Dominion Reminds Customers to be Aware of Utility Scams

Last year, scammers contacted nearly 2,800 Dominion Virginia Power customers, demanding fraudulent payments totaling more than $1.2 million. Hundreds of customers fell victim, paying nearly $200,000 in response to threats of immediate disconnection of electric service.

"While we are working in concert with law enforcement to identify, track and stop these scams, it's important for customers to recognize the red flags," said Marc Gaudette, director-Corporate Security, Safety & Health. "Unfortunately, the scammers frequently target the elderly, non-English-speaking communities and businesses during their busy times and use caller ID spoofing software so a customer thinks Dominion is calling."

"There are two clear signs that there's a scammer on the other end of that phone call that you can easily spot," said Becky Merritt, vice president, Customer Service. "First, we would never threaten a customer, even if their account is past due. Second, we would never insist on one specific, immediate form of payment—there are a number of options available to customers, including in-person at a verified payment location, secure payment through their online account, or our third-party payment processing vendor."

Customers are reminded to do the following:

- % Ask questions and verify what you are hearing by checking your online account or hanging up and then calling us at 866-DOM-HELP. If an account is overdue, we provide multiple communications in writing and offers a payment plan before disconnection occurs.

- % Remember that we do not require payment over the phone and never demand immediate payment of cash, PayPal, any prepaid debit card such as 'MoneyPak/Green Dot', or any gift card to avoid disconnection. Payment by phone is available through BillMatrix at 1-800-573-1147. (Note: customers will never be contacted directly by BillMatrix requiring payment.)

- % Collect information from the scammer including the caller's name, any phone numbers or other details before hanging up and reporting to local law enforcement.

A Dec. 13 presentation from Ad Hoc Police Practices Review Commission, Recruitment, Diversity and Vetting subcommittee chair Shirley Ginwright (right), marked the last subcommittee to be heard by the supervisors.

Ad Hoc Commission Recommendations: 88 Percent Implemented

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors is well on its way to implementing all recommendations from the Ad Hoc Police Practices Review Commission. At the Dec. 13 meeting of the board's Public Safety Committee, they announced 88 percent of the commission recommendations have been implemented or are soon to be so.

"I am proud that 178 of 202 recommendations have been approved in just over a year," Chairman Sharon Bulova said in a statement. "The Board of Supervisors, Police Department and county staff have been moving with deliberate speed to transform these recommendations into actionable policies. By launching Diversion First, establishing the Office of Police Auditor, creating a Civilian Review Panel, hiring a civilian FCPD Public Affairs Director and applying new standards regarding release of information, just to name a few, Fairfax County has made great strides toward enhancing trust in and increasing transparency of Fairfax County Government."

BULOVA LAUNCHED the commission in response to public concern and growing distrust of police over the 2013 shooting death of Springfield resident John Geer by Fairfax County Police officer Adam Torres.

Fairfax County Police and the supervisors didn't release case information for more than a year after Geer's death, even to his family. A wrongful death civil suit filed by the family and a court order finally forced the release of investigation files and Torres' name.

Torres was fired in July 2015 and indicted by a grand jury for murder in August 2015, an historic first charge of that kind for any Fairfax County officer. He pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter and was released in June of this year, after he received credit for time served for a 12-month sentence.

Status of Ad Hoc Commission Recommendations

Fairfax County released these totals, as of Dec. 12, 2016:

119 (58.9 percent) Recommendations are Implemented or Implemented as Modified

- ❖ 39 Communications
- ❖ 54 Use of Force
- ❖ 10 Diversity, Recruitment and Vetting
- ❖ 8 Mental Health and CIT
- ❖ 8 Independent Oversight and Investigations

59 (29.2 percent) Recommendations are In Progress (Recommendation accepted and in the implementation process)

- ❖ 11 Communications
- ❖ 3 Use of Force
- ❖ 4 Diversity, Recruitment and Vetting
- ❖ 13 Mental Health and CIT
- ❖ 28 Independent Oversight and Investigations

16 (7.9 percent) Recommendations are Under Review (Recommendation needs more review or approval by the Board of Supervisors before the implementation process can begin)

- ❖ 1 Communications
- ❖ 7 Use of Force
- ❖ 0 Diversity, Recruitment and Vetting
- ❖ 5 Mental Health and CIT
- ❖ 3 Independent Oversight and Investigations

8 (4 percent) Recommendations are Not Implemented

- ❖ 1 Communications
- ❖ 4 Use of Force
- ❖ 0 Diversity, Recruitment and Vetting
- ❖ 0 Mental Health and CIT
- ❖ 3 Independent Oversight and Investigations

The Public Safety Committee has been reviewing the recommendations from each subcommittee of the Ad Hoc Commission over the last several months, including Use of Force, Communications, Mental Health, Recruitment, Diversity and Vetting, and Independent Investigations and Oversight.

Michael Hershman, chair of the Ad Hoc Commission, said in a statement, "I not only look back on our work as very pertinent given today's national attention on policing and community relations, but am encouraged by the seriousness with which the Board of Supervisors have addressed our many recommendations. Through a series of committee meetings and hearings focusing on our recommendations, the board has displayed a professional and bipartisan effort to make a very good police department into a model for the rest of the country."

A presentation from Recruitment, Diversity and Vetting subcommittee chair Shirley Ginwright, president of the Fairfax County chapter of the NAACP, on Tuesday, Dec. 13, marked the last subcommittee to be heard by the supervisors.

"What I have seen is community members, leaders and police department working together."

— Shirley Ginwright

"In some fashion we've touched each one of them," said Public Safety committee chair supervisor John Cook (R-Braddock).

Ginwright gave brief updates on the status of the subcommittee's 14 recommendations with Fairfax County Police.

"I have to thank them for doing the most critical pieces of our recommendations first," Ginwright said.

Among those implemented are "collaborate and build recruitment-oriented partnerships" (number 5) and "establish a diversity goal for each commander" (number 10).

Less than half of that subcommittee's recommendations are still in progress, said Ginwright.

"We realize there is more that needs to be done, but we started," Ginwright said in a statement. "I applaud the Board of Supervisors for establishing the Ad Hoc Commission, listening to and understanding the cries of the community for changes, and taking some hard hits to get it done. What I have seen is community members, leaders and police department working together."

Cook acknowledged that a number of the Ad Hoc commission's recommendations were directed towards the Sheriff's Office and Commonwealth's Attorney, who don't report directly to the Board of Supervisors.

But, Cook said, the board is reaching out to them regarding those recommendations and inviting them to present and field questions related to the recommendations at the Public Safety Committee Meeting in March, 2017.

Among those recommendations still under review, a number relate to body cameras.

CHIEF EDWIN ROESSLER said the cost for cameras has been coming down as the number of vendors in the market increases.

Roessler cautioned the board to learn from the mistakes of other jurisdictions around the United States that have hastily implemented body camera programs without properly budgeting or planning to manage them.

Cook said the Jan. 31, 2017 Public Safety Committee meeting has already been reserved for a deeper discussion of body cameras.

A progress report of where different recommendations from the Ad Hoc Commission are in the process of implementation is available online at www.fairfaxcounty.gov/policecommission/progressreport.htm. A copy of the commission's final report to the board of supervisors is available at www.fairfaxcounty.gov/chairman/pdf/adhoc-final-10.8.15.pdf.

Nonprofit Koinonia holds holiday shopping program for clients

When Koinonia volunteer Ann Hopke sent a Nativity scene home with someone with out the cows, she had no idea they were really meant for someone else.

Many people and their children have problems others would never know about, a Koinonia client who preferred to stay anonymous said while shopping at the annual Christmas Wishes program held this year at Franconia United Methodist Church.

People don't know what's going on in a family just by seeing the outside, the client said. And the cows mean something, they have a special value to her and her daughter.

The Koinonia Foundation is a non-profit based just behind the church that has been providing emergency relief services to people living in Lee District for the last 50 years. Those services include a food pantry, clothing closet, Hopper's bike program and Christmas Wishes, where clients make an appointment to shop for donated toys, clothing, games, gift cards and other stocking stuffers for their families for the holidays.

This year, Christmas Wishes was held on Dec. 12 and 13. The client with the cows shopped on the second day. She said her family recently lost everything, that they were forced to move suddenly, and shopping for meaningful Christmas presents wasn't going to be an option without Koinonia.

Coming to Franconia United Methodist Church for Christmas Wishes was relaxing, she said.

Koinonia Executive director Robert Petitti said Christmas Wishes will serve about 75 families and 12 senior citizens in 2016.

“It's heartwarming,” said the client, “it means a lot to us. My daughter wouldn't have Christmas, and now she has something to brighten her day.”

After sharing her story, the client hugged Ann Hopke tightly. Hopke has been volunteering and coordinating Christmas Wishes for the last decade. She said the hugs, tears and thank-yous are plentiful.

“It's incredibly heart-warming and incredibly rewarding,” Hopke said.

Hopke's friend Dawn Garrett of Alexandria city has been helping out at Christmas Wishes and in August began working in Koinonia's clothing closet one day a week.

“You don't realize how much it impacts someone's life,” Garrett said of the volunteering. “It's definitely a gift of giving of yourself, it's nice to know you're part of something making a difference.”

Julie Knight of Franconia has been a Koinonia volunteer in the clothing closet since 1994. She said the setup, running and tear-down of the two-day Christmas Wishes program is “intense” but one of her favorite things to do all year.

“It's such a joyful thing, a joyful experience to work with the clients and the other volunteers,” Knight said.

Koinonia Executive director Robert Petitti said Christmas Wishes will serve about 75 families and 12 senior citizens in 2016.

“The best thing you can do, is give,” Petitti said, decked out for the season in a Kris Kringle-red blazer and matching Santa hat. “The chance to bring a smile to children's faces on Christmas morning — you see how happy the volunteers are, to help someone, that's true human emotion.”

The Koinonia Foundation office is located at 6037 Franconia Road. Donations can be dropped off during business hours: Monday-Friday 9 a.m. - 12:30 p.m., Thursday until 5 p.m., and every second Saturday 9 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. For more information visit www.koinoniacares.org.

History in Police Reform Part 2

Civilian Review Panel — and they said it couldn't be done

Last week, the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors voted to establish a Civilian Review Panel, part of a two-pronged concept of independent oversight of law enforcement recommended unanimously by the Ad Hoc Police Practices Review Commission.

On Sept. 20, 2016, the board voted to establish the Office of the Independent Auditor, the other piece of oversight. The two branches of oversight would not overlap.

The Independent Police Auditor will report directly to the Board of Supervisors and provide oversight in cases of police use of force that lead to serious injury or death, including officer-involved shootings. The Civilian Review Panel will respond to community concerns or complaints about alleged incidents of abuse of authority by FCPD by reviewing the investigations conducted by the department.

The vote by the Board of Supervisors for the Office of Auditor was unanimous, and for the Civilian Review Panel, 9-1, indicating the strong commitment to independent oversight and the recommendations of the Ad Hoc Commission. The experiences from other communities with civilian oversight have shown that strong, independent oversight builds legitimacy and public trust through increased police transparency and accountability to the public served. Oversight provides a meaningful voice or forum for the public and forms a crucial bridge between the public and the police. Increased transparency, trust, and communication between the police and the public can lead to greater community cooperation in achieving the ultimate goal of decreased crime and increased public safety.

This very positive outcome seemed nearly impossible in the wake of the death of John Geer in August 2013, shot by then Fairfax Police Officer Adam Torres while standing unarmed in the doorway to his own home. Officials had long opposed consideration of a Civilian Review Panel.

Board of Supervisor Chairman Sharon Bulova deserves tremendous kudos, first for establishing the Ad Hoc Commission in the wake of public outrage over the shooting and the blackout of information that followed, and then for her unwavering support of the recommendations that emerged.

EDITORIAL

In voting for the Civilian Review Panel, Supervisor Linda Smyth said: "We all know it's time to put this in place. This is what the public has really asked us to do."

John Cook (R-Braddock), chairman of the Public Safety Committee, has been relentless in moving the recommendations forward for discussion and approval by the board. Having both the auditor and the panel approved in 2016 is no small accomplishment.

The recommendations for oversight also have the enthusiastic support of Police Chief Edwin Roessler, whose support overall for change in the FCPD has been admirable and essential.

Every member of the Board of Supervisors deserves credit for engaging on the details and supporting recommendations of the commission.

Other changes brought about by the Ad Hoc Commission's recommendations include the implementation of Diversion First, which provides treatment rather than jail for nonviolent people with mental illness, resulting in some 350 diversions from potential criminal arrest, and in police transporting more than 1,000 tose, and subsequently died on Feb. 8, 2015. Commonwealth Attorney Ray Morrogh declined to press any charges against the deputies, and Kincaid kept them on staff. And so McKenna's family has not seen any justice for the death of their daughter and mother.

On Aug. 15, 2016, one of the same sheriff's deputies, Patrick McPartlin, also shot and killed Jovany Martinez, a 29-year-old Latino man, outside of the Inova Fairfax Hospital where he had just been released. Again, no charges have been filed.

Various initiatives claim to improve Fairfax policing and incarceration practices, including Diversion First and the Civilian Review Board. However, neither of these initiatives makes real substantive change. The Diversion First program is underfunded, understaffed, and only available at the discretion of the police, rather than based on any neutral assessment process. This is despite the fact that Police Chief Ed Roessler admits that "The majority of our use-of-force incidents are with those suffering mental health crisis". The Civilian Review Board has no power to investigate, ask direct quespeople in mental health crisis to the Merrifield Center for treatment; an emphasis on de-escalation and on crisis intervention training; the revamping of the order of officer training to emphasize the role of policing in a democracy and the sanctity of life ahead of firearms training; and the significant amendment of General Order 540 on the use of force. The FCPD has been a leading force in these changes, and its leadership has played a pivotal role in seeking out and implementing best practices.

There are still miles to go, but evidence is that county and police leadership are prepared to traverse those miles.

— MARY KIMM

SoberRide Safety Net for Holiday Celebrations

The annual Holiday SoberRide program, offering free rides home to locals over 21 who have been celebrating with alcohol, will operate between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. each evening between Friday, Dec. 16, 2016 and Sunday, Jan. 1, 2017 as a way to keep local roads safe from impaired drivers during this traditionally high-risk, holiday period. SoberRide is organized by the nonprofit Washington Regional Alcohol Project. Area residents celebrating with alcohol may call the toll-free SoberRide phone number 1-800-200-TAXI for a no-cost (up to $ 30 fare), safe way home. tions, or engage in any disciplinary process, but rather can only make recommendations to the Chief of Police, who may then chose to respond or ignore those recommendations.

Given the toothless responses to the deaths of Natasha McKenna and Jovany Martinez, and the positive spin in Fairfax County's series, it's difficult to avoid the conclusion that this propaganda is meant to distract the public of Fairfax county from the real and dangerous problems facing people of color and people with mental illnesses in our policing system.

(<http://www.connectionnewspapers.com/news/2016/feb/16/diversion-first-program-launched/>) and the Washington Post reports that "more than 40 percent of of use-of-force cases [by Fairfax County Police] involved African Americans, who make up only 8 percent of the county's population."

Until the county and the sheriff's office focus on people rather than PR, we will see more of these tragic encounters with law enforcement.

Honoring a Good Life in Burke, Virginia

To the Editor:

On Saturday, Dec. 17, the Nativity Church of Burke will be honoring Pacita Aguas (1925-2016) with a celebration of the Philippine Christmas tradition of “Simbang Gabi” (also known as “Misa De Gallo” or “Rooster’s Mass”). “Simbang Gabi” involves early morning masses in the Philippines during the nine days before Christmas.

In November 2014, Pacita Aguas was featured in the Connection newspaper because she was very active since 2007 in the petition to acquire a permanent facility for the Burke/West Springfield Senior Center Without Walls (BWSSCWoW).

For almost ten years, Pacita Aguas was active in trying to find a solution to the problem of Springfield District – as the only district – without a permanent senior center in Fairfax County. Sadly, Pacita passed on ahead of us without seeing the achievement of the dream that she and many senior residents in the Springfield District have been pursuing.

Strengthened by Pacita Aguas’ good works and determination, we BWSSCWoW seniors continue our crusade and we thank Chairman Sharon Bulova who pledged to support our petition during our Nov. 21, 2015 demonstration at the Fairfax County Government Center. We are now working on getting fair payment for churches/community centers – similar to the $37 per hour charged by Fairfax County public schools. For the longer term, we are working to build a coalition for the FY2020 Bond Referendum for the Springfield Community Center in South Run Park – proposed on April 13, 2016 by Chairman Sharon Bulova.

The Filipino American community of Nativity Church invites the public to join us on Dec. 17 in praying for the repose of the soul of Pacita Aguas – and celebrating a good life that has been dedicated for many years to the improvement of the lives of others, particularly her fellow seniors, in our community of Burke and West Springfield. Like Pope Francis, Pacita and many BWSSCWoW members believe that our community should “Take Care of the Elderly...where there is no honor for the elderly, there will be future for the young.”

And the Nativity Church “Simbang Gabi” is an affirmation that the good that Pacita Aguas did for our community, particularly for her fellow seniors, should not be interred with her bones.

The changes increased natural light. A south-facing trapezoidal-shaped window in the dining room provides a hilltop view of the neighborhood.

Steve and Louise Brooks of Arlington wanted a primary living area that would serve a multitude of purposes, including a place for frequent gatherings of friends and family. A new space plan introduced by Sun Design Remodeling proved out in a holiday fete for 50 guests held this past Saturday.

Open Floorplan Eases Entertaining

Open house helps homeowners looking for ideas.

BY JOHN BYRD

It's one thing to talk a good game; quite another to put your ideas to the test by inviting a long list of perceptive critics to inspect your wares.

"We like to see how well our plans work first hand whenever we can," Bob Gallagher said, as he describes a holiday tour his home remodeling firm held at one of this client's homes last Saturday.

"Our designers spend a lot of time conferring with clients on specific needs and learning from case histories — but what really counts is seeing your plan in action. A holiday tour is a test drive, but it's also a chance to explore ideas, brainstorm on breaking trends — and just enjoy being around people who are enjoying what we create."

Case in point, the Arlington home of Steve and Louise Brooks.

Two years ago, the Brooks hired Sun Design to convert the primary living area of their raised rambler into space that would serve a multitude of purposes, including a place for frequent gatherings of friends and family.

Last weekend, the remodeler hosted an open house for anyone who wanted to see how their freshly-minted new space plan would perform under real life home entertainment conditions.

There were about 50 visitors in all. Standing in one corner, one could see fluidly organic pockets of revelers — but all flows smoothly, a far cry from the past.

In the past, one's guests were usually in another room.

The original small kitchen with its adjacent living room and dining room actually felt crowded whenever the head-count exceeded six or seven.

The eight-foot ceiling and small-scale windows didn't help either; ditto, the "builder grade" interior finishes and restricted space-use options.

"We're a host site for our church, so we wanted a place that would allow us to comfortably meet with friends," said Louise Brooks. "We just weren't at all sure how to make that happen within our existing floor plan."

Fortunately, Gallagher and team knew the way. In fact, Gallagher notes that there's been something of a revolution in how homeowners are now configuring living space: Emergent interior design styles now allow for well-articulated activity zones integrated into a visually distinctive spatial continuum. "The end result feels generously-sized, yet unified."

To effect the changes Brooks sought, Sun

Design concentrated on strategic improvements inside the envelope of the existing structure: a nearly 800-square-foot great room was formed by eliminating walls separating the kitchen, dining room, living room and foyer; to create the 14-foot cathedral ceiling, the new interior incorporated a seldom-used attic.

A granite-surfaced food preparation island and dining counter now facilitates the easy circulation needed for entertaining; the "built-in" was custom-designed to support a wide-range of storage, cooking and clean-up requirements.

The plan also increased natural light. A south-facing trapezoidal-shaped window provides a hilltop view of the neighborhood. Distinctive finish work details delineate key activity zones within a warmly cohesive ambiance that features sight-lines in all directions.

Meanwhile, back at the tour, Bob

The new makeover features well-defined appreciably private activity zones within a warm ambiance that affords sight-lines in all directions.

Gallagher is talking to a drop-in guest about how the new space is used on an everyday basis.

"It works extremely well," he said. "The open plan allows people to happily pursue different tasks within the same continuum without loss of personal space. You have privacy, but you're in eye-contact. It's a very popular trend."

Gallagher also stresses the value of an open house to homeowners looking for ideas.

"We've been doing tours of newly remodeled homes for about 10 years," he said. "We've found that the open houses often become neighborhood meet-up opportunities where people naturally start exploring matters of mutual interest."

Sun Design Remodeling frequently sponsors tours of recently remodeled homes as well as workshops on home remodeling topics. Headquartered in Burke, the firm recently has a second office in McLean. For information, call 703-425-5588 or visit www.SunDesignInc.com.

Police Chief's Cruiser Hit by Drunken Driver

BY FALLON FORBUSH
THE CONNECTION

Fairfax County Police Department Chief Col. Edwin Roessler Jr. was rear-ended by a drunken driver in Centreville on Monday night, Dec. 12.

Roessler experienced minor injuries and was taken to Inova Fair Oaks Hospital for evaluation and treatment. He was released later in the night and was back to work the following morning.

A 40-year-old Centreville woman, who was driving the Nissan SUV that struck Roessler's unmarked police cruiser, a 2017 Ford Explorer, was arrested at the scene. A passenger in her SUV, a 48-year-old man, was released at the scene of the accident.

The driver was taken to the Fairfax County Adult Detention Center in Fairfax where she was charged with a DWI. She was released the following morning on Tuesday, Dec. 13.

Roessler was driving southbound on Lee Highway around 8:40 p.m. when he stopped for a red light at the intersection of Stone Road when he was struck.

While he was waiting for the traffic light to turn green, he was thinking about getting home to eat dinner and later going to pick up one of his children from the airport who was flying home for the holidays,

FCPD Chief Col. Edwin Roessler Jr. spoke about the accident at a press conference the following afternoon at the Fairfax County Government Center in Fairfax on Tuesday, Dec. 13. He had strong words for drivers: "Drinking and driving don't mix ... Spend a little money and plan. Take a taxi. Don't get behind a wheel. You're going to kill someone."

Roessler said at a press conference the following afternoon.

"It was a very long day ... That's all I was thinking about and the next thing I know, I'm being jolted real hard," he said. "It took me a few seconds to realize that I was just rear-ended at full speed while I was stopped in traffic waiting for the light."

He immediately approached the SUV to see if the driver and her passenger were OK.

"I went and checked on them and asked them if they were injured," he said. "They said, 'No.'"

He then reported the crash to dispatchers.

It was then that he started experiencing a headache and pain in his back and legs. He told reporters that he had replacement surgery on his left hip on Aug. 30 and was afraid that he was experiencing complications.

"I was kind of in shock," he said. "I didn't feel anything and as I sat [in the cruiser] ... I started getting a headache, and my back started tightening and my legs started cramping."

Though he feels "very sore," he thanked God that he was OK. "The X-rays were good, CAT scan's good ... just glad for my health."

He said that it could have been a different story had he not worn his seatbelt.

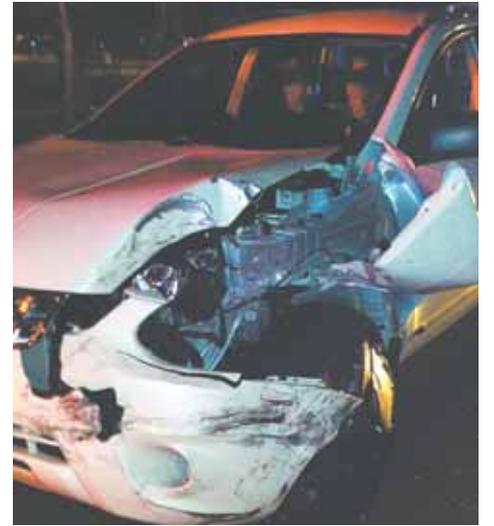

"If I wasn't buckled in, I don't think I would be here," he said.

He had serious words for drivers, especially during the holidays when there are parties and festivities going on.

"Drinking and driving don't mix ... Spend a little money and plan," he said. "Take a taxi. Don't get behind a wheel. You're going to kill someone."

FCPD Chief Col. Edwin Roessler Junior's unmarked police cruiser, a 2017 Ford Explorer, was rear-ended.

According to police, a Centreville woman's Nissan SUV struck Roessler while he was stopped at a red light at the intersection of Lee Highway and Stone Road in Centreville.

Swim Teams Make Toys for Tots Splash

The South County and West Springfield High School varsity Swim & Dive teams donated gifts for the South Run RECenter Toys for Tots campaign prior to their meet against each other on Dec. 10.

RECenter Fitness Coordinator Laurie Strickland said she came in the morning of Dec. 12 to see the toy drive bins overflowing, with toys stacked on the floor and under the nearby table.

Strickland estimated between 500 and 550 toys were collected as part of the drive, which began Nov. 21.

"I'm very happy [about the drive]," she said, adding that the total was an improvement over last year. South County head coach Tom Verdin said there was definitely more participation from his squad over 2015.

Bailey said that 550 new coats were also given out to children in need. "In addition to the toys and coats, we gave out over 100 new bikes and 400 books," he noted.

Incoming Chamber Chairman Snyder, a board member since 2013, pushed community in her message.

"In recent years, under the leadership of (former board presidents) Michael Drobnis, Bob LeMay, Kyle McDaniel and Karen Fountain, the Chamber and its board have worked to be more involved in the community as a whole," Snyder said. "From a marketing perspective, this is key to developing a large and more devoted audience for our members. From a community perspective, this offers a feel-good sense of small-town living, which is something hard to come by in Northern Virginia. The Chamber also serves as a direct line of communication to our local government leaders and a unified voice of the business community."

Snyder will be assisted in setting Chamber policy by 11 members of the board, including four others installed for three-year terms Thursday night at Embassy Suites by Hilton Springfield: Amy Jones – Honest Soul Yoga, Jason Rodriguez – Hilton Springfield, Enola Thaboun – Andrews FCU, and Jessica Walters – Embassy Suites by Hilton Springfield.
