Burke Has a Heart of Gold Somewhere

Local gold prospecting pays off in tiny amounts.

BY MIKE SALMON
THE CONNECTION

In 1799, a 17-pound nugget of gold was found near Charlotte, N.C., starting the lesser known East Coast Gold Rush, that spread into Virginia. As the years passed, and gold coins were produced in Charlotte, the east coast gold belt that stretched from the Harpers Ferry area to the Piedmont died down and talk of gold went to California.

This was a topic of discussion of Mike Johnson's recent lecture titled "Prehistory of Gold (Au) in Northern Virginia," Burke Historical Society sponsored at the Pohick Library. Johnson, a former Fairfax County archeologist, offered geological and archeological data and displayed a vial of gold dust that he found in Northern Virginia over the past year. "This is all year, at least once a week," Johnson said, holding up the glass vial. "That took a lot of work," he added.

On the title page, there was an arrowhead he found, with a penny and a little pile of gold dust, just to show a size comparison, and show how panning for gold in Northern Virginia should only be a hobby. There was a nugget found more recently that weighs two ounces, but it's another rarity and is more valuable to show off than it is to melt down and sell. "That piece is priceless," said Scott Sprague, a member of the east coast chapter of a prospecting with roots in California. "It's not about money."

Johnson's presentation started with the geologic process to make gold, and evolved into a period 18,000 years ago when the Chesapeake Bay was created, the Bering Land Bridge, the Clovis points and Paleo America. "Five thousand years ago, at least in this area, there were foragers," Johnson said. A cave drawing of sorts called the Silsby's Rock pictograph was found at Great Falls in recent years and is now on display in the Great Falls Visitors Center.

The attendees wanted to know about gold around here though, and when talking gold, the hot spots are a big secret – similar to fishing. Around here, most of the land is owned by the government or private individuals so hunting for gold or panning or gold is not allowed.

"There aren't many places, you're going to have to get permission," Johnson said. "One of the rules is, you don't reveal your source," he added.

Someone in the audience brought up the Burke Gold Mine, which Johnson wasn't familiar with but another person did know that it was about 200 yards from Pohick Creek. There were a few whispers, but the topic quickly changed. Fountainhead Park is in the gold belt, Johnson said, and noted that this was determined from a micro speck of gold he found there.

Small Business Saturday Defies Soaking Rain

BY MIKE SALMON
THE CONNECTION

The Greater Springfield Chamber of Commerce carried on a tradition on this year's Small Business Saturday with their "Business in the Brewery" event at the Fair Winds Brewery in Newington. According to Chamber president Nancy-jo Manney, this is the second year the Chamber held Business in the Brewery where they bring local small businesses to a place that offers good exhibit space and a built-in crowd, and locally brewed craft beer.

"Small Business Saturday is an opportunity for us to celebrate and recognize local small businesses, the backbone of our economy," said Manney.

Flowers 'n' Ferns is a Chamber member from Burke that broke out the hot cider and promotional material for Small Business Saturday, but after a few hours of steady rainfall, Karen Lynn Fountain, the shop owner, headed to the event at the Fair Winds.

Nalls Produce off Beulah Street has been a family owned and operated business for more than 50 years, and honored Small Business Day with a free gift. "Our customers have supported us for decades — saved us from becoming just another housing development — and we want to say thanks," said Valerie Nalls, the owner's daughter who has worked there through the years. Cary Nalls started the produce stand when he was just a kid and he continues to work every day. "My children, Blake and Morgan, are now learning how to lend a hand at Nalls too, just like I did when I was a kid," added Valerie.

Supervisor Pat Herrity (R-Springfield) said that small businesses are critical to our local economy and "the biggest generators of new jobs." Herrity supported the recent development of a county effort to support small businesses called BizEx, "which is designed to improve the zoning and permitting process," Herrity said. The Board of Supervisors just approved a $1 million investment in Revolution, an incubator to help small technology startups.

"I have actually seen a growth in small businesses in Fairfax County from retail to IT and health care," Herrity said.

Small Business Saturday goes back to 2010 when the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) launched an initiative to support the neighborhood mom and pop stores that have a local angle. "Small businesses provide a character to communities," said Jack Spirakes, the public information nesses on Small Business Saturday, spending a combined $12 billion at independent neighborhood retailers and restaurants, the SBA said. Locally, SBA participates in a monthly workshop with the Fairfax County Economic Development Authority aimed at local entrepreneurs.

"It's a chance for communities to rally around these businesses," added Carol Wilkerson, an SBA spokesperson out of the national office in Washington, D.C.

Allstate Contributes to 'Weekend Food for Kids'

Assistance League of Northern Virginia's Weekend Food for Kids program was the featured volunteer service activity for the "Feed Your Future Volunteer Relay" that took place during the recent Allstate Insurance Company Regional Advisory Board conference in Washington, D.C.

Lynn Barron and Karen Amster, board members with the all-volunteer ALNV, were invited to attend and speak about Assistance League's impactful program that increases food security in three local school districts in the region. Assistance League provides bags of nonperishable food for at-risk children to take home on the weekends when school meals are not available who otherwise could be hungry.

Following the keynote presentation, the event turned competitive. Executives, regional advisory board members — exclusive agents and exclusive financial specialists from D.C., Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia — participated in a volunteer relay, packing food for hungry children.

Allstate Senior Communication Consultant Caitlyn Barron coordinated the resources and purchased the nonperishable food items to support The Allstate Foundation Helping Hands in the Community group volunteer event. A team of more than 40 volunteers packed 500+ bags of food for at-risk children whose families struggle to put food on the table on weekends when school meals are not available.

This partnership provided an opportunity to satisfy an immediate need for food assistance at two Title I elementary schools not currently supported by the Weekend Food for Kids program.

Burke Student Earns American Heritage Girls Award

Theresa M. Morthland of Burke earned the Stars & Stripes Award, the highest recognition that American Heritage Girls offers to girl members. The award requires a great deal of time, sacrifice and devotion to achieve.

In addition to living out the American Heritage Girls creed and oath, award recipients complete a number of requirements, including earning a total of 16 merit badges; holding a leadership position in their troop for a minimum of six months; planning, developing and providing leadership to others in a service project lasting more than 100 hours; writing a life ambition/spiritual walk essay and résumé; and passing a Board of Review.

Morthland chose to serve the Church of the Nativity Catholic School by designing and building an elevated sandbox with an innovative design so preschool children in wheelchairs and children with tactile difficulties can play in the sand with their friends. The sandbox has become a focal point in the playground and with multiple classes of children. She worked with multiple schools before actual construction, making presentations to each administration to seek approval. She also made a presentation to the parish's Knights of Columbus Council 7992 seeking and ultimately receiving their financial support to complete the project.

Morthland served as the troop's Senior Troop Leader, Closet Coordinator, and earned multiple awards, such as, the Harriet Tubman Level Award, Dolley Madison Level Award, and the Mary, the First Disciple Religious Medal.

Bringing People in from the Cold

This year 36 churches will be host sites for the hypothermia program.

BY JOE FAY
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, FACETS

Fifteen years ago, two Fairfax men froze to death during the fall. At the time, FACETS was a nonprofit that was primarily serving meals to the county's homeless in partnership with several churches. FACETS' leaders knew that feeding people only to send them back into the extreme cold was not a great answer for the growing number of people who were homeless in the community.

That winter FACETS responded by offering temporary shelter in conjunction with its partner churches, the Lamb Center, and Salvation Army to get people in from the cold. The first year, these hypothermia shelters rotated to several different churches and only opened when the temperatures dropped below freezing. Soon the centers were serving up to 60 people on cold nights.

The program has evolved as the region's population has grown. In 2006, FACETS worked on policies and procedures with the county and formally began managing central Fairfax's Hypothermia Prevention and Response Program. This year 36 churches will be host sites for the program with more than 50 churches and other faith communities providing volunteers.

These faith community partners rotate when opening their doors to provide shelter. In anticipation, churches and temples are preparing their facilities to welcome people in need during the cold months ahead — cleaning, getting supplies, and preparing the space. Other volunteers are planning menus. Unique partnerships have formed as a result of the program as Christians, Muslims, Jews, and more join together to help the homeless and in the process learn about each other.

The effort also matured beyond just providing safe haven. Guests now receive life-changing case management. By interacting with guests at the shelters, FACETS' case managers are able to address their needs in a very personal way by gaining their trust and connecting them with housing solutions and critical services. They also receive a variety of services from the county.

Last year 283 guests were given shelter from the biting cold. More than 3,800 people volunteered 33,000 hours last season to care for these guests who are homeless. By the end of season, 41 of these people had left homelessness behind and were housed.

This year's Hypothermia Response and Prevention Program began the Sunday of Thanksgiving weekend and runs seven nights a week through April 1. With the projected cold and forecasts of a very snowy winter season, demand is expected to grow.

To learn more, donate or volunteer, visit us at www.FACETSCares.org.

FACETS is a Fairfax-based nonprofit working to prevent and end homelessness.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Protecting Our Diversity

To the Editor:

I want to thank you for publishing the article about the Fairfax For All coalition's recent activities ("Advocating for Immigrant Protection").

As the daughter of two immigrants, immigration policy has always been important to me — especially as the debate over deportation and ICE has escalated. My parents were fortunate enough to be able to immigrate legally, and have been citizens for about 10 years, but in examining the data I've come to see that that's most likely to do with the fact that they are white and had college degrees. Our town is so beautifully diverse, and I believe that we're losing an important part of our culture when immigrants are scared to participate in the community for fear of deportation.

If what Fairfax For All says is true, then there is an entire group of people in our town who are being excluded from important decisions, prevented from seeking medical attention, and afraid to participate in the community — all out of fear. I'm learning just how important these relationships to the community, or social ties, are. They allow individuals a sense of purpose and help them to feel assimilated into this community that we like to profess as being so diverse.

Where and When

For its Holiday Season production, the Providence Players are presenting a special adaptation of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" with an American Depression era setting. The Rob Zapple adaptation is directed by Beth Giles-Whitehead. She cast more than two dozen actors to bring the show to vivid life along with live Bluegrass music.

Zapple's "A Christmas Carol" is set during a bitter cold December 1933, in a down-on-its-fortunes St. Louis neighborhood. Times are hard. People are out of work and have lost hope. An unemployed Shakespearean actor and his manager run out of gas. The townsfolk agree to supply them with gas if they tell them the story of Ebenezer Scrooge, Bob Cratchit and Tiny Tim. "The story of Ebenezer Scrooge's redemption and turn to love and service for others will always need to be heard no matter how many Christmas seasons come and go," said Barbara Gilles-Whitehead, Providence Players director. "Our production will provide audiences the opportunity to see this familiar story through a different lens." Tiny Tim is played by Caden Mitchell (Mantua Elementary School), who said: "Tiny Tim is a really giving boy who wants to help everyone around him, even though he is one that needs help himself, due to his illness and disability. I like how much he loves everyone and they love him."

Talia Cutler (Kilmer Middle School) plays the Ghost of Christmas Past. "The ghost of Christmas Past has immense power and magic. She is a very different character than what I normally play," Talia said. Bob Cratchit is portrayed by Daniel Lavanga: "Cratchit is so utterly devoted to his family. He would do anything for them, including putting up with Scrooge's abuse day in and day out. And yet he is not a bitter man." Roxanne Waite plays Mrs. Cratchit: "The moral of the importance of putting other people above material trappings, the power of interpersonal relationship, and redemption are timeless. It's important to be reminded of such themes and we can always use a good dose of it."

Ebenezer Scrooge is played by David Whitehead, who said: "I love the change that Ebenezer takes from coldness and disdain to compassion and gratitude. There is no other story like it, it lifts my spirits just playing it."

The Providence Players production of Zapple's "A Christmas Carol" will remind audiences that even during the most desperate of times, there is hope with community and family to help shelter you.

Holiday Season with 'Man of La Mancha'

Workhouse presents the musical for its holiday season production.

BY DAVID SIEGEL
THE CONNECTION

With stirring songs such as the iconic "The Impossible Dream," transformation and redemption are the heart of the moving musical, "Man of La Mancha." Inspired by the characters and adventures of the unlikely Spanish knight Don Quixote, created by Miguel de Cervantes, the multi Tony Award winning "Man of La Mancha" will be produced on the intimate stage at the Workhouse Arts Center theater with live musical accompaniment including flamenco guitar and percussive rhythms.

Under the musical direction of Merissa Driscoll, and direction and choreography by the veteran Workhouse team of Jeffrey Davis and Mary Payne, "Man of La Mancha" aims to provide audiences beauty in darkness and despair. It provides opportunities for self-reflection and renewed faith in finding hope, peace and reaching for the stars- following your own 'Impossible Dream," said Joseph Wallen, director, performing arts, Workhouse Arts Center.

Featured actors and singers in "Man of La Mancha" include Mary Payne portraying Aldonza, the woman with a tough exterior and gentle heart who wants to believe the stories she hears. John Hollinger is playing Cervantes and Quixote.

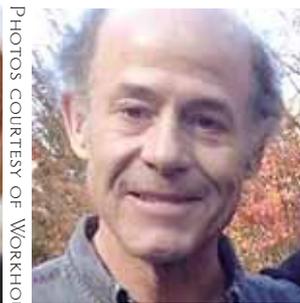

It is Hollinger who sings the iconic lyrics about marching for "a heavenly cause."

"I am I, Don Quixote, the lord of La Mancha, my destiny calls and I go...And the wild winds of fortune will carry me onward, Oh whithersoever they blow ... Onward to glory I go!"

"Man of La Mancha" is set historically in the period of the Spanish Inquisition. Author Cervantes is thrown in prison with a wicker trunk containing his belongings. His fellow prisoners doubt his ability to defend himself. They put him on a "mock trial" before he appears before the authorities. Cervantes imagines a brave knight named Don Quixote and his trusty squire Sancho Panza. What follows is a play-within-a-play as objects in the wicker basket turn into a set, and his fellow inmates perform.

"Looking at the heart of the story, 'La Mancha' is a very appropriate or this time of year, of reflection," said Wallen. "Our Workhouse production will be a very personal experience as no seat is further than 50 feet from the stage. We want our guests to have the sensation that they are in the environment of the world of the production."

Inviting patrons to the performance Wallen added that the entire "La Mancha" team and crew aims to provide "an engaging evening on a cold winter night for the audience."

One-Lane Underpass Now Seeing Backups

Changes to the outdated underpass at Cinder Bed Road being studied.

BY MIKE SALMON
THE CONNECTION

Over the last couple of months, Cinder Bed Road has become the detour route for the new bridge that is about half way done over the CSX Railroad tracks in Newington. The detour route was mapped out by the Virginia Department of Transportation (VDOT) in connection with their Backlick Road Bridge over the CSX Railroad project. During the week, particularly around the rush hours, the traffic backs up on Cinder Bed Road past the Newington Road intersection, causing another delay in a frequently used thoroughfare.

There is a rumor that the underpass will be fixed as part of the bridge project that's going on now but that's only partially true. According to Michael Murphy, a VDOT public affairs spokesperson, there is a study going on concerning a new overpass at that location, and that study is funded by the Department of Rail and Public Transportation (DRPT) as part of Atlantic Gateway. Whether or not Newington Road is closed during construction of the underpass has not been decided yet; the decision won't be made until the project enters the design phase. The design phase could start as early as 2019, according to Murphy.

The underpass is part of a frequently used cut-through route from the Telegraph Road-Fort Belvoir area to I-95.

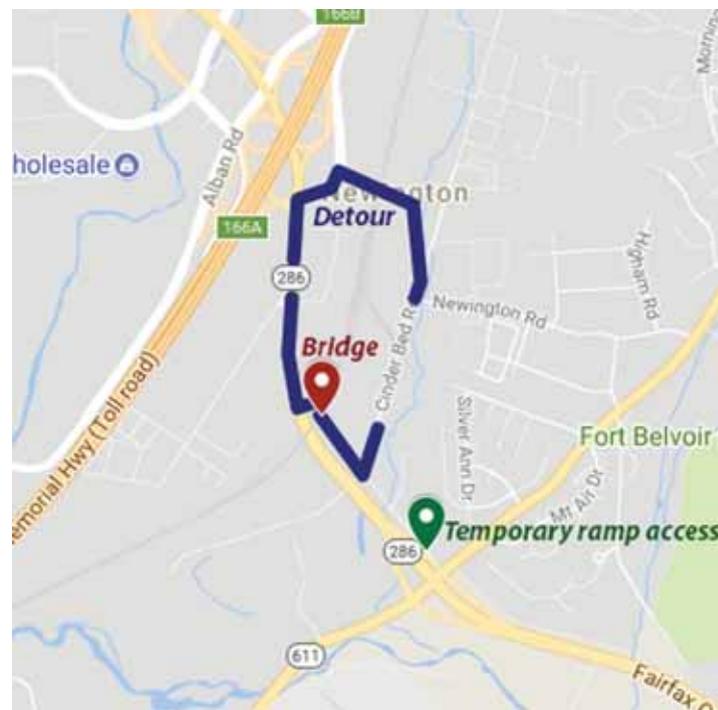

Jack Moriarty is a bartender at Fair Winds, a local brewery right next to the bridge. He's seen all the traffic backing up and pedestrians dangerously walking under the bridge. "I'm surprised it's still open," he said. And as far as the increased rush hour backups, "that's good for our business."

Trucks are a big part of the traffic in this industrial area.

When completed, this new VDOT bridge should provide some relief to the Cinder Bed traffic jam.

Candice Bennett, a Lorton Station community association board member, hasn't heard anything. She recently attended a South County Federation meeting, but it wasn't mentioned. "Nothing about any changes coming to this road," she said.

The $9.5 million bridge project about a mile down the road from the one-lane bridge is part of the larger Atlantic Gateway improvements, a multi-modal suite of projects focused on the I-95 corridor between Washington, D.C. and Fredericksburg, according to the project website. The new bridge is expected to be opened by spring 2019.

Cinder Bed

The Newington Road-Cinder Bed Road area can be described as a cross between industrial and warehouse-office park. On the southern end, it ends in a circle, surrounded by warehouses and offices, and on the northern end, there are a few vacant properties, various auto body companies, a Fairfax Water Authority office and the Fairfax County Newington Transportation Facility.

A few years ago, Cinder Bed Road was realigned and a bridge built over the Long Branch stream, eliminating an area that frequently flooded. It is in the Mount Vernon District.

At the dead end on the north end, a bike trail winds around under the power lines, continues along the stream, and goes uphill to the Island Creek community. Plans are in the works to connect the bike trail to the Franconia-Springfield Metro Station.

'The Dance Numbers Are Spectacular'

Encore presents holiday show, 'An Invitation to Christmas.'

THE CONNECTION

The dancers of Encore Theatrical Arts Project are kicking up their heels with glee, getting ready for their upcoming, holiday extravaganza, "An Invitation to Christmas." The show runs Dec. 7-16 in the Richard Ernst Theater at NOVA's Annandale campus. In the story, the elves at the North Pole are super-busy with so

To Go

Show times are: Dec. 7 at 7:30 p.m.; Dec. 8 at noon, 4 and 7:30 p.m.; Dec. 9 at noon and 4 p.m.; Dec. 14 at 7:30 p.m.; Dec. 15 at noon, 4 and 7:30 p.m.; and Dec. 16 at noon and 4 p.m.

Tickets range from $19-$26 via www.encore-tap.org or 703-222-5511. Location: Richard Ernst Theater, NOVA campus, 8333 Little River Turnpike in Annandale.

much work to do that they need extra help. So they send out invitations to children selected by Santa to attend Elf-Training School. However, one of the new recruits is a full-grown man, and his classmates wonder why he's there. He does, too, since he thought he was going on a job interview.

The cast of 24 dancers, plus adult guest performers Jack Stein and Allen McRae, have been rehearsing since August, and Director/Choreographer Raynor van der Merwe says things are coming along really well. "We had our first, dress rehearsal and, suddenly, the characters came to life," she said. "And many of the performers are triple threats – dancing, singing and acting.

Encore's dancers always perform a Rockettes-themed number during their shows.

"Besides being a visual feast for the eyes, the show is uplifting – from the story to the music," she continued. "We have lots of new numbers, plus some old favorites. I look for music that might be familiar, but not something people will hear over the radio. So I choose songs that move the story forward, put people in the holiday spirit and let them escape this busy season for two hours."

THE SCENES take place in New York City, Santa's workshop at the North Pole and outdoors in a snow-covered, winter wonderland. And van der Merwe describes the costumes as both "colorful and glamorous."

Encore Presents 'An Invitation to Christmas'

has clicked really well," she said. "It's a great unity and, when everything comes together, it's magic. And that's what I love about theater – the community of it. No one does it on their own; the script, choreography, sets and lighting are among the puzzle pieces that must fall into place to make something unique and special. And with a live audience, each performance is different."

Faith Chun, a freshman at Trinity Christian School in Fairfax, plays an elf named Cookie. "She loves baking treats and has an energetic personality," said Chun. "She gets excited after making cookies and other baked goods, but is disappointed when they're all gone. It's fun playing her because of her energy, and I'm sometimes that way, too."

Chun's favorite dance is "Rockettes," during which the dancers wear white leotards with white fluff in back and have their hair in high ponytails. "I like that style of dance, with the kickline, and the number has both fast and slow parts," she said. "We have sharp poses, so we have to really be in synch."

Dancing since age 3, it's her seventh year with Encore. "Dancing is always my passion," said Chun. "It makes me happy and is my favorite thing to do. It takes me away from my stress and schoolwork, and I really enjoy doing it." Regarding the show, she said audiences will like "the storyline and the dance styles. It will allow them to connect to Christmas in a different way and is enjoyable to watch."

High-schooler Bea Tremblay dances in the ensemble and portrays a mail carrier. "She delivers the invitations to the kids, as well as to the adult, George Parker," said Tremblay. "She's undercover from the North Pole, so she's in New York street clothes. I wear a U.S. Postal Service hoodie and hat, plus gray slacks. She's a little mischievous and jolly because she knows she's handing out invitations to a magical experience."

Tremblay enjoys taking her character in a humorous direction and working with the other actors and dancers. She especially likes the "Santas" number. "We wear big bellies, wigs, hats, boots and Santa costumes," she said. "It's a high-energy dance, and 26 of us are onstage; and it's so much fun that I'm smiling the whole time."

She's danced since age 10 and is in her fourth year with Encore's performing company. "The company creates a community, and the other girls and I support each other and have formed a family," explained Tremblay. "And it's so nice dancing together without having to compete. We can concentrate on the art and performance quality."

CALLING THE SHOW "fun-loving and happy," she said, "We have lots of little kids acting, too, and they're really doing a great job. We've got bright and beautiful costumes, and the set puts you in the Christmas spirit as soon as you see it. We also have cool props, neat vocal numbers and a lot of actors who make it what it is."

Becca Perron, a Paul VI High freshman, plays Digits the elf. "She works in the mailroom and is very serious," said Perron. "She doesn't like her supervisor, Dally, because she bosses her around. Digits also thinks Dally is lazy and she should have her job. She's fun to play because she's not like me, and being an elf is just the best time. I get to be over-the-top and really let myself go."

It's Perron's ninth year with Encore and sixth with its performing company. Her favorite dance is "Rag Dolls" because, she said, "We get to make really funny faces and expressions as Raggedy Anns and Andys. And we especially like it when the kids in the audience laugh."

"As a group, we put so much passion and love into our shows," she continued. "So when we see a big audience, it's just the greatest feeling. We're well-known for our professional sets and performances that set us apart from other dance groups."

High-schooler Kate Persell portrays Jingles the elf, who supervises the children who've been invited to become elves. "She's really cute, but likes to stay organized," said Persell. "She's friendly with the kids, but snarky with the adult trainee. I enjoy acting, and it's fun to play someone different from my own personality."

She's danced with Encore since third grade and loves the many, different styles of dance. "I can get my energy out, it's a good form of exercise and I do it with all my favorite people," she said. Persell particularly likes the "Once-A-Year Day" number. "All the elves are doing a hectic dance, running around like crazy, getting ready for Christmas," she explained. "There's no resting point, and I love rushing with adrenaline, the whole time. And when we do the final pose, it feels so good."

Persell said the audience will enjoy the storyline because "It's humorous, with the businessman in an elf costume that doesn't fit him. The children in the cast are super-cute and talented, and the dance numbers are spectacular."
