Herndon Parks Promote ‘A Lifetime of Discovery’

Explore the town’s parks, recreation areas, programs and events.

At a recent Herndon Town Council Public Hearing, Mayor Lisa C. Merkel and councilmembers prepared to present a proclamation recognizing “National Parks and Recreation Month,” July 2018 in the Town of Herndon. Cindy Roeder, Director of Parks and Recreation, was on hand to accept it.

Reading the proclamation, Councilmember Grace Cunningham encouraged residents during the nation’s official Park and Recreation Month and throughout the year “to participate in outdoor activities; connect with nature, family and friends; and discover new ways to have fun in our community.” Continuing to read, Cunningham challenged residents “to take the opportunity to redefine how they think about parks and recreation” to uncover “A Lifetime of Discovery.”

THE REASON his year’s national theme for Parks and Recreation month is “A Lifetime of Discovery,” is stated best in the July issue of the National Recreation and Park Association. “While we celebrate all the fun and exciting programs that are offered, we also celebrate the critical role that parks and recreation plays in the communities it serves every single day. Sometimes, some of the offerings and efforts aren’t recognized — due, in part, to the fact that they are “undiscovered” by members of the community.”

Although one of the most visible operations of the town’s Parks and Recreation Department is the 56,000 square foot Herndon Community Center and many town residents appear to be familiar with at least some of the town’s eleven top quality parks operated by the department, there remains undiscovered places and events.

How many residents know about a shady wooded park in the town where deer, foxes, herons, ducks, raccoons and other animals thrive and are frequently seen drinking water from the rocky stream running through the park? Joggers and walkers use the park’s 4.1-mile trail with a 17-foot climb for exercise and to connect to the Fairfax County trail system and the Washington & Old Dominion Trail. Discover it at Runnymede Park.

People of all ages turn out in the tens of thousands to attend Parks & Recreation’s signature events. Among them are the Herndon and Labor Day Festivals, the 4th of July Celebration, as well as other activities such as Farmers Market Fun Days for young children.

But do teens know adventures such as horseback riding and tubing awaits them through Parks and Recreation? Explore it at Teen Discovery.

Parks and Recreation Department offers programs and classes year round for all ages and abilities in a multitude of areas but how can children and adults get a competitive edge in tennis, with practices focused on skill and strategy? Uncover it at Bready Park Tennis Courts in Herndon.

Herndon Parks and Recreation offers STEM fun at a Lego camp, innovative health and wellness opportunities, Kids Triathlon Conditioning and conservation efforts such as the Monarch WayStation.

After the proclamation was read, Cindy Roeder, Director of Parks and Recreation addressed the Mayor and Town Councilmembers. She thanked them for their support. “We are fortunate to have the support of a council like you, who funds our programs, supports our programs, and encourages others to be there.”

Public comment period is open through Aug. 3, 2018; Online ‘Open House’ is available.

The Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority announced it is hosting three public hearings to inform and solicit comments from the community about proposed toll rate increases along the Dulles Toll Road. These rate increases, which will be voted on by the Airports Authority Board of Directors later in 2018, would take effect in 2019 and support the construction of the Dulles Corridor Metrorail Silver Line Extension Project and improvements along the Dulles Toll Road.

The first public hearings occurred Wednesday, July 11, at Spring Hill Elementary School in McLean and Tuesday, July 17, 2018, at South Lakes High School in Reston.

The next hearing will be held Thursday, July 19, 5 -8 p.m. at Stone Bridge High School in the School Cafeteria located at 43100 Hay Road, Ashburn.

There will be informational exhibits related to the Dulles Toll Road and planned improvements that may be made, the Dulles Corridor Metrorail Silver Line Extension Project, the revenue projections associated with the proposed toll rate increases and how this addi-

The public comment period on the proposed toll rate increases will run from July 2 through Aug. 3, 2018.

An “online open house” is available at <http://www.dullestollroad.com/toll/toll-setting-process> throughout the comment period. It contains an explanation of the informational exhibits and a comment form.

Comments may also be submitted at the public hearings, on the website, via email to dtrcomments@hntb.com or mailed during the comment period to MWAA Public Comment Period, c/o HNTB, 2900 South Quincy Street, Suite 600, Arlington, VA 22206.

The Authority is inviting comments on the following topics:

Whether the proposed increase of $1.25 in the cost of a typical Dulles Toll Road trip should be allocated as proposed between the ramp and mainline toll plazas (i.e., a 50-cent increase at the ramp plazas and a 75-cent increase at the mainline plaza) or should be allocated in a different manner between the ramp and mainline plazas Whether, at a future date to be determined, the Dulles Toll Road’s toll plaza lanes that allow customers to pay in cash should be converted to “E-ZPass only” (or open road tolling), similar to newer toll facilities Whether, at a future date to be determined, credit cards should be accepted in certain Dulles Toll Road toll plaza lanes, similar to the Dulles Greenway and other toll facilities

Whether any other operational improvements should be made to the Dulles Toll Road. The Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority operates the U.S. Capital Region’s gateways to the nation and the world, Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport and Washington Dulles International Airport, as well as the Dulles Airport Access Highway, the Dulles Toll Road and construction of the Silver Line project, a 23-mile extension of the Metrorail public transit system through northern Virginia. A record 46.6 million passengers passed through the two airports in 2017.

Girls Learn about Fire and Rescue at Camp

To give girls confidence in their abilities, push them beyond their comfort zone.

Eighteen girls are attending camp Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. for the second session of the Fairfax County Fire and Rescue Department's Girls Fire and Rescue Academy. The purpose of the academy is to build the girls' confidence in their unique abilities, push them beyond their comfort zone, and to learn the value of supporting others rather than putting them down.

Monday began with team building exercises that continued all week to emphasize the importance of communication and working together. Then the girls learned how to put on firefighter personal protective equipment (PPE). They learned about the Fire Prevention Division and talked to a few of the Fire Marshals about what their job is like. In the afternoon they learned about medical skills including patient assessment, how to measure vital signs, intubation, splinting, patient moving devices, epi pens, cardiopulmonary resuscitation, and 12 lead EKGs.

Tuesday began with physical fitness training which was a combination of body weight exercises and activities firefighters perform such as raising ladders and climbing stairs. Then they changed into their PPE and learned about ladder truck operations: searching, forcible entry, and riding in the tower bucket 100 feet in the air. During lunch they were treated to a visit by Belle, one of the department's therapy dogs.

In the afternoon they learned about trauma; spinal immobilization, chest decompression, and how to stop bleeding using wound packing and tourniquets. Then they used their newly acquired skills to respond to simulated emergencies including an auto accident with a pedestrian struck. The scenarios were similar to the basic emergency medical technician (EMT-B) certification test and the girls did great.

Wednesday's physical fitness training involved partner exercises — "you go, I go." One person completes repetition of a specific exercise and then they tag their partner who does the same amount of the same exercise while the first person rests. Working together to accomplish missions in many different ways is an important part of public safety. Afterwards they learned about the use of canines in arson investigations.

Then they were back into their now familiar PPE for engine company operations; getting water from a hydrant, pulling hose lines and re-racking them for deployment, and flowing water.

They put these skills together and worked in small groups to extinguish car fires using a propane car fire simulator. After learning about master streams, which of course involved getting wet on a hot afternoon day, the girls came inside to learn how to tie knots with rope and webbing, mechanical advantages with pulley systems, and extrication tools.

Thursday the girls went to the department's Wellness and Fitness Center to learn the importance of fitness and proper body mechanics. The girls watched Technician Black complete the work performance evaluation that is required for all Fairfax County firefighters on an annual basis. Then they participated in the Candidate Physical Abilities Test which is one step in the process to become a firefighter.

Later, they worked with Virginia Task Force One, one of only two internationally certified Urban Search and Rescue Departments in the United States. They learned about various search techniques using cameras, listening devices and canines.

Friday they visited the police helicopter unit to learn how they assist on medical calls as well as their police function. They also heard from the Explorers (the county volunteer fire and rescue program for high schoolers), the high school cadet program, and representatives from the Volunteer fire stations.

The afternoon involved hazardous materials training including working in hazmat suits and using meters. Graduation was in the evening with the families and station personnel to celebrate their accomplishments.

We appreciate all the support and donations we have received from the Fairfax County Fire and Rescue Department members and leadership, Centreville Volunteer Fire Department, Dunn Loring Volunteer Fire and Rescue Department, Franconia Volunteer Fire Department, Greater Springfield Fire Department, McLean Volunteer Fire Department, Fairfax County Volunteer Fire and Rescue Association, Battalion 7, B & B Associates, FireVMS.com, Chic-fil-A, and Mission BBQ.

Not only was the audience impressed by the students' talent and level of maturity, but the message they were sending became very clear: something needs to change. Many adults in the audience were moved to tears, as they realized that they let their children down, lacking in protecting them from the all too familiar dangers of gun violence. While the general public has become desensitized by news reports from the adult's point of view, hearing words of immense fear and frustration come from the mouths of young students as they expressed themselves truly hit

In the aftermath of the recent school shootings, high school students across the nation have found themselves paralyzed with fear, hoping for a break in the cycle of violence. Following the March for Our Lives rally in the nation's capital, Vienna students were inspired to raise awareness for the issue in their local community. 'A Great Friend and Leader'

To the Editor:

My family and I have lived here in Northern Virginia since 2001. We moved from California, and love the Virginia area, the schools, which have been excellent for our two boys, and the wonderful community of people here.

This is home.

Now a "senior citizen," at age 61, I value home, safety, leadership and the economy in a different way, and I see Congresswoman Barbara Comstock as the leader necessary to continue these priorities throughout Northern Virginia.

Congresswoman Comstock is a caretaker of the budget, is active on the jobs front locally, which is so vital for the benefit of young people, and is a supporter of laws to defend our community against crime and gang violence.

These challenges are exacerbated by our region, and Congresswoman Comstock never ignores our needs, despite the obstacles.

I urge you to check out Congresswoman Comstock's "report card" in areas important to you and you'll find, as I have, Congresswoman Comstock is our future and a great friend and leader for us in Northern Virginia.

I'll be voting again for Congresswoman Comstock, to continue her priorities, policies and strong leadership, which are steps in the right direction.

home. Along with 71 others, Del. Kathleen Murphy (D-34) attended the event, and she spoke briefly about what she believes needs to be done to prevent the repetitive, tragic headlines. She commended the younger generation for their dedication to the cause and recognized how instrumental they are in creating a better future for our nation.

The powerful words of the students made an impact on the audience, and the students are proud to say they raised $750 for Everytown for Gun Safety. The students believe, more importantly than the money they raised, the biggest concept they hope the audience and other observers will take away is that all one needs to make a difference is ambition and dedication. While most nights the news may leave viewers feeling helpless, it is necessary to remember that every single person has the power to change the world, if only they believe they can.

Local Boy Scout seeks individual and corporate volunteers to help out in the community as part of his Eagle Scout Project.

BY MERCIA HOBSON
THE CONNECTION

A local teen is out to earn his final and highest rank in Boy Scouts, that of an Eagle Scout. It has not been a trail for the timid. It's taken the Scout years to advance by tests through the seven required progressive ranks of Scout, each rank broke down into increments teaching skills such as self-reliance, physical fitness, citizenship, personal growth responsibility and leadership.

After planning, organizing, leading and managing his extensive Eagle Scout Project, which will benefit the community for an extended period, he is nearing its culmination. If his final efforts are deemed successful, if he can secure the volunteers needed to put the plan in action, the Scout will join only 4 percent of scout enrollment since 1912 who attain the rank of Eagle Scout and he will consider it one of his most treasured accomplishments.

JOHN FOONG, 16, of Oak Hill is a member of Troop # 159 at St. Timothy's Episcopal Church in the Town of Herndon, Powhatan District, National Capital Area Council Boy Scouts of America. On Saturday, July 14, Foong stood in front of his Eagle Scout display at the Reston Farmers Market, 1609 Washington Plaza North. He was on a two-fold mission to accomplish his goal.

Mission One: Foong needed to educate the public about his project, the eradication of the non-native invasive plant Japanese stiltgrass at given locations at Frying Pan Farm Park, Fairfax County Park Authority, located at 2709 West Ox Road in Herndon. As families and individuals came up to his table, Foong told them about the annual summer grass that makes for such a terrible neighborhood. Not only is Japanese stiltgrass spreading at Frying Pan Park and is an environmental threat to native plant species at the park, if left unmanaged it replaces other vegetation by shading them out, Foong also explained.

It is threatening the native understory vegetation at the park, home to wildlife such as deer, raccoons, rabbits, woodchucks and many other animals. Japanese stiltgrass has very little wildlife food value; foraging animals avoid it and instead eat native plants further reducing native vegetation and habitat. As Foong stood in front of his educational table filled with pamphlets, Legos and a stuffed Scout bear to entice children, not only did he share these facts with the public about his community-based project but asked them to spread the word to their friends and neighbors.

Mission Two: Foong needed to secure a workforce to fulfill his Eagle Scout Project. He urged people of all ages to sign up as volunteers to help remove the invasive species. He emphasized the commitment could be a one-time event, about an hour and a half on given days in August. He shared if the volunteers were students, they could earn service hours.

In his prepared "elevator speech," Foong said, "I have cleanups set for August, but I need enough volunteers to make sure they (the cleanups) are effective.

There's a New Foundation in Town

The Barbera Foundation: 'Helping You, Helping Others.'

BY MERCIA HOBSON
THE CONNECTION

Nonprofit corporations are generally formed to fulfill a need not answered in the community. The Barbera Foundation is a new nonprofit corporation founded in Reston, September 2017, by CEO and Founder Kevin Barbera. The foundation serves the local area including Herndon, Vienna, McLean, and beyond by connecting like-minded individuals who want to get involved in service opportunities in the community. The volunteer service events featured on the foundation's website generally are one time events lasting a couple of hours or less.

The goal of the organization said Barbera is to tap into the volunteer demand and coordinate activities. It is not about raising money, he emphasized but trying to inspire people and connect them with opportunities to get involved. The organization's mission is to inspire others by actively engaging and giving back to their communities.

The foundation partners with charitable organizations such as shelters, veterans groups and businesses, which host philanthropic events.

"It's been working well this way," Barbera said. Events are fun and social; they uplift people as they cook meals at a homeless shelter, assist disabled veterans or, as volunteers did Saturday, July 14, hand out flowers to residents of a retirement home in Reston.

The organization tries to organize a variety of events to unite people from all lifestyles as they give back to their local community.

"Helping others is truly a rewarding experience that has helped me live a more fulfilling, purpose-driven, and optimistic life," Barbera says on the foundation website.

Upcoming events include service during "National Night Out" on Aug. 7, 4 - 9 p.m. Volunteers can sign up to support the elderly community at a local retirement home and first responders if they volunteer for one or more of three shifts that evening. Volunteers can choose to assist with setup, dinner service and games, or clean up.

If in the next few weeks, a volunteer would rather help out by purchasing certain items than giving time, there is the "Back to School: School Supply Drive." Volunteers can help an underprivileged child by purchasing new school supplies from a given list and delivering them to a drop-off location in Reston. The donation can be used as class payment to "Fitness and Philanthropy" held at Reston Town Center.

Best for Family Road Trips

Top audiobook picks for long drives with children.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL

With summer comes roadtrips. In fact, a study by New York University's School of Professional studies showed that 63 percent of American families will take a vacation by car this summer. Long stretches of interstate and backseat time call for loading up on audio books before hitting the road. "Audio books are great for long car rides and they're much better than video games," said Barbara Marshall, department chair for Education and Social Sciences at Montgomery College. "They don't take the place of actually reading a book, but there is a time and place for them.

One of those times, says Marshall, is long drives without scenic views. She and others who are familiar with children's literature suggest some of the best books for family vacations by car.

"Ghost" by Jason Reynolds and narrated by Guy Lockard is a recommendation by Jennifer Rothschild, Youth Services Collection Development Librarian for Arlington Public Libraries. This 3.5 hour audio books is about a gifted runner named Ghost who has a chance to run for a prestigious middle school track team, but is challenged to stay on track both literally and figuratively in order to reach his full potential.

Fantasy buffs might appreciate "Dealing with Dragons" by Patricia C. Wrede, while fans of dystopian novels might enjoy "Leviathan," written by Scott Westerfeld and narrated by Alan Cumming, suggests Rothschild.

Set in an alternate version of WWI, Leviathan is the first in a trilogy. Primary characters include Prince Aleksander, the would-be heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and Deryn, a girl who disguises herself as a boy to serve in the British Air Service. The story takes off when the two cross paths.

History lovers might appreciate another Rothschild pick: "Notorious Benedict Arnold" which was written by Steve Sheinkin and narrated by Mark Bramhall. Running at 6.5 hours, this is a true story about an American war hero who loses his career and freedom for greater recognition.

Music lovers might enjoy "Solo" by Kwame Alexander, says Yunna Iqbal of Scrawl Books in Reston. The audio version of the New York Times best selling book by the same name, tells the tale of Blade, the son of a former rock star with a drug addiction. Intertwined with songs, the story follows Blade as he tries to escape his family's fame and fortune.

"Each chapter has a specific song and story follows and that makes it good for both young kids and older kids," said Iqbal.

"Artemis Fowl" by Eoin Colfer, narrated by Nathaniel Parker could appeal to thrill-seekers. The main character, a 12-year-old named Artemis Fowl is the heir to a crime family who appears to be unusually skilled at masterminding crimes until greed threatens to ruin his most his brilliant plan. This Rothschild suggestion runs 6.5 hours.

Timeless classics like "Charles and the Chocolate Factory" and "James and the Giant Peach," both by Roald Dahl, are also fail-safe choices for family road trips, says Iqbal.

"Ghost Boys" by Jewell Parker Rhodes is a recommendation from Lelia Nebeker, Book Buyer at One More Page Books in Arlington. "It's a very short book, so if you're only driving for three hours, you can probably finish it," she said. "It's from the perspective of a seventh-grade black boy who is shot and killed by the police, and his ghost is telling the story of seeing the world after his death, where he meets the ghost of Emmett Till. It's a heartbreaking book, but beautifully written, well performed on the audiobook."

Despite the mature sounding premise, Nebeker says that it's intended for readers ages 9 and up.

"Avalon High by Meg Cabot' is a fun contemporary take on the King Arthur myth by the prolific Meg Cabot," advised Nebeker. "This one does take place in a high school setting, but it's appropriate for ages 10 and up for sure. So cute and funny."

"Two of my coworkers read 'Love Sugar Magic: A Dash of Trouble' by Anna Meriano ... and raved about it," said Nebeker.

"Amal Unbound' by Aisha Saeed is about a 14-year-old girl in Pakistan who becomes a servant to pay off her family's debts," said Nebeker. "[This is] another book for young readers that has some mature content, but is good for ages 10 and up and will start good discussion between parents and young readers."

"Howl's Moving Castle" by Diana Wynne Jones and "A Wrinkle in Time" by Madeleine L'Engle are two additional suggestions from Nebeker.

For a wider selection of choices, Marshall suggests the American Library Association's website which offers reviews of audio books: www.ala.org/alsc/awardsgrants/notalists/ncr.

"Audiobooks are great for long car rides and much better than video games."

Butler Appointed Chief of Fire and Rescue Department

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors appointed John S. Butler as the county's next Fire and Rescue Department chief. He succeeds Chief Richard Bowers, who retired in April. Butler's appointment is effective Sept. 1.

Butler has been with the Howard County, Md. Department of Fire and Rescue Services since 1993 and was appointed chief in 2014. He began as a firefighter-paramedic in Howard County, rising through the ranks to serve in a variety of roles with that department, including as battalion chief, emergency medical services chief and administrative chief. In addition to his firefighting experience, Butler served in the U.S. Marine Corps for 21 years, including two combat tours.

"After an extensive search including a community engagement process, Fairfax County is pleased to appoint Chief Butler to the position of Fairfax County Fire and Rescue Chief," said Fairfax County Board of Supervisors Chairman Sharon Bulova.

"He will have the opportunity to lead an elite world-renowned department and I look forward to working with him."

During his tenure in Howard County, Butler expanded services, hired the most diverse firefighter/paramedic trainee class in the department's history, helped establish the first and only local affiliate of the International Association of Women in Fire and Emergency Services (iWomen), established numerous community outreach programs, led the construction of several fire stations and improved service delivery and response times.

"We had a number of strong candidates, however, Chief Butler demonstrated the leadership, vision and communications skills that will move our excellent Fire and Rescue Department forward," said County Executive Bryan Hill. "His proven experience and successful leadership at the helm of a large department will continue to strengthen our culture and contribute to a positive future for the department."

Butler holds a Master of Science in management from Johns Hopkins University and a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Baltimore.

He is a graduate of the National Fire Academy's Executive Fire Officer Program and holds a certificate from Harvard University's John F. Kennedy School of Government Leadership in Crisis Program.

He is a member of the International Association of Fire Chiefs Human Relations Committee and Maryland's Emergency Medical Services Board and is a 2014 recipient of Johns Hopkins University's Global Achievement Award for his humanitarian work in Africa.

He will receive an annual salary of $201,878.77.

Comparatively Speaking

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

After writing such an emotional column last week ("A Relative Unknown"), I'm having a little trouble finding footing for my pen for this week's column.

It reminds me of thoughts I had about continuing to write my "Everything in general about nothing in particular"-themed columns - which I had published in The Connection from December 1997 through May 2009, after I received my terminal cancer diagnosis in late February, 2009. How could I continue to write such lightweight nonsense after being given a "13 month to two-year" prognosis?

Not that my intention writing forward was ever to immerse you regular readers in self-indulgent Kenny at his self-important worst. Hardly. It was more that I had a need and apparently, an ability, to write about my cancer experiences with a similarly light touch as I had previously done so discussing everyday topics dating back 12 years or so.

Those columns, as you incredibly regular readers may recall, ranged from the sublime to the ridiculous, including everything in between. However, they never mentioned politics, current events, personalities in the news or anything of substance, quite frankly.

To give you a few examples: "Armed and Dangerous," a column about drivers who drive with their left arms hanging out the driver's side window (one of my mother's favorites); "Sole Man," a column about seeing so many single shoes lying by the side of the road; "Registering a Complaint," a column about the new (at the time) self-checkout registers at supermarkets; and "Victim of 'Soycumstance,'" a column about why there are always so many packets of soy sauce in Chinese carry-out, and so many more, hundreds in fact, about "everything in general ...".

For me, they were - and continue to be, an amusing diversion/avocation which enabled me to pursue my passion and dream about writing a syndicated climate from a warm climate, preferably one with an ocean view, while maintaining my day job. A day job which I still maintain. And though the challenge for maintaining both may be greater now than ever, us true believers in the newspaper business will continue to read and write as best we can, in print and online.

Now, throw in a cancer diagnosis, which at the outset was extremely discouraging, and you might wonder how any of this makes sense. Well, perhaps it didn't. But perhaps having tasks and responsibilities was exactly the kind of regularity that a cancer patient given a rather grim prognosis needed, consciously, and maybe more importantly, subconsciously.

Somewhere in my head (or wherever one's subconscious exists) going on about life as if nothing was particularly life threatening (heck, more like life ending, at age 54 and a half, no less) perhaps was the kind of antidote my body needed. Though told then - and now, that there's no cure for what ails me: non-small lung cancer, stage IV, nevertheless, I am still alive nine-plus years later, "advocating" and "vocating."

However, maintaining my status quo; reading, writing and "rithmeticking" doesn't generally make me cry as writing last week's column did. And in living long enough to experience what I wrote about last week, I am always grateful to whomever/whatever power is responsible for yours truly being here, there and everywhere (also a reference to the name of the first song, by The Beatles, that Dina and I danced to as husband and wife).

Amazingly, life goes on, as does this column. But fortunately, for you irregular readers, not for much longer.

Have written this far, I think I've transitioned now from an extremely emotional experience: meeting my cousin from Argentina to an un-emotional/normal one: life in the mundane and boring Kenny lane. A lane I hope to continue to travel. At least I hope so, anyway.

Two Dead in Car Crash, Detectives Asking for Public's Help

Detectives are looking for witnesses to an early morning crash on Sunday, July 15, that killed two people and injured two others. Tonnisha McCoy, 21, of Sterling, and Joselyn Herndon, 23, of Reston, were pronounced dead at the scene. Officers responded to the accident around 2 a.m. Sunday on the Fairfax County Parkway near Walnut Branch Road. Preliminarily, it appears that a 2004 Acura MDX was traveling northbound on the Fairfax County Parkway when the incident occurred. The driver lost control and the vehicle rotated and left the roadway. At least one other vehicle was on scene during the crash and stayed when officers arrived. Detectives believe speed and alcohol may have been factors. Due to the complex nature of the investigation, detectives are asking anyone who may have witnessed the crash or has information to call 703-280-0564. Tips can be submitted anonymously through Crime Solvers by visiting <http://www.fairfaxcrimesolvers.org>, or calling 1-866-411-TIPS.
