Chantilly High Students Win State-wide Teen Stylin' Awards

Chantilly High students Mia Rickenbach and Diana Tsoy won design awards recently in the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts (VMFA) Teen Stylin' program. Both created dresses based on museum works of art.

Teen Stylin' Costume Couture is designed for students with a passion for clothing design, studio arts, installation art and/or sculpture. It provides aspiring designers with the guidance and assistance to create their own, one-of-a-kind, wearable works of art.

Rickenbach, a junior, and Tsoy, a senior, were among more than 80 Virginia student designers in grades 6-12 who worked over the course of eight weeks to create wearable works of art. The girls are in Chantilly's Studio Art program, and their weekly classes for this program were conducted at the McLean Project of the Arts and taught by VCU fashion instructors.

Their creations were then showcased Dec. 7, both on the runway and in the galleries, during the Teen Stylin' exhibition at the VMFA. Awards were presented in five categories: Best Use of Alternative Materials, Most Wearable, Best Use of Creative Construction, Best Interpretation of a Work of Art and Most Green Conscious. Judges were instructors at VCU and Pratt.

Rickenbach was the winner of the Best Interpretation of a Work of Art and was awarded a trip to New York City as her prize. Tsoy was runner-up in the Best Interpretation of a Work of Art and received a Fashion Designer Portfolio Kit. Both students' creations will remain on display at the VMFA through the end of January.

"It was all quite impressive," said Chantilly Art Department Chairman Donna Sinclair. "I was very proud of them both; they worked very hard to create their work and have it ready on time. In addition, Mia is a member and Diana is an officer of the National Art Honor Society."

Celebrating Legacy of Martin Luther King

CPMSAC's 20th annual celebration is Jan. 12.

BY BONNIE HOBBS
CENTRE VIEW

For 20 years now, the Chantilly Pyramid Minority Student Achievement (CPMSAC) Committee has celebrated the life and legacy of Martin Luther King Jr. This year's event is set for Sunday, Jan. 12, at 4 p.m., at Westfield High.

This year's theme is "In Celebration of Dr. Martin Luther King: 50 Years Later – A Time for Reflection and Remembrance." Students from schools throughout Centreville and Chantilly will perform in his honor. The event is free and the public is welcome.

"I hope that, through this annual celebration of the life of Dr. King, we are inspiring our youth – our future – to make their individual marks on life," said event Co-Chair

Deneen Vaughn. "I hope they'll make a difference that has a positive impact, not just for them as individuals, but for their generation and for the generations that follow. I hope they can find the courage to confront societal challenges and injustices with knowledge, grace and in a peaceful manner, but with purpose, as Dr. King did."

Masters of Ceremonies for Sunday's program are Westfield juniors Joseph Grant and Evan Gray. Featured guest artist is singer Edward Brient, a Chantilly High grad who was part of the school's famed Touch of Class Show Choir.

Also performing will be the Centreville High Wildcat Guitar Ensemble, under the direction of Bill Burke, and the Westfield Step Team directed by Scott Burroughs. Singing the iconic "We Shall Overcome" together will be choral students from Greenbriar East Elementary and Rocky Run Middle. Colin Powell Elementary's Puma Choir will perform the song, "It Starts with Me," and Greenbriar East will entertain the audience with the musical number, "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel."

The Bull Run Elementary String Ensemble will perform, "Noel," followed by "Break Every Chain" by a group called Praise in Movement. And a Chantilly High choral group named "Unaccompanied Minors" will sing the popular song, "Some Nights." The song, "I Dream a World," will be performed by the Franklin Middle Advanced Women's Choir, and Lees Corner Elementary student Ricky McGlothlin will give a dramatic reading titled, "Your Dream." In addition, the Chantilly High Chamber Chorale will sing, "Walk Together, Children," and Brookfield Elementary's fifth- and sixth-grade chorus will perform "There Has to Be a Song."

"Every year, we're given an opportunity to reflect on how Dr. King's life impacted our country," said event Co-Chair Brenda Johnson. "He taught us not to give up and to work hard and, one day, your dreams would become a reality. He taught us that we all have the right to the 'pursuit of happiness.'

"Over the years, I've witnessed many changes, but we have so much more to do. Dr. King gave many people hope, determination, self-confidence and courage, but we don't want to become comfortable and stop looking for other ways to continue his legacy. We have to insure that our children never forget the sacrifices he and many others had to endure so they can walk the streets freely, shop and sit in a restaurant without being harassed or told, 'We can't serve you here,' and, most importantly, exercise their right to be heard by casting their vote."

Johnson said things today still aren't "what they should be — we still face challenges in all aspects of our lives — but they are much better than they were. Thank you, Dr. King, for being a model for a life well lived and for giving us a reason to hope, believe and dream that anything is possible."

'I Always Wanted to Give Back' Chantilly High junior raising money for LLS.

BY BONNIE HOBBS
CENTRE VIEW

Beginning in January, Chantilly High junior Shannon Darroch is trying to raise as much money as she can in six weeks. But it's not for her: It's for the National Capital Area Chapter of the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society (LLS).

She doesn't have either of these diseases, nor is she a survivor. But when her school's career center sent her an application to participate, she didn't hesitate.

"I thought it would be an awesome opportunity and would be really cool to do," said Darroch, 17. "One of my good friends had leukemia in high school, and I was inspired by the way my community reached out and helped her."

Now Darroch's one of 16 high-school students in the Washington Metropolitan area vying for the title of LLS 2014 Student of the Year in a competition sponsored by Toyota. She and the other candidates were introduced at a Nov. 5 event in Silver Spring, Md. There they learned about LLS's mission — to cure leukemia, lymphoma, Hodgkin's disease and myeloma, while improving the quality of life of patients and their families.

The students are eligible for multiple scholarships, with the top fundraiser receiving a $5,000 scholarship to the university of his or her choice. And Darroch's eager to start raising money. "I always wanted to give back and make it a mission to help people going through cancer," she said. "My grandmother has breast cancer and it's all the same battle. And I feel that it's a way for me to help fight that battle."

Darroch plans to collect donations through sponsorships, business contributions and talking to people in the community. "I know I can reach out to my school and it'll help me," she said. "And I'm one of the assistant coaches of my neighborhood's — Franklin Glen's — swim team and I know a lot of the parents, so I plan to ask them."

"I'm pretty new to fundraising, but I like the challenge," said Darroch. "Anyone who raises over $10,000 gets a prize, too. So we can raise money and do a great thing — everybody wins, either way. And raising $10,000, itself, is an accomplishment."

She said she's learned about "the power of each donation" — how LLS contributes its money toward helping people via research and development. "I've learned that $7,500 funds a program to educate 200 doctors on emerging treatments for a specific blood cancer," said Darroch. "Even $25 provides patients and their loved ones with free booklets containing up-to-date information on their disease. That helps them make informed decisions about their treatment options." She's eager for the experience that awaits her and is looking forward to helping the LLS. "It'll be cool to learn about people's connection to leukemia and how it's affected them," she said. "This competition also gives people who want to do something about it the opportunity to do so."

Knowing she can really make a difference also fuels her desire. "Ten years ago, people's survival chances for leukemia were significantly lower than they are now, when more than 90 percent of children diagnosed can survive," said Darroch. "So I think of this as a race we can win — and that comes with research."

Her dream is to raise $50,000 to fund a research program. "I know I can dream big and score somewhere in between $10,000 and $50,000," she said. "But whatever I raise will be awesome, and I'm really excited to educate people about the LLS. I'm going to send out a fundraising letter to people with facts about leukemia that they may not know and tell them what can be done about it."

Darroch's on Chantilly High's swim team and is in the Chantilly Academy's engineering program. She's also a member of the National Honor Society, plus the Spanish and English honor societies. "I feel very blessed in my life," she said. "Now I want to help other people feel the same way."

Kitchen Organization for the New Year

Experts offer smart tips for making space and clearing clutter.

By MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

If organizing an unruly kitchen, one where there never seems to be enough space for storage containers and pots and pans, is on your list of resolutions this year, the project might be less daunting than you think. From creating a system for grouping spices to keeping plates in easy reach, local experts share secrets for a well-maintained kitchen.

Hang pots and pans inside pantry doors, says Sallie Kjos of GreyHunt Interiors in Chantilly. "It organizes them, but decoratively can look effective."

Pots and pans can also be hung from the ceiling using a hanging cookware rack. "These are actually very pretty hanging over a kitchen island and it frees up cabinet space for other items when storage space is limited," said Susan Unger, of ClutterSOS in Vienna.

Victoria Sanchez, of Victoria at Home in Alexandria, agrees: "Pot racks are totally underutilized," she said. "They offer extra storage for your pots and pans and add a decorative element above an island or along the wall."

Unger also recommends storage racks that hang from walls and doors. "[They are] very functional and I've used them many times in kitchens and other rooms," she said. "It is not unattractive, but [it's] not a 'pretty' organizing item."

Reduce clutter any way you can. "Clear off the fridge," said Kjos. "Paint the inside of your cabinets with magnetic chalk paint and write your messages there with your calendar and coupons hidden away for a cleaner look."

When it comes to storing cooking utensils that need to stay within easy reach, Kjos said, "You can replace canisters that may look bulky with glass jars. Use urns to store your wooden spoons and spatulas to make them into a pretty and decorative arrangement."

Anna Reeves, owner of Tiny Chefs with locations in Potomac, Alexandria, Fairfax, Arlington, Vienna and Oakton, gets back to basics when it comes to cooking and kitchen organization. She starts with an old-fashioned pad and pencil, organizational tools that would be helpful in most kitchens.

"One good tip is to write down everything you need before you sit down to make a recipe, so you have a list of all the supplies and ingredients" she said. "I have friends who start a recipe and then realize that they don't have all of the ingredients and tools they need."

Even something as simple as stacking storage containers becomes easier when they are similar in size. "Uniform Tupperware containers make for easy storage," said Reeves. Kristen Robinson, a chef instructor at The Art Institute of Washington, a branch of The Art Institute of Atlanta, has an organizational safety warning, however.

"Most people don't realize that food poisoning usually occurs in the home due to improper food storage and handling," she said. "I label and date everything that goes in the refrigerator and freezer. It's important to label and date leftovers and pay close attention to expiration dates. One thing I do to keep items fresh on the shelf is to store my grains, beans and rice in mason jars. I label and date these items, too. I hate having open bags of these items and Ziploc bags can be clumsy."

IF YOU'RE LUCKY ENOUGH to have a kitchen remodel on your agenda for 2014, consider cutting-edge cabinetry that offers storage solutions. "I am both pleased and amazed at the new designs for base corner cabinets," said Joe Starkey of Old Town Bath and Kitchen in Alexandria. You can still find and still use traditional lazy Susans, but alternatives out there, [such as a] blind corner with full access or with swing out or with pull out, are staggering. Newer mechanics have allowed redesign of the actual storage areas."

Bill Millholland, executive vice president at Case Design/Remodeling, with offices in Bethesda and Falls Church said, "One particular project always comes to mind when I think of kitchen organization and clever storage solutions, and it incorporates the idea of placing heavy items [like] plates in a drawer rather than up high in a wall cabinet. This is both convenient and practical for people of all ages and abilities."

LETTER

Improving Mental Health Services

The following open letter was addressed to the state senators and delegates representing Fairfax County.

I apologize for not being able to attend this year's hearing. I want to thank you all for once again allowing your constituents to voice our concerns and express our wishes for this new legislative session. On behalf of Angel Fund, created in memory of Reema Samaha, one of the 32 killed at Virginia Tech on April 16, 2007, I would like to thank all of you who voted to pass HB 2322 and SB 1078 requiring community colleges to develop mental health referral policies.

I would also like to thank you for passing HB 1609 and SB 1342 requiring our colleges and local mental health facilities to enter into memoranda of understanding in order to better exchange information and facilitate student transition back to school.

This year, we have two requests and hope that you will support our efforts. The first request is to fund a pilot program that provides services to emotionally disabled teenagers to transition into adulthood. There are no programs at this time in the Commonwealth of Virginia that provide transitional services to emotionally disabled high school graduates until the age of 21.

These young people struggle to find a job, live on their own, obtain an education. A number of them end up homeless, addicted to drugs or alcohol, commit crimes and end up in prison. The Governor's Task Force for School and Campus Safety's Workgroup for Mental Health identified the need for better transitional services for this group of young people.

Ironically, Senator Creigh Deeds, prior to the tragic suicide of his son, offered to sponsor a budget amendment for this pilot program. The brainchild of Beth Hilscher, whose daughter, Emily, was also killed on April 16, 2007, the pilot program would be housed at Ivy Creek school in Charlottesville. Ivy Creek educates emotionally disabled students from K-12.

The program would start sophomore year and guide students through graduation, helping them transition into the world of work and higher education. The cost of the program over a three-year period would be approximately $367,000.

Senators Janet Howell, Chap Petersen, Dick Saslaw and Tommy Norment have expressed their support along with Delegates Rob Bell, Tim Hugo and David Toscano. We would like for this delegation to support this budget amendment. Our intent is to emulate the pilot in Fairfax County and Virginia.

Our second request is an amendment to the language for threat assessment teams. Del. Eileen Filler-Corn has graciously offered to sponsor and Del. Tim Hugo to co-sponsor this bill in the House and Sen. Chap Petersen in the Senate. If passed, this law would encourage faculty and staff to report concerns of students who have made threats against others or themselves to the threat assessment teams. These teams have proven quite effective in keeping our campuses safe and this would help them gather the information they need from those members of the campus community who have direct contact with students.

Thank you again for your service and concern for your constituents. We look forward to working with you this next session.

Student History Buffs Wanted for Internship

Juniors in good standing at Chantilly and Westfield high schools and who are interested in history may apply for the newly established Margaret C. Peck Youth Internship program, sponsored by the Sully Foundation, Ltd.

This paid, nine-month internship runs from April through December 2014.

Up to three interns will be hired. Participants will gain experience in museum operations, public speaking, historic-object collections, event programming and museum-store and visitor-center operations.

Sully Historic Site, owned and operated by the Fairfax County Park Authority, will begin accepting applications for this internship program next month. Candidates must provide a completed application, written essay and teacher recommendations by Jan. 31 for panel review.

Peck, a former Fairfax County Public Schools educator, was the former Sully Historic Site administrator and a Sully Foundation member. This internship honors her community service, dedication to educating young adults and historic-preservation efforts in the surrounding community.

For more information e-mail either Carol McDonnell, site manager at Sully Historic Site (carol.mcdonnell@fairfaxcounty.gov), or Noreen McCann, visitor services manager (noreen.mccann@fairfaxcounty.gov). Or call 703-437-1794.

ONC Volunteers Bring Holiday Happiness

Sunday, Dec. 15, was delivery day for the more than 700 local families receiving Christmas gifts, wrapping paper and cookies from Our Neighbor's Child (ONC).

Volunteers receive ID numbers for their cars before getting their delivery assignments and driving directions.

Westfield freshman and lacrosse player AJ Syrek loads a bike into a car trunk.

From left: Gavin Kemble, 13, sister Ellie, 10, and their mom, Erin Kemble, of Little Rocky Run, delivered packages to four families at a time. Why did they volunteer? Replied Erin Kemble: "Because we can."

Market Day

First grade students at Colin Powell Elementary participated in a World Market Day on Dec. 18. Each first grade class chose a different country to study: India, Korea, Mexico, China, Germany, England and Africa. They learned about holidays and traditions celebrated in the country. The students then acted as producers to create an item from their country of study and opened a class shop on World Market Day in the cafeteria in the décor from each of the different countries.

NEWS

Route 29 looking north over Little Rocky Run.

Bridge Work To Affect Route 29

Lane closures begin this week on Route 29 over Little Rocky Run, as the Virginia Department of Transportation replaces the structurally deficient bridge to improve safety and increase traffic flow. The new Centreville bridge will go from .2 miles east of Pickwick Road to Union Mill Road and will be just under a half-mile long.

During construction, drivers can expect some off-peak lane closures and traffic shifts, Monday-Thursday, from 9:30 a.m.

to 3:30 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 5 a.m.; Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.; and overnight on weekends while crews replace the bridge. All work is weather permitting and message signs are in place to notify drivers.

The $17.3-million project will widen the bridge from four to six lanes, provide a 10-foot trail on the south side and a 5-foot sidewalk to the north. Shirley Contracting Co. is the contractor, and completion is scheduled for October 2015.

ROUNDUPS

Recycle Electronics

Residents may recycle old TVs, computers, peripheral electronic devices – such as keyboards, speakers, printers and scanners, as well as household hazardous wastes – including fluorescent light bulbs and tubes, for free, during Fairfax County's "Electric Sunday" events. The next one is slated for Sunday, Jan. 12, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m., at the I-66 Transfer Station, 4618 West Ox Road, in Fairfax. For more information, call 703-324-5052.

Democratic Women To Meet

The next meeting of the Democratic Women of Clifton and Northern Virginia will be held Sunday, Jan. 19. All Democratic women in Northern Virginia are invited to become members of this active organization. Meetings are Sundays, from 3-5 p.m., in the Clifton Town Meeting Hall, 12641 Chapel Road in Clifton. For more information, e-mail cliftonwomendems@aol.com or go to www.democraticwomenofclifton.org.

Carseat Inspections

Certified technicians from the Sully District Police Station will perform free, child safety carseat inspections Thursday, Jan. 16, from 5-8:30 p.m., at the station, 4900 Stonecroft Blvd. in Chantilly. No appointment is necessary. But residents should install the child safety seats themselves so technicians may properly inspect and adjust them, as needed.

However, because of time constraints, only the first 35 vehicles arriving on each date will be inspected. That way, inspectors may have enough time to properly instruct the caregiver on the correct use of the child seat. Call 703-814-7000, ext. 5140, to confirm dates and times.

How to Help The CLRC

The Centreville Labor Resource Center (CLRC) needs volunteers to lead vocational training workshops to increase the workers' job skills. A Wednesday morning ESOL instructor is also needed; contact Molly Maddra at coordinator@centrevilleLRC.org for more information.

In addition, contributions may be made at www.centrevilleimmigrationforum.org. The organization is supported totally by grants and donations; it receives no government funding.

WFCM Donations

Western Fairfax Christian Ministries' food pantry urgently needs donations of cooking oil; sugar; flour; canned fruit, meat, tuna and greens (spinach, collards); fruit juice and cold cereal. (Also needed are toothpaste, deodorant, baby wipes and shampoo).

Bring all items to WFCM'S new food-pantry location, weekdays, 9 a.m.-1:30 p.m., at 13888 Metrotech Drive, near Papa John's Pizza and Kumon Learning Center, in Chantilly's Sully Place Shopping Center.

Thrift-store needs include coats, fall and winter clothing, socks and underwear for adults and children, plus Bibles in English and Spanish. The store is at 13939 Metrotech Drive.
