ESI IS TRYING TO COVER UP THEIR COAL ASH

Don't Let Them Bring Toxins To Our Community

FACTS:

- ESI has refused to commit that it will not use coal ash to construct their 70 foot wall and to cover debris at their proposed massive expansion of the Lorton Landfill.
- Coal ash contains arsenic, mercury, cadmium and a dozen other heavy metals. When exposed to rainfall and groundwater, these heavy metals can leach out of the coal dust into the environment.
- Airborne coal ash dust increases the exposure risk to area residents by this toxic material.
- Post-closure monitoring is only required for 10 years at landfills, which is an insufficient time period to measure toxic releases of heavy metals from the coal ash.
- If the Board of Supervisors approves ESI's 70' high retaining wall that is over 2 miles long, they will be able to bring millions of tons of coal ash to Fairfax County to build it.

Robinson Students Receive Scholarships

Claudia Torres and Carolina Castedo honored by Hispanic Leadership Alliance.

BY JANELLE GERMANOS
THE CONNECTION

Claudia Torres, a senior at Robinson Secondary School, and Carolina Castedo, also a senior at Robinson, both moved to the United States at a young age over 10 years ago. Torres is Peruvian, and Castedo is Bolivian and Chilean.

Burke residents Torres and Castedo, both 18, wrote about challenges they have overcome as newcomers to the United States, as well as reasons they wish to attend college, in an application for a Fairfax County Hispanic Leadership Alliance Scholarship.

"I didn't know how to speak English, and that was hard for me when I got here," Castedo said.

CASTEDO AND TORRES have overcome these challenges and shine as leaders at Robinson. The students, who are active in the Latin American Student Association at Robinson, recently received $1,000 each in scholarships from the Hispanic Leadership Alliance, which provides these scholarships for first-generation Hispanic students who are the first in their families to attend a post-secondary school education.

Through the Latin American Student Association (LASA), Castedo and Torres have spread their culture with others. The group holds an international show every year, where Robinson students can celebrate their cultures through fashion shows and cultural displays.

"It helps you feel connected to home," Castedo said.

LASA has helped the students voice their pride and appreciation for their culture.

"I think a big challenge was accepting myself and my culture, because just being here is different. There are so many people that don't understand, so it took me awhile to fully accept it. Now, I listen to Spanish music, and am more accepting of myself," Torres said.

In addition to adjusting to life in the United States at a young age, Torres has also overcome some personal challenges, which she wrote about in her essay for the scholarship.

"I want to study psychology, and last year I got sick with a mental illness, so I wrote about that," Torres said.

Torres will attend Northern Virginia Community College for two years, and then plans on transferring to James Madison.

"I think it's a good option because you save a lot of money and you still get the same education," Torres said.

Castedo is attending Radford and hopes to be a special education teacher. She and Torres are both involved in Partners Club, an organization that partners them with special education students.

Azimi helps the parents of Hispanic students at Robinson connect with the school, as many do not speak English.

"We have been able to connect with the Hispanic community here," Azimi said. "It's a great relationship that we have at the school."

Torres and Castedo say that they will continue to promote their culture and to break down the stereotypes that may be present in society.

"I feel like a lot of people look down on the Spanish community. I feel like it's mostly stereotypes," Torres said. "We try to get rid of those stereotypes and show that we're hardworking and we take our education seriously."

Both students are thankful for the opportunity to work with Azimi and Fernandez and to spread Latino culture at Robinson.

"They are both great girls and well-deserving of this scholarship," said Fernandez.

The Board of Supervisors passed the county budget in a 7-3 vote.

Supervisors Pass County Budget

Three supervisors vote against the $3.7 billion budget.

BY REENA SINGH
THE CONNECTION

Educators are not happy that the school district will receive $64 million less than they asked for next year.

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors passed the county's Fiscal Year 2015 budget, which includes a 3 percent increase in the School Fund Transfer, at the April 29 meeting.

"Our official position is that the funds are just not adequate," said Fairfax Education Association President Kimberly Adams in a previous interview. "This is going to impede our abilities to compensate our employees."

She and several teachers attended the budget markup earlier that month to make their presence known.

Fairfax County Public Schools will receive $1.928 billion from the county this year — an increase of 3 percent from last year. The Board of Education had asked the county for $64 million more to continue programs and proceed with scheduled teacher pay raises.

The tax rate will rise half a cent from $1.085 to $1.090 per $100 of assessed value. That means a homeowner with a property value of $100,000 will pay $1,090.

Non-uniformed government employees will receive an across-the-board 1 percent increase in their pay — a move that was commended by all supervisors.

The county police department, sheriff's department, Fire and Rescue and Office of Emergency Management will receive a total of $426,864,290 from the general fund.

There was no discussion about the supervisors' positions after the resolution motions were made. However, once they passed, Chairman Sharon Bulova thanked her budget committee and her staff.

"This was not an easy budget, and that is an understatement," she said.

All three of the resolutions — to formally approve the real estate property tax rate, addendums to the advertised FY 2015 budget and school fund — passed 7-3. Providence Supervisor Linda Smyth, Springfield Supervisor Pat Herrity and Braddock Supervisor John Cook voted against the resolutions. They also voted against the budget markup at the April 22 meeting.

Herrity said he is concerned about the 7 percent increase that residents will see in their taxes for the FY 2016 budget if no changes in the recommendations are made. His statement was based off of a recommendation made during the Board of Supervisor's April 22 meeting, but there has been no official agreement to increase the taxes for that year's budget.

"If we don't keep our priorities straight, we're going to tax people out of the county," he said.

Cook to Host Neighborhood College

Beginning in May, Supervisor John Cook (R- Braddock) will be hosting a new Neighborhood College program. This program is a civic engagement program open to residents interested in learning about Fairfax County and how to work with neighbors, community organizations and local government. The Department of Neighborhood and Community Services will be supporting this program presentation.

Neighborhood College will feature a combination of lectures and group discussions and cover topics including Fairfax County Government and how it works, demographic profiles and trends in a community context, and how to work effectively within diverse neighborhoods and communities.

"I am a Neighborhood College graduate and know personally the tremendous value this program can bring to the community," said Supervisor Cook. "It has been several years since the last Braddock District Neighborhood College and it is time to train the next set of community leaders and volunteers."

Participants can use the knowledge they gain through the programs to strengthen neighborhoods, build citizen engagement, and promote a strong sense of community. Supervisor Cook recommends this program as an excellent leadership training opportunity for residents who serve as officers on their homeowner or civic association boards, or who just want to learn more about how the County works.

Neighborhood College classes will meet at the Pinn Community Center on Thursday nights from 6:30 until 9 p.m. between May 15 and June 19. If you would like to learn more or register for the series, please contact Ann Sharp or Kiel Stone at 703-425-9300 or e-mail ann.sharp@fairfaxcounty.gov.

AREA ROUNDUPS

Public Meetings on Noise Ordinances, Group Assembly

Public meetings on proposed Fairfax County changes to the noise ordinance and group assembly rules in residential dwellings will occur throughout the month of May.

The Fairfax County Zoning Administration Division is proposing the group assembly changes which "will limit the number of persons and frequency of large gatherings at a home," according to a Fairfax County press release.

The proposed change states that "group assembly when accessory to a dwelling unit shall be permitted, except any group assembly exceeding forty-nine (49) people in one day shall not occur more frequently than three (3) times in any forty (40) day period."

The meetings are Wednesday, May 7 at South County Government Center Main Conference Room, Monday, May 12 at Fairfax County Government Center Board Room, and Monday, May 19 at Lemon Road Elementary School Cafeteria.

Auditions Open for 'How to Succeed...'

Westfield Summer Stage celebrates 14 years of summer musicals with the musical-comedy satire, "How to Succeed in Business without Really Trying." Auditions are open to Northern Virginia teen actors, singers and dancers in rising grades 7-12, plus 2014 high-school graduates. Some 55 actors will be cast.

Hopefuls should attend an audition workshop Tuesday, May 13, at 6:30 p.m., when material for the vocal and dance auditions will be taught, and where students may sign up for auditions. Auditions are May 17, from 9 a.m.-4 p.m.; callbacks are May 18 at 2 p.m.

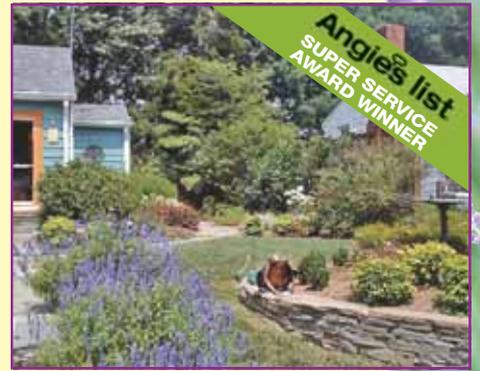

All activities are at Westfield High, 4700 Stonecroft Blvd. in Chantilly. Rehearsals begin June 19; most are on weekday evenings until the performances, July 18-26. The theatre workshop fee is $300 for students who are cast and accept their role.

Yes to the Meals Tax Referendum

Voters could decide on the tax in November.

Economic diversification is worthy goal. All of your eggs shouldn't be in one basket. All of your revenue shouldn't come from one source.

In Fairfax County, adding a meals tax at the same level as Arlington, Alexandria, Falls Church and the City of Fairfax, 4 percent, could generate $88 million a year. The county estimates that 25-30 percent of the meals taxes collected would be paid by non-county residents.

The inability to implement alternative revenue sources will mean continued dependence on one basket. The combined increase in the real estate property tax rate and home values means that most homeowners will be paying hundreds of dollars more in property taxes regardless of their ability to pay.

In Virginia, localities have only the powers explicitly granted to them by the General Assembly. In Northern Virginia, the economic engine of the state, this has translated into heavy dependence on the real estate property tax to fund everything, because localities are allowed few revenue options.

EDITORIAL

Fairfax County has a task force studying the possibility of holding a required referendum to let voters decide on adding a meals tax. It would be applied to "ready-to-eat foods and beverages wherever they are sold," but not vending machines.

Former Board Chairman Kate Hanley and former Board Chairman and U.S. Rep. Tom Davis will chair the task force and report back to the Board of Supervisors in mid June. If supervisors approved the referendum, it could appear on the November ballot.

It's interesting that historically, Fairfax County voters overwhelmingly give the thumbs up to authorizing capital improvements to schools, parks and roads via bond sales, but in 1992, voters said no to the meals tax. It will be up to elected officials and advocates for schools, parks, libraries, public safety and human services to help make the case for the increase.

(Taxing income is a power the Commonwealth of Virginia retains for itself, and it is a mechanism that sends money from Northern Virginia to other parts of the state while forcing Northern Virginia localities to depend on property taxes.)

BOS Budget Falls Short for FCPS

By ILRYONG MOON
FAIRFAX COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD
CHAIRMAN

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors (BOS) continues to state that education is its top priority but its actions clearly do not match its words — not when county spending next year will increase by 3.6 percent while Fairfax County Public Schools' (FCPS) budget is projected to increase by just 1.6 percent over last year's adopted budget. Overall, FCPS will receive 52.4 percent of the county's budget, down from 52.7 percent this year. While this percentage change seems small, that equates to more than $12 million that FCPS would have received.

In his April 22 newsletter to residents, Supervisor Pat Herrity makes several misleading assertions about the FCPS budget. He suggests that the School Board already has available funding to meet the school system's needs, beyond the amount that will be transferred from the county and state. We would like to correct these misperceptions.

Supervisor Herrity suggests increasing the salary "lapse rate" (a salary lapse occurs during a job vacancy). FCPS' budgeted lapse savings are based on historical trends. FCPS has taken several steps to adjust compensation accounts in the FY 2015 budget including using lower salaries to budget for vacant positions and for new positions due to enrollment growth. Whatever is remaining in the compensation accounts, combined with other savings generated throughout the year, go into the ending balance which we use to fund the following year's budget.

Supervisor Herrity suggests eliminating pay raises for administrators to save $13 million. The cost of providing a step increase for all employees is $41 million. Of that amount, the cost for the administrative positions in schools is $1.7 million and central administrators account for $300,000. To achieve his goal of $13 million in savings, pay raises would need to be denied to employees who directly serve students including advanced academic resource teachers, work experience teachers, instructional support teachers, school counselors, librarians, audiologists, physical and occupational therapists, English for speakers of languages teachers, professional technical project teachers, public health attendants, public health training assistants, school-based technologists, psychologists, social workers, school clerical, school custodial, and school administration.

Supervisor Herrity also claims that many of our teachers are doing administration instead of teaching. He states that if we "take the total number of students in the school system and divide it by the number of full time equivalent teachers (emphasis added), we should get a class size of 12." As our class size is not as such, he alleges that our teachers must be doing administration. This canard has been raised before by Supervisor Herrity and it is irresponsible for him to continue to deliberately mislead the public by using deceitful teacher-student ratios in his comments. This doesn't result in purposeful conversation, but rather distracts the community from the real issue of fully funding schools. To clarify once again, "full time equivalent teachers" are much more than classroom teachers. They also include special education teachers, English for Speakers of Other Languages teachers, instructional coaches, speech therapists, guidance counselors, librarians, music, physical education teachers, and more. Although these professionals do not have assigned classrooms, they are all teaching and working directly with students. It takes more than a single classroom teacher to provide a well-rounded and full education for FCPS students.

Moving forward, it's critical in budget discussions that disingenuous arguments are not used to refute or support one's position. This should not be seen as a School Board versus Board of Supervisors debate. We are partners. The School Board will continue to work closely with the Supervisors in an effort to develop long-term sustainable funding for FCPS and to meet the expectations of the community to maintain our world-class school system.

Timely Discussion On Drug Abuse

To the Editor:

Through columns on your newspaper website like "Avoidance Better Than Arrests, Prison, Death" my attention has been drawn to your spotlight on forums focused on drug prevention in high schools. With the increase in use of drugs for recreational use among youths, this is a timely and well-covered issue in your newspaper.

The drug prevention forum covered by your paper called "Protecting Against the Realities of Substance Abuse," put on by Parents Reaching Out To Educate Communities Together (PROTECT), provides a new approach to talking about drug awareness and prevention that could help parents better understand and approach the rise in drug culture in youths. By bringing in police officers, former drug users and dealers, and families affected by drugs, parents were able to hear their stories and learn ideas like how to recognize signs earlier that may indicate drug use in their children.

As a former student at the [Madison] high school where the forum was held and as an adult now who has had friends struggle with drug addictions, I find it extremely important and well received that this topic is being highlighted in your publication. This is an issue in children today that needs to be addressed because prevention of drug use is always better than detection of drug use for all parties involved.

MOTHER'S DAY

The Things My Mom Taught Me

Growing up my mom went from asking me what was one nice thing I did for someone to inspiring me to think differently and change the community and even the world around me. That has led me to my purpose in life. To go beyond help or charity and work towards fundamentally changing the lives of others. She would always remind me that the success of our family did not come on our own. It was the grace of God, the support of friends, and the encouragement of a community. I continue to see my mom live this every day. She is so dedicated to her employees and does big and small things for their professional and personal lives because she wants the best for them. People she barely knows, but she knows helping them is not just being a good employer; it is being a good citizen of the world. She also never misses the big and little moments in my life. In this picture posted in January I commented that in the 30+ years I

My Mother

Shirley M. Bailey, 84, of Burke submitted this poem "as a tribute to my mother, Lorena W. Mayhew, a superb seamstress, who kept her four children well dressed during the Depression and even later with her superb skills as a seamstress."

While she's here, your mind forgets that she won't always be.
 You accept with selfish gratitude the nights she sewed late so you could have a special dress to wear to some event that seemed then to be more important than your aging mother getting rest.
 You took for granted the talent she had for taking a tuck here, and easing a seam there, just so you could feel,
 when you walked into that party, that you were looking as good as you possibly could,
 considering what you started out as.

Needle in hand, she hummed (always the same tune) as she sewed, proud that her daughter was having opportunities for fun, something life left little room for in her own youth.
 Always willing to put her own needs aside for any desire of the four children she bore, she made each of us feel special, as though we were her only child.
 Ever the example of goodness,
 she gave her love unconditionally,
 even when we erred.

In late February, Daryl Vasquez, a nurse with the Fairfax-Falls Church Community Services Board's Community Readiness and Support Program in Springfield and a Burke resident, noticed that a CSB client having lunch was choking and could not breathe.

"She managed to get her arms around him and perform the Heimlich maneuver, dislodging the obstruction and most likely saving this man's life," Gary Ambrose, a CSB board member, told the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors on April 29.

For her heroic actions, Richard Bowers, chief of the Fairfax County Fire and Rescue Department, honored Vasquez with a Citizen Life Saving Award.

"Here's a great example of the everyday continuum of care that our nurses and other community leaders provide," Bowers said. "This is an example of a nurse saving a life in our community."

THE PRESENTATION came the same day that the Board of Supervisors designed May 6-12 as Nurses Week in Fairfax County to raise awareness of the importance of nurses and the hard work they do on a daily basis. Ambrose joined Louella Meachem, CSB's director of nursing services, to accept the proclamation.

"As the proclamation points out, nurses are unsung heroes throughout our county," Ambrose said.

"The people the CSB serves, people who struggle with mental illness, substance use disorders, and intellectual and developmental disabilities, often face the additional challenge of having little or no access to primary health care.

This can lead to early death from diseases that are common and preventable if detected early."

Nurses throughout the county help to bridge the gap for CSB clients, Ambrose said.

"In addition to providing counseling, crisis intervention, case management and behavioral health support services, the CSB's 66 nurses screen people for common primary health concerns, such as high blood pressure and diabetes," Ambrose said. "They, and nurses throughout our community, have saved lives again and again by detecting and addressing serious conditions requiring medical attention."

Vasquez says she enjoys her job with the Community Readiness and Support Program, and thanked the Fire and Rescue Department for presenting her with the award.

"While I saved a life, I believe as nurses we are also saving lives by educating our clients, one-on-one and in psychosocial group settings," Vasquez said. "I feel very lucky to be working there."

FOLLOWING THE INCIDENT, Vasquez provided the man she saved with education about chewing effectively and reducing choking and aspiration risk in the future.

"As nurses it is also important to teach about prevention of serious health risks and disease (heart attack with clients with cardiovascular disease and diabetic complications with clients with diabetes). It was traumatic to experience it for me and CRSP team to experience as well," Vasquez said.

After reading the proclamation declaring May 6-12 as Nurses Week, Mason District Supervisor Penny Gross acknowledged the importance of nursing and the need to encourage people to apply for nursing school.

"We all know the role that nurses have traditionally played in health care, but now with sort of the new health care iterations, nurses become even more important and provide different kinds of care than perhaps traditionally they used to," Gross said.

Hearing Loss Doesn't Have to be Life-changing

"What?" May is Better Hearing and Speech Month.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

On any given workday, you might find Arlington resident Erin Weiner sitting in a family-friendly restaurant casually coloring or playing games with a young child. At first glance, she might be mistaken for any young mother entertaining her offspring while they wait for a meal. In actuality, Weiner, who is a speech-language pathologist, is employing what she describes as an innovative approach to therapy that involves working with a child in his or her natural environment.

"Real-time therapeutic sessions help children develop skills that they can effectively apply to day-to-day life," said Weiner, of Erin's Place for Therapy in North Potomac, Md.

Hearing loss affects more than 36 million

Americans. During the month of May, Better Hearing & Speech Month, Weiner and other speech and hearing professionals are working to raise awareness about communication disorders and the treatments that are available.

"Most people don't realize how the loss of hearing is interfering with their lives," said Michael V. Massa, AuD., of Massa and Associates, Doctors of Audiology, with offices in Springfield and Mount Vernon. "Hearing loss is usually gradual and a spouse or family member will notice it first."

Massa says that while hearing loss is most common in people aged 50 and older, it can affect patients from newborns to the elderly. Recognizing the warning signs and finding the proper treatment can be life-altering. "People come back and say 'if I had known how much this would have helped, I would have come to see you much earlier,'" said Massa.

EARLY DETECTION IS CRITICAL. "Hearing loss can affect one's ability to communicate with and engage others in the community," said Jeffrey Edge, rehabilitation services manager for the Fairfax County Health Department. "The earlier you detect a hearing loss, the sooner you can take steps to hopefully decrease the impact of the loss on communication. Early detection of hearing loss is most important with infants and children as hearing is critical to developing speech and language skills and learning."

Speech-language pathologist Erin Weiner holds a therapy session with a young patient in a natural environment.

Edge points to research from the National Institute of Health, National Institute on Deafness and Other Communication Disorders, which shows that speech and language development begins in the first six months of life and children who get treatment early develop better language skills than those who don't.

There are certain signs that tell parents their children might be experiencing hearing loss. "Is the child responding to their name when the child isn't looking at you?" asks Weiner. "Are they speaking as much as their peers? Are they saying 'What?' a lot? Do they seem to be reading your lips? If a fire truck with its sirens on goes by does the child look up? Are they having problems speaking at the right volume?"

Weiner, who provides oral, motor articulation, language therapy and auditory processing treatments, said problems with audio processing can often be difficult to diagnose. "You have to determine if the issue is auditory processing or hearing loss. This can be difficult to distinguish. With auditory processing, someone might keep saying 'What?' and they probably heard you, but the message is not getting to their brain."

Hearing loss in newborns can be hereditary or congenital, said Massa, but it is often caught early because of state laws that require newborn hearing screenings. "At birth we can tell if a child's hearing is normal or not and this is critical because they have to develop speech," said Massa.

MASSA SAID THAT the number of Americans with hearing loss has doubled within the past 30 years. "Some of that is due to the fact that we have so many baby boomers," he said. "Inner ear hearing loss is the most common type of loss."

Sudden hearing loss is another common hearing disorder that usually occurs in one ear. "With sudden hearing loss, time is of the essence," said Massa. "The person needs to be seen right away. Studies show that they have a better chance of recovering if treatment begins right away."

When it comes to treatment, advancements in hearing devices now include the latest digital and Bluetooth technology, which can connect patients to their electronic devices, such as a television, a computer, a smart phone or cellular telephone phone, as well as induction loop systems found in theaters.

"Hearing devices have gotten really good with digital technology. How well a person is going to do with a hearing device is dependent on the type of hearing loss," said Massa, who has been practicing for more than 30 years. "Fortunately most people can be helped by hearing devices. It is extremely important for those people to be seen by a doctor of audiology."

A healthy body starts with a healthy mouth!

At Peter K. Cocolis, Jr. and Associates, we believe optimum oral health is key to total body health and well-being. These days, going to the dentist is not just about taking good care of your teeth; it is about taking good care of your health. Problems in your mouth can be signs of trouble elsewhere in your body. Your oral exam reveals important early warning signs for many total-body conditions including diabetes, oral cancer and high blood pressure.

Whether your family seeks general preventive maintenance, cosmetic, or advanced restorative and implant dentistry to transform your smile's function and appearance, Drs. Cocolis and DaSilva are renowned by peers and patients alike for exceptional personalized care in a friendly, safe and state-of-the-art-environment.

MYTH

If you have hearing loss you need hearing aids.

BUSTED

Many types of hearing loss can not be helped by hearing aids. In some cases it is simply a wax blockage in the ear canal.

MYTH

Hearing aids need replacing on average every 3 years.

BUSTED

Hearing aids, if properly maintained, will last 10 to 15 years.

MYTH

The more invisible a hearing aid, the more it has to cost.

BUSTED

Our hearing aids sell by the circuit, not size. Our invisible CIC's (completely in canal) are as inexpensive as our BTE's (behind the ear).

WHAT IS FEEDBACK?

Feedback occurs when sound leaving the speaker finds its way back or "feeds back" into the microphone. Sound must be held in the ear to correct hearing loss. If amplified sound is allowed to escape around the sides of the hearing aid, it will find its way back into the microphone creating feedback, rendering the hearing aid useless.

REPAIR YOUR EXISTING HEARING AID!

Most of the time the speaker is clogged with dirt or wax. If you are going to use something to remove it, use the thinnest piece of wire you can find. Or you can bring it to one of our offices and we will vacuum it out for FREE!

Del. Filler-Corn Meets Scout Troop 698 of Burke

Del. Eileen Filler-Corn (D-41) recently met with Scout Troop 698 of Burke to discuss the important role civics and community participation plays in government and community development. Del. Filler-Corn and the group even played Virginia jeopardy, testing the Scouts knowledge of the House of Delegates and everything Virginia.

"I truly enjoy spending time out in our community, meeting with many groups throughout the 41st district. I continue to be inspired by so many individuals who regularly work to help make our community a wonderful place to live. I am especially energized by meeting with groups of young people. These young scouts were quite impressive, knowledgeable and inquisitive. I know the future of the Commonwealth will be better off with their leadership in the future," said Del. Filler-Corn.

The Scout Troop 698 of Burke is led by Scoutmaster Mike Koehler of Burke and the event was organized by Eagle Advisor Heather Zdancewicz.

He said his aunt has already moved out of Fairfax County because she could not afford to live here.

"I think we've got a board that's not focused on our priorities," he said. "If they don't make changes, I'll vote against it next year."

Hunter Mill Supervisor Cathy Hudgins did not agree with some aspects of the budget, according to her comments at previous public hearings, but she voted for it anyway.

"With the adoption of the FY 2015 budget, and the lack of a [Board of Supervisors] consensus, it was clear that all residents in Fairfax County will feel the effects in some capacity," she said in a press release. "However, based on correspondence received, my interactions with residents, and guidance from the Hunter Mill District Budget Committee, my approach to this year's budget remained philosophically consistent: attempt to not to inflict undue hardship on any one segment of the county, whether that be those who receive services, those who pay real estate and other taxes, those whom the county employ, those whom the county educates, or all of us who rely on the county to keep us safe."

Enjoy a Magical Time with 'Beauty and the Beast Jr.'

Area residents shine in Northern Virginia Players spring production.

BY JANELLE GERMANOS
THE CONNECTION

Members of Northern Virginia Players are sharing their enthusiasm and love for song and dance while also raising money for an 11-year-old with a brain disorder through their spring production of "Beauty and the Beast Jr."

Last weekend's shows brought fun and cheer to packed audiences, with standing ovations every show, and the good times continue May 9 and 10 at Burke Community Church.

A portion of the ticket proceeds benefit Glitter Matters, a nonprofit that was started for Ellie Schleyer. Schleyer is an 11-year-old who has been battling an undiagnosed and rare brain disorder. Northern Virginia Players first heard of the cause when they previously performed shows at New Hope Church, where Schleyer's father is a pastor.

"It's just a great way to give back to the community," said

Ann Eul, a director of the show and West Springfield resident.

NORTHERN VIRGINIA PLAY-

ERS' performance was filled with exceptional renditions of classics such as "Be Our Guest" and "Beauty and the Beast." Next week's show is sure to be just as exciting, with a whole new set of cast members performing in the main roles for the second weekend.

"We double-cast because we emphasize working together," said SEE BEAUTY, PAGE 15

Kate Wittig, a director of the show. "We don't build starlets, and we think it shows in the performances."

Burke resident Alyssa Gallo, 18, starred as Belle in the May 2 and 3 performances. This was her first play with Northern Virginia Players, but she said it's already become like one big family.

"I like my part because I can be myself in it. I've dealt with some things that she kind of feels. It was immediate connection. And I love NVP because I can be myself in front of them," Gallo said.

Gallo is also happy that proceeds of the show are benefiting Glitter Matters, as she was a cancer patient when she was younger.

"I knew I wanted to help in any way that I could," Gallo said.

On May 9 and 10, Victoria Conner, 17, will play the part of Belle.

Northern Virginia Players is a community group with children from age 8 to 18. Wittig and Eul, the show's directors, say the nearly 70-member cast is a talented and exceptional group of students.

"It's the most positive atmosphere that I've been able to find anywhere in any theater group in this area," said Alden Lester, 16, who plays the part of Lefou.

The students' love for Northern Virginia Players and their characters shines through in their performance.

"My double-cast is amazing, and my character, Madame de la Grande Bouche, is big, giant, and she likes to be known. It's a lot of fun," said Abby Collins, 15, of Falls Church. Springfield resident John Stallings, 8, was a member of the ensemble.

"I loved playing the part of the villager," Stallings said. "And I love singing and dancing."

Jordon Post, a Fairfax Station resident and a narrator in the play, has been in seven Northern Virginia Players productions.

"It's just a lot of fun making new friends and acting, and showing off what you can do," Post said. "My double-cast last year became my best friend."

ACTING AND SINGING gives the students a chance to do an activity they love and to make friends at the same time. Several of the students plan to pursue theater after graduation.

"My character Cogsworth is just so weird. It's really out there, and it's fun to get out there, because I'm kind of shy actually," said Charlie Potter, 18. "My brother is actually going to play Cogsworth next week, and he wants to make the part completely different."

Northern Virginia Players boosts a close-knit environment that relies on the work of dedicated parents and volunteers.

"We have a lot of military families that come back and see the shows," Eul said. "The parents are amazing and supportive."

Want to go? Showtimes are May 9 and 10 at 7:30, and May 10 at 1:30 at Burke Community Church, 9900 Old Keene Mill Road, Burke.

Woodson junior Isabel Obregon scored eight goals during the Cavaliers' 18-8 victory over Annandale on Tuesday.

Woodson senior Alex Lightfoot scored four goals, including three in a row at one point, during the Cavaliers' win over Annandale on Tuesday.

Obregon, Lightfoot Lead Woodson Girls' Lax to Victory

Cavaliers score 10 straight goals to pull away from Annandale.

BY JON ROETMAN
THE CONNECTION

Annandale attacker Sureyya Gokturk's goal with 18:30 remaining in the second half tied the score at 7 during Tuesday's contest against the perennial Patriot District power Woodson Cavaliers.

Little did the Atoms know, their evening was about to go downhill quickly.

The Woodson girls' lacrosse team scored the next 10 goals, including three straight by senior Alex Lightfoot, en route to an 18-8 victory on May 6 at Annandale High School.

Woodson won four consecutive Patriot District championships since moving over from the Liberty District in 2010. Now a member of Conference 7 (composed of seven of the previous eight Patriot District teams) after the VHSEs six-class realignment, the Cavaliers are looking to continue their postseason success. Tuesday's win improved Woodson's record to 8-2, including 5-0 against conference foes.

"We expect to win the [conference]," second-year Woodson head coach Patrick Mahler said. "That's our first goal. We expect to be playing into the month of June and give ourselves a chance for the big trophies."

Woodson appears to have the firepower to make a postseason run. Junior midfielder Isabel Obregon, who was named Patriot District Player of the Year as a freshman in 2012 before playing her sophomore season at Bishop Ireton, scored a game-high eight goals, many of which came early while the score was tight. Senior midfielder Kelly Stegner scored the go-ahead goal with 16:38 remaining, giving the Cavaliers an 8-

Woodson senior Kelly Stegner (5) tries to escape two Annandale defenders on Tuesday.

7 advantage. Lightfoot scored the next three goals as Woodson started to pull away.

WOODSON'S 10-0 RUN started after Annandale standout Ashley Britton left the field after receiving her second penalty card.

"I definitely think we were all panicking in the beginning because we kind of got into our own heads before the game," Obregon said. "I think we were over-analyzing the other team. I don't think we had enough confidence."

If the Cavaliers were lacking confidence, it didn't show in the second half.

"We knew that they were going to be aggressive and we knew that they were going to get fouls, in particular certain players, so we knew when those players were in the penalty box, that we needed to take advantage of our opportunities," Mahler said. "Senior leader Alex Lightfoot did that exact thing and had [three] in a row. We knew that it was just a matter of time before their over-aggression got the best of them and then we were able to capitalize on that."

While seven different Cavaliers scored at least one goal, Obregon and Lightfoot carried much of the offensive load. Obregon scored six of the team's first seven goals and finished with eight. Now a junior, Obregon transferred back to Woodson from Bishop Ireton at the beginning of the second semester in January and re-joined the Cavalier lacrosse program. The University of Maryland commit said she is enjoying being back at her former school.

"I'm definitely having more fun with lacrosse here," she said, "because it's a lot less stressful."

Mahler said Obregon struggled at first with transitioning back to Woodson, but No. 18 has come on strong.

"It was a change," Mahler said. "She's a high school girl and she's a creature of habit. The change so late in the school year really made it a roller coaster experience for her, but now it's starting to level out, especially after spring break."

Lightfoot, who will play at Randolph Macon, finished with four goals for Woodson.

"Alex Lightfoot's been playing since she was 6 or 7 years old," Mahler said. "She might not be the most athletic, but she has all of the nuances and she knows how to play the game. She's very, very crafty and very, very smart. She has excellent stick skills."

Sophomore attacker/midfielder Claire Swanson scored two goals for Woodson. Stegner, Grace Stephan, Emily Williams and Emma Vinall each scored one.

WOODSON WILL TRAVEL to face Lake Braddock at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, May 9, and close the regular season at home against Lee on Monday, May 12.

"I know that Woodson can make it very far," Obregon said. "We have talent on the team. Even our bench is very deep. I expect to definitely win our [conference]."

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE
IMPROVED REAL ESTATE

Improved by the premises known as 2665 Prosperity Avenue, #402, Fairfax, Virginia

In execution of a Deed of Trust from Don Michael Stoops, dated September 29, 2006, and recorded October 2, 2006, in Deed Book 18803 at page 60 among the Land Records of Fairfax County, Virginia, the undersigned substitute trustee will offer for sale at public auction at the front entrance of the Court House for Fairfax County, at 4110 Chain Bridge Road, Fairfax, Virginia, on Tuesday, May 20, 2014 at 9:30 a.m.

the following property being the property contained in said Deed of Trust, described as follows:

Unit 402, HALSTEAD AT THE METRO II, A CONDOMINIUM, and the limited common elements appurtenant thereto, including limited common element garage space/parking space G4-050, established by condominium instruments recorded in Deed Book 18395 at page 1876 and any supplemental declarations and/or amendments recorded subsequent thereto among the Land Records of Fairfax County, Virginia.

Commonly known as 2665 Prosperity Avenue, #402, Fairfax, Virginia 22031.

TERMS OF SALE: A deposit of $20,000.00 or ten percent (10%) of the sale price, whichever amount is less, in the form of cash or its equivalent will be required of the purchaser at the time and place of sale; the balance of the purchase money being due and payable within fifteen (15) days after sale, time expressly being of the essence, with interest at the rate of 2.625 percent per annum from date of sale to date of settlement. Provided, however, that if the holder of the secured promissory note is the successful bidder at the sale, no cash deposit shall be required, and part of or the entire indebtedness, including interest and costs, secured by the Deed of Trust, may be set off against the purchase price.

Any defaulting purchaser shall forfeit the deposit and stand the risk and cost of resale.

Sale shall be made subject to all existing easements and restrictive covenants as the same may lawfully affect the real estate. Sale is further subject to mechanic's and/or material-man's liens of record and not of record. The property will be sold subject to all conditions, covenants, restrictions, rights of redemption of federal lienholders or encumbrances, and agreements of record affecting the same, if any.

In the event the undersigned trustee is unable to convey to the purchaser good title, then purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy shall be in the refund of the deposit paid at the time of sale.

The subject property and all improvements thereon will be sold in "as is" condition without warranty of any kind. Purchaser shall be responsible for any and all building and/or zoning code violations whether of record or not of record, as well as for all unpaid and enforceable homeowners' or condominium owners' association dues and assessments, if any. Purchaser also shall be responsible for obtaining possession of the property at his/her expense. Purchaser shall assume the risk of loss and shall be responsible for any damage, vandalism, theft, destruction, or the like, of or to the property occurring after the time of sale. Conveyance will be by special warranty deed. Conveyancing, recording, transfer taxes, notary fees, examination of title, state stamps, and all other costs of conveyance are to be at the expense of purchaser. State and local taxes, public charges, and special or regular assessments, if any, shall be adjusted to the date of sale and thereafter shall be assumed by the purchaser.

Sale is subject to post-sale confirmation that the borrower did not file for protection under the U.S. Bankruptcy Code prior to the sale, as well as to post-sale confirmation and audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, the sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of his deposit without interest. Additional terms may be announced at the time of sale. This is a communication from a debt collector and any information obtained will be used for that purpose.
