REAL STORIES FROM THE EXPRESS LANES

“My daily commute to work used to take me over an hour. Now, it only takes me 20 minutes. Those extra minutes allow me to spend quality time with my children.”

- Jennifer G.
Alexandria, VA

Thanks to the 495 Express Lanes, Jennifer says she can balance being the mother of five young children and working at her job in Tysons. Traveling from Alexandria to Tysons Corner used to take her over an hour, but now it only takes 20 minutes. With those extra 40 minutes, Jennifer is able to eat breakfast with her kids and spend more time with them in the morning. She even has time to take her older children to school before heading to work—and now she can pick them up on the way home, too.

Jennifer’s story was one of our winning entries in our “Express Lanes Love Story” promotion.
Free Carseat Inspections

Certified technicians from the Sully District Police Station will perform free, child safety carseat inspections Tuesday, Nov. 24, from 5-8:30 p.m., at the station, 4900 Stonecroft Blvd. in Chantilly. No appointment is necessary. But residents should install the child safety seats themselves so technicians may properly inspect and adjust them, as needed.

Because of time constraints, only the first 35 vehicles arriving on each date will be inspected. That way, inspectors may have enough time to properly instruct the caregiver on the correct use of the car seat. Call 703-814-7000, ext. 5140, to confirm dates and times.

Lending a Hand To Help Others

The annual Sully District Scouting for Food drive benefiting Western Fairfax Christian Ministries (WFCM) was held Saturday, Nov. 14. Thanks to the generosity of the local community, Boy Scout troops collected some 60,000 pounds of nonperishable food and other items for the WFCM food pantry. The donations help local families in need.

More than 900 Boy Scouts plus some 800 other volunteers — including adults, Girl Scouts and many other youth, school and church groups — participated. “I think this is a phenomenal achievement for a one-day collection, and we really appreciate the generosity of the people in our community,” said Michael Ade, heading the Boy Scouts’ efforts. “This will definitely benefit WFCM’s Food Pantry and those they serve in our local area.”

Bilingual Volunteers Needed

The Centreville Labor Resource Center (CLRC) is collaborating with GMU’s school of Conflict Analysis and Resolution on a community assessment project. The CLRC is looking for bilingual volunteers to assist researchers with conducting interviews. Schedule varies depending on interview times. Contact Molly Maddra-Santiago at director@centrevillelrc.org if interested in this opportunity.

Helping unload donations at the warehouse is Centreville High freshman Shivan Prasad.

Happily holding canned goods to pack up for delivery to WFCM’s food pantry are Kim and Dan Fiul and children Aiden, 9, and Allie, 13, of Chantilly Girl Scout Troop 3327.

From Centreville High’s computer-programming class, junior Edd Dugbartey and senior Jailene Sandoval transport a load of donated food to tables for packaging.

Lane Closures Ahead

Drivers can expect lane closures at Braddock Road and Pleasant Valley Road from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. next Saturday, Nov. 21, according to the Virginia Department of Transportation. Crews will be doing pipe work, grading and paving.

This work is in addition to regular weekday closures Mondays through Thursdays, 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., and Fridays, 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Construction began in late April to replace the existing four-way stop at the intersection with a one-lane roundabout in western Fairfax. The $5.8 million project is being administered in cooperation with Fairfax County and is expected to be completed in Spring 2016.

Help Our Neighbors Child Serve Families in Need

By Kelly Lavin
Founding Director
Our Neighbor’s Child

The weather outside is far from “frigid,” but the volunteers with Our Neighbor’s Child know it’s too well that the holidays are just around the corner. In a few short weeks, children from nearly 800 local families in need will be among all children who dream of new toys, books, games or clothing. Since mid-September, counselors and social workers at elementary, middle and high schools in Centreville, Chantilly and Fairfax area have been working to verify addresses, prevent duplication and create wish lists that will soon be attached or ornaments that will be distributed to area Giving Trees.

The ability of Our Neighbor’s Child to serve these children rests solely with the community. When our area schools, churches and businesses join together to participate in this effort, it shows the families that they live among those who care. We are only a seasonal effort, but we take pride in our ability to consistently provide, year after year, for each struggling family who reaches out for holiday assistance. There are many communities across Fairfax County and the country that are forced turn families away. We have the great fortune to live in a community that continuously steps up to meet the need.

Students from Centreville, Westfield and Chantilly High Schools are preparing to serve in the donated warehouse space to help receive and organize the gifts that arrive from local donation points. They will also be baking some of the 30,000 holiday cookies that are delivered along with the gifts.

Stone Middle School students have already produced several thousand ornaments needed for this effort and Stone’s National Junior Honor Society will host a “Panther Drop-Off” gift collection for the public at their school on Saturday, Dec. 5 from 9 a.m. to noon.

There are still many opportunities to help Our Neighbor’s Child. Volunteers are encouraged to visit its website at www.ournighborschild.org. At the top of the home page are links to “Calendar,” “Volunteer Needs” or “Donate Now.”

Our Neighbor’s Child is a 501c organization that has no paid staff and uses no public donations for overhead. If you donate to ONC, every penny is used directly in the purchase of a holiday gift for a child. All necessary supplies are collected in the community or donated by ONC’s founding partners. Checks are very welcome and can be sent to the following address: Our Neighbor’s Child, PO. Box 276, Centreville, VA 20120 Attn: Karen Moore, Treasurer.

While there are some wonderful resources for recycled clothing in our area, the holidays are a time to receive something “brand new.” ONC’s clothing coordinator, Stephanie Somers, is looking for volunteers willing to help purchase clothing wishes (one item or several) for the children in our area. Email Clothing@ournighborschild.org for more information. ONC would greatly appreciate hearing from organizations in the Centreville, Chantilly, Fairfax area who would like to help support the following critical needs: Bikes, Coats, Gift Cards and Book donation support. ONC is dedicated toward being good stewards of every donation. The organization is a registered member of the non-profit First Book that provides access to brand new books at deeply discounted prices. The paperback version of “Charlotte’s Web” retails for $7.99 and ONC is able to use donations and purchase it for $3.90. As a 501c, ONC is able to purchase helmets through another non-profit, Helmets R Us. Helmets sold for $14 - $16 at Target, Wal-Mart and similar stores can be purchased for $7.95, further stretching every donation dollar.

Our Neighbor’s Child has been blessed with an outstanding core group of volunteers and the loyal support of the churches, schools, business and individuals in our community, we have a very good chance of being there for the families who will truly need us this holiday season. That’s a very good feeling.

Holidays Are About Giving

Give thanks and share locally; tens of thousands of families around us are in need.

The holidays are about giving, and giving thanks. The holidays are about children and family. The holidays are about sharing, about joy. The holidays are about being thankful and about faith and appreciation. The holidays are about alleviating suffering for others.

Northern Virginia is among the wealthiest areas in the country, and many if not most of us go through our usual routines without encountering evidence of needy families among us. But more than 5,100 children who attend Fairfax County Public Schools are poor enough to receive free or subsidized meals, a significant measure of poverty. That’s 28 percent of students in Fairfax County Public Schools.

In Arlington more than 31 percent of the students are poor enough to receive free or subsidized meals; that’s 7,794 students at last count. In Alexandria, 8,664 students are poor enough to receive free or subsidized meals. That’s 59 percent of the 14,671 students enrolled.

These are children who are living in families who may be on the brink of homelessness, families who must choose between medical bills, car repair, heat and food. These are children who may not be sure that they will have a meal between the meals they get in school. School holidays can bring uncertainty and hunger, a far cry from the celebrations, gifts and plenty that we associate with Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Hundreds of homeless students attend the public schools, and their needs are greater. There are literally hundreds, probably thousands, of ways to give locally this season. Here are a few ideas. We will run this list again during the holiday season, so let us know what we have missed.

CHRISTMAS GUIDE • November 18-24, 2015 • 9
Saint Timothy School CYO Tennis Team Takes Championship

The Saint Timothy School CYO Tennis team went undefeated all season, losing only two sets the entire regular season. They continued this undefeated streak into the playoffs, and into the championship match. They have made it to the finals for the past five years, only to lose to rival St. Mary's Catholic School in Alexandria. This year they defeated their cross town rivals.

Help CYA Deliver Holiday Cheer

For the third straight year, Chantilly Youth Association (CYA) is looking for would-be Elves and Santa’s Helpers-in-training to help make the season brighter for children fighting cancer and their families.

CYA is again helping DC Candlelighters Childhood Cancer Foundation provide gifts for the annual Pediatric Oncology Holiday Party. Unwrapped gifts can be brought to the CYA Office, located next to Cassel’s Sports and Awards at 13996 Park Center Road, Herndon, 20171, by Monday, Dec. 7. If no one is in CYA office, donations can be dropped off at Cassel’s. Gift value should be in the $20 - $25 range.

Gifts are provided for all of the children in a family, not just the child with cancer. CYA will hold a gift wrapping party on Saturday, Dec. 12 at the CYA Office. For additional information, contact Mark Abbott at ExecDirector@ChantillyYouth.org.
Ad Fontes Academy now united on one campus.

By Bonnie Hobbs
The Connection

It’s been a long time coming, but Ad Fontes Academy can finally be described as a school united. After having its student body physically separated in two, different locations, it’s finally together on the campus of Centreville Presbyterian Church.

But it wouldn’t have happened without a great deal of hard work, dedication and a serious fundraising campaign. And the end result is a new, modular building for the school’s lower grades, now just a stone’s throw away from the upper-level students.

The whole thing called for a celebration and, on Oct. 16, Ad Fontes staff, students, parents, teachers, board members and all other stakeholders in the school’s future gathered to celebrate. They did so with tours of the building, speeches and a ribbon-cutting in front of the entire student population.

“This is a dream that started many years ago,” said Ad Fontes President Dean Luckenbaugh. “We give thanks for our partnership with Centreville Presbyterian; we planned to be here one year, and it’s been 10 years.”

Noting the school’s One Body campaign that raised more than $1 million, he said even the smallest donations were welcome and helped make a difference. “Many young people gave 50 cents, a dollar or birthday money,” said Luckenbaugh. “One student even donated the $7 he made selling pancakes door-to-door. And we believe those faithful gifts brought the rest of the resources we needed to be here today.”

A private, nonprofit Christian school, Ad Fontes teaches students in grades JK (junior kindergarten, for 4-5-year-olds) through sixth in what it calls its lower school, and grades 7-12 in its upper school. And although Centreville Presbyterian has hosted Ad Fontes for a decade, there wasn’t enough space for the younger children.

So for the past 10 years, grades K through four were taught at St. John’s Episcopal Church. But as enrollment grew, said lower school Principal Janet Cooper, “We didn’t have room for fifth or sixth grades there, the past two years. So we moved them to the upper school at Centreville Presbyterian.

Now, though, in time for Ad Fontes’s 20th-anniversary year, the lower-school children are ensconced in their new facility directly behind their older classmates inside Centreville Presbyterian Church. Total school enrollment is 214 students, 124 of them in the lower grades. But having the new building will enable Ad Fontes to some-day house as many as 275 students.

Students began using it Sept. 1, when the school year began. It contains eight class-rooms that can each hold 20 students, bathrooms, a large multipurpose room, offices, a reception area, a conference room, a small library and a Discovery Learning Center — where students with formally diagnosed learning difficulties receive educational therapy from an expert in this field.

“We love it,” said Cooper. “It’s a blessing to be here in our own building, and we have plenty of space in the classrooms for more activities.”

And on occasion, we can have lunches, recesses, picnics or celebrations together for the whole school,” added Advancement Director Laura Harders. “Before, we had to bring everyone together in cars.”

Cooper’s pleased to have a library in the building and it is also happy that all the lower-school children are now on one level. At St. John’s, they were taught on two, different stories of the building. And, said Cooper, “I have an office now. Before, it was at a lunch table.”

There are eight teachers and two aides at the lower school, and the average class size is 17 students. And now that the students finally have a home that’s really theirs, said Cooper, “The children have a greater sense of responsibility for their own building and want to take care of it.”

She said Ad Fontes students receive a “classical Christian education. We focus on grammar, writing, reading, phonics and Latin. Students are given a strong understanding of what God has done throughout history, chronologically, since creation. And they learn it in more depth as they advance in grades.”

For example, said Cooper, first-graders learn about the Greek myths and Greek civilization. In fourth grade, they read a children’s version of “The Iliad” and “The Odyssey.” Then in eighth grade, they read the original texts of these books. Students also memorize a historic timeline from 4,000 BC to 1991 that relates to what they’re studying — and recite it in song, complete with hand and foot motions.

“They also learn logic and rhetoric in the upper level,” said Cooper. “And seniors write a thesis and present it orally from memory. Our students come out with a strong, Christian foundation and learn how to think, analyze and ask questions.”

Parent Scott Shortmeyer has three daughters who attend kindergarten, first and third grades at the school, and he said his family’s delighted to be part of the Ad Fontes family. “We love it; it’s more than an education — it’s a great, close-knit community.”

He likes the fact that the school is “Bibli-cally based, with Christ at the center of all of it. My girls love it here because learning is fun. And the new facility is great because it’s our own and is a new benchmark in the history of the school.”

At the ribbon-cutting ceremony, Board of Directors Chairman Jim Hadley said a prayer of dedication. “It’s a miracle that we’re here today,” he said. “Lord, You stirred us to this task, and we are grateful that You’ve performed. And we dedicate this building to Your glory and to what will be accomplished here — developing people who are leaders and who want to serve You.”

Westfield Football Beats W-L in Opening Round

Bulldogs will host South Lakes in quarterfinals.

BY WILL PALENSCAR
FOR THE CONNECTION

It was Friday the 13th and if visiting Washington-Lee was to have a big upset, it would need more than superstition. A quick score on its first possession to gain momentum against Westfield would do wonders.

Fate, however, would not go the Generals’ way.

No. 3-seed Westfield defeated No. 14 Washington-Lee 44-20 on Nov. 13 in the opening round of the 6A North region playoffs. The Bulldogs will host No. 6 South Lakes at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 20 in the quarterfinals.

Twice in the first quarter, Westfield corner back Joe Caron intercepted a W-L pass. After Caron’s first interception, teammate Tim Beard would rush in from 6 yards out to put Westfield up 7-0 with 9:33 left in the first quarter. After a Brian Delaney kickoff resulted in a touchback, Washington-Lee looked to close out the quarter with more points and much-needed momentum. Westfield’s Jose Perdomo had other thoughts as he knocked the ball from the Washington-Lee quarterback and Westfield’s Santique Kanu picked the ball up and dashed into the end zone with 8 seconds to go until halftime.

In the third quarter, with Westfield leading 29-7, Scanlon connected with wide receiver Rehman Johnson from 34 yards with 1:22 left in the period. Westfield’s Cole Huling ran in the two point-conversion and Westfield now was up 37-7. Huling would also account for his second interception in as many games earlier in the second quarter.

In the fourth quarter, Westfield’s Tim Beard would run for his final touchdown of the game to go along with his 20 carries and 140 yards rushing. Washington-Lee’s Espinoza would also rush for his second touchdown of the game. Henry Casey’s touchdown with just under a minute to go in the game for Washington-Lee provided the final score of 44-20. Washington-Lee concluded their season at 5-6.

Chantilly Upsets Madison in Football Playoffs

The Concorde District/Conference 5 annually produces some of the top high school football teams in Northern Virginia. On Nov. 13, a battle-tested Chantilly team from Conference 5 entered the postseason as an underdog from a seeding standpoint, but the Chargers possessed the confidence to pull off the biggest upset of the opening round of the 6A North region playoffs.

No. 13-seed Chantilly defeated No. 4 Madison 27-19 on Friday night in Vienna. The Chargers trailed by 12 points in the second half but came back to secure a spot in the quarterfinals. Chantilly will travel to face Conference 5 foe Robinson at 7 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 20.

Chantilly entered the postseason with a 5-5 record, including 2-3 in the conference, and on a three-game losing streak. Meanwhile, Madison, the Conference 6 champion, was 9-1 and riding a nine-game win streak.

Records didn’t matter as Chantilly pulled out the victory.

“Playing in our Concorde District, we get used to playing really good teams, like a Madison, so I think the kids were confident we could come in and compete,” Chantilly head coach Mike Lalli said. “We didn’t focus on us being a 13 seed and them being a 4 seed.”

Chantilly quarterback David Tammaro, a first-team all-conference selection, threw three touchdown passes against the Warhawks. Koren Sparks, Garrett Sneeden and Trevor Montgomery each had a touchdown reception for the Chargers.

“I’m really pleased with my players’ [effort],” Lalli said. “When you go 5-5 and you lose the last three, you can just decide to cash it in and not really try, but they came out ready to compete in the playoffs.”

Next up for Chantilly is a road game against Robinson. The Rams defeated the Chargers 24-14 on Oct. 1.

Lalli said the regular-season meeting with Robinson should help his players “understand how big and physical [Robinson’s] running backs are and how aggressive they are on the defensive side. At least we won’t be surprised.”

Sixth at Girls’ State Meet

Westfield senior Sara Freix placed fifth at the 6A girls’ state cross country meet on Nov. 13 at Great Meadow, finishing with a time of 18:56.

Lake Braddock junior Kate Murphy won the title with a time of 18:20. The Bruins won the team championship with a score of 44, followed by Oakton (76) and Madison (89).

Sixth at Boys’ State Meet

Chantilly junior Brandon McGorty (194) placed sixth at the 6A boys’ state cross country meet on Nov. 13 at Great Meadow. McGorty finished with a time of 16:13. Cox senior Jonathan Lomogda’s time of 15:34 was good for first place. Lake Braddock won the team championship with a score of 46, followed by Madison (106) and Cosby (127).
Crafting Perfect Admissions Essays
Local educators offer advice on how to write effective independent school admissions essays.

By Marilyn Campbell
The Connection

Ginger Wilner spent almost every morning last month hovering over her MacBook Pro, at a window seat in Starbucks, scouring a series of essays. She was looking for fatal mistakes. Errors ranging from comma splices to illogical arguments could torpedo weeks of late-night spent in front of a computer. The words weren’t hers, though. They were those of her 13-year-old daughter, who is in the midst of applying for a slot at one of the Washington-region’s independent schools.

“I haven’t spent that much time proofreading since I was in college,” said Wilner, an Arlington mother of two. “She’s a good writer and put a lot of effort into these essays. But that’s probably true of the other type-A students who are applying to these schools, too.”

That’s right: “Tis the season for independent school admissions. Families are scrambling to meet the application deadlines for local private schools. In addition to schools’ deadlines, applicant interviews and standardized tests, many independent schools require prospective students to demonstrate their writing and critical thinking abilities in the form of an essay.

“It … gives the applicant another opportunity, beyond the interview, to share more about their passions, interests, character and creativity,” said Lisa Knight, director of admission and financial aid at Flint Hill School in Oakton. The essay is a chance for the applicant to give the admissions committee a glimpse of the qualities that distinguish them from hundreds or even thousands of other students who seek one of a handful of slots at a school.

“We hope that the students will reveal something about themselves,” said Clare M. Dame, director of enrollment management at Randolph-Macon Academy in Front Royal. “We want to get to know them and what motivates them. Hopefully some of their personalities will come through as they write about their goals or how they would fit into it.”

Applicants should use specific examples that show they understand the school’s culture and environment and how they would fit into it. “We’re looking at how they want to come to Randolph-Macon Academy, they need to be able to talk about the school itself so that we understand that it is an essay written specific to our programs, and not just a generic essay generated for all the schools that they might be considering,” said Dame.

Admissions officers can spot essays for which applicants have received an abundance of help. Such assistance can become particularly apparent when a student’s application includes a writing sample from a standardized test, such as the Secondary School Admission Test (SSAT), which requires students to organize and write essays in a limited amount of time without help.

“We really value the essay from the SSAT because you’re seeing their thought process and how they express themselves in a first draft,” said Terri Collins, director of admissions, Oakcrest School in McLean.

Applicants should not eschew all assistance, however. In fact, school officials encourage applicants to get help proofreading their essays. Many families actually seek guidance from an independent educational consultant.

“We follow a strict code of ethics, so we don’t help them write the essays or help them pretend to be someone else,” said Leigh Ann Cahill of Independent School Options, an educational consulting firm in Alexandria. “But we show them how to present their best selves.”

One of the greatest challenges – for me – in having cancer, is trying to live a "normal" life. And by "normal" I mean: emotionally. Obviously, having chemotherapy every three weeks – with its week-long side effects, diagnostic scans every three months – with its associated anxiety waiting for results, regular lab work, every appointment with my oncologist, the change in diet, the pills, the non-Western alternatives that I have been embraced into routines, the many well-meaning (and much appreciated) inquiries about my health/status, the occasional bout of nausea, the physical damage doesn't need to be taken into account. Actually, they go hand in glove. For me to not be who I want to be; and whenever I find myself crossing that line of caring about myself at the expense of caring about others, I worry that I have allowed the cancer to do more than just invade my body, that now I’ve allowed it to invade my mind. Somehow, I have to remain true to myself in order to keep the cancer from doing what cancer so often does. I need to maintain my sense of humor and sunny disposition; I need to look more to the future and less to the past – too much, anyhow; I need to look more to the future and less to the past – too much, anyhow; I need to be stimulated by external goings on, not internal comings and goings.
