared to issue a "Certificate of Satisfactory Completion of Remediation" for the Property pending completion of the VRP process and completion of the 30-day public notice period expiring on January 8, 2012. If you have questions or wish to comment during this time, please call Mike Buzzesi at (703) 608-5969 or submit comments in writing to Mr. Buzzesi at Land Strategies, Inc., 26037 Springdale Drive, Chantilly, VA 20152.

See what people are saying about
Alexandria Toyota!

"I gave this dealership a great rating because it was the greatest experience I have ever had at a dealership. John McMillan was exceptional as a salesman. He was able to answer every question and he made me feel like I was special as a buyer. It was truly a great experience and again I cannot say enough about John McMillan, he is truly an asset to Alexandria Toyota."
