Potomac residents celebrate Potomac Day with parade, games, rides and information from community businesses.

Pepe Gaye, a long-time employee of the BP Station at the corner of River and Falls roads, stood on the island across from the station watching the Potomac Day Parade Saturday.

It was the 32nd time he watched the annual community event. “It’s changed over the years,” he said, noting that there used to be horses and more bands.

Still, he enjoyed being there watching as cars and kids, politicians and dogs, even a llama and Peter Rabbit paraded past on a beautiful Saturday.

“We love it,” Zoe Acadia said as she and her daughters Maddie, 11, and Lyla, 10, walked around the parking lot on the Potomac Place Shopping Center, watching visitors enjoy the many inflatable activities. “We’ve been coming for six years,” she said. “We had soccer games early [today] so we could come and stay for the whole day.”

C&O Canal Park Celebrates Geology

By Peggy McEwan
Potomac Almanac

C&O National Historical Park celebrated the beginning of Earth Science Week with "Autumn Rocks!" Sunday.
The program offered Park visitors the opportunity to explore the "geology and geography of the canal" as a kickoff program for Earth Science Week.

“This is our first Autumn Rocks program," Park Ranger Geoff Sutter, said.

“We are mainly a history park but [much] of that is related to geology including the buildings and many of the locks."

Sutter pointed out that most of the locks along the canal in this area are made from stone quarried near Riley’s Lock and ferried down the canal.

Most of the activities set up for visitors were self-activated.

They included a soil science table where visitors could take in ingredients, sand, clay, compost and rocks and make their own soil, then test it for different characteristics, and a Rock Identification Station with tests to help neophytes identify different types of rocks.

Blacksmith Eric Johnson and apprentice Josiah Bloom demonstrated the art of blacksmithing. They were making an axe head for a hatchet.

They also told about coal, which they were using for their fire, and how it is formed over hundreds of years.

There were two types of coal on display at the exhibit Johnson explained. Soft coal (bituminous) which turns into coke when it burns, and anthracite, the hardest coal, most desirable for hot fire.

This is charcoal, he said, holding up another black "rock," but it was not a rock at all, it was "coal" formed by slowly cooking wood at a low temperature and low oxygen environment.

Another highlight of the day was a guided hike to an abandoned gold mine in the park led by Jessica Lindsay, a geoscientist in the park.

Blacksmith Eric Johnson and apprentice Josiah Bloom demonstrate their craft to visitors at Great Falls Park Sunday.

The mine, she said, hasn’t been in operation for about 70 years.

“There were about 30 gold mines in Montgomery County, some more successful than others,” she said. “Most of the successful ones were in the Great Falls area.”

Earth Science Week was Oct. 13-19 celebrating the theme “Geoscience is for Everyone,” according to the National Park Service.

“I love how much interest we got,” Lindsay said. “It’s interesting to see how many people are interested.”

Potomac Day!

A Montgomery County Police Motorcycle officer lead the parade down River Road, followed by the color guard from Boy Scout troop 773, which meets at Potomac United Methodist Church.

Potomac resident Chrissellene Petropoulos who once sang with both the Vienna State Opera and the Kassel State Opera in Germany, sang the National Anthem as the parade began.

Long and Foster realtor Sue Ader Groups announced the parade groups as they passed through the intersection of River and Falls. She said she thinks she has been the Master of Ceremonies for the event for four or five years.

“I love it, it’s a great community and this is a nice showing of our sponsors,” she said.

As the parade ended, events in the parking lot of Potomac Promenade Shopping Center ramped up.

The traditional Car Show, sponsored this year by Criswell Auto, attracted a few dozen cars and lots of interested lookers, perhaps reimagining life when a ’57 Chevy was “the” car or trying out a session behind the wheel of a ’57 Pink Thunderbird.

Close to 100 vendors set up booths to introduce themselves to the community at the business fair and there were rides and games on both sides of Falls Road, in addition to a petting zoo with animals from Squeals on Wheels – hence the llama in the parade.

Peter Rabbit was a costumed member of Friends of the Library Potomac, celebrating the new Peter Rabbit herb Garden. Recently planted at the library.

“It’s great,” Potomac resident Ann Mulla said. “We come with our grandchildren every year and we brought our children before they became parents.”

Perfect for the season an inflatable haunted house invited brave visitors.
From princesses to superheroes, within the next two weeks, as Halloween approaches, many children will be choosing a costume. As children express their creativity with the help of wigs and light sabers, public safety advocates are encouraging caution both in costume selection and mapping-out a Halloween night route.

“There are several components to safety, first make certain the costumes are well-fitted so they aren’t a tripping hazard,” said Tammy Franks, senior program manager for Home and Community Safety at the National Safety Council. “Instead of masks that could obstruct their view try using non-toxic face paint.”

It’s possible to use face paint that it free of toxins, but doesn’t sacrifice a creative disguise, says Aieda Turner of costume supply store Total Fright in Arlington. “Mehron face paint is completely safe and it’s made of aloe vera and cucumber and doesn’t have any alcohol which can irritate a child’s skin,” she said. “Almost all children’s costumes made now, even elaborate costumes, are fire resistant.”

When children are trick-or-treating without a parent, says Franks, drivers should be able to see children, especially if they are wearing a dark costume. Adding glow-in-the-dark or reflective tape can help. “Children should carry a flashlight or glow stick so that they can see and be seen,” she said. “Parents should make sure that costume is flame resistant and they should add a reflective component.”

The costume itself shouldn’t have accessories that pose hazards, says Franks. “For example, if your costume includes a sword or knife, make it out of foam or cardboard or something flexible,” she said.

When out-and-about trick-or-treating on Halloween, retired pediatrician Julia Baker, MD, advises parents to accompany children under the age of 12. “Parents know their children best and should use their own judgement when it comes to allowing a child to go trick-or-treating [without an adult],” she said. “Parents should make a plan with their child about the route they’ll take so they’ll know where to find them in an emergency situation. They should also agree on the time when a child should be back at home.”

Children should carry a cell phone so that parents can contact them if necessary, says Baker. “Parents should definitely be able to reach their children on Halloween,” she said. “As hard as it might be these days, parents should stress to their children the danger of texting and keeping their head buried in their phones while trick-or-treating.”

Staying in well-lit areas and trick-or-treating with a group of friends can help make Halloween activities safer. “The same basic rules of pedestrian safety also apply on Halloween,” Franks said. “Cross the street in crosswalks, stay on the sidewalk and walk instead of running when crossing the street so that you don’t trip.”

Detectives Investigate Death of Montgomery County Police Officer Thomas J. Bomba

The Montgomery County Department of Police – Major Crimes Division is investigating the death of Montgomery County Police Officer Thomas J. Bomba that occurred Monday morning in Silver Spring.

At approximately 8:49 a.m., Monday, Oct. 14, Officer Thomas J. Bomba of the Montgomery County Police Department’s 3rd District was on routine patrol when he radioed to the dispatcher that he had been flagged down by someone regarding disorderly subjects in the public parking garage located on the corner of Ellsworth Drive and Fenton Street in downtown Silver Spring.

There was no additional communication from Officer Bomba.

Additional officers responded to the area to assist him with the call. The first assisting officer located Officer Bomba on the top level of the garage suffering from a gunshot wound and immediately radioed for additional support to include Montgomery County Fire & Rescue Services. Officers attempted lifesaving measures on the scene and Officer Bomba was subsequently transported to the MedStar Washington Hospital Center in Washington, D.C., where he succumbed to his injuries.

Officer Thomas Bomba, age 38, of Gaithersburg, was a 13-year veteran of the Police Department. He was assigned to the Patrol Services Division in the 3rd District. He is survived by his wife and two children.

“Today, a much-respected officer, Thomas J. Bomba, will not be going home at the end of his shift. He dedicated his life’s work to the residents of Montgomery County. He was a friend to the officers he served with and a stalwart protector of the community he policed. Our thoughts and prayers go out to his family, friends and the Montgomery County Police Department. Our County lost one of our own and I ask the people of Montgomery County to keep Officer Bomba’s family, his friends and fellow officers in your hearts during this very difficult time.”

Arlington County, Va. and Montgomery County, Maryland, have jointly released a Request for Proposal (RFP) for contract services in support of a study of aircraft noise proximate to Reagan National Airport.

The two jurisdictions will jointly hire a consultant for a study of aircraft noise impacts, and recommendations for improvement.

Arlington has allocated $125,000 for the work described in the Scope of Services, matched by an equal allocation by Montgomery, for a total budget of $250,000.

From the RFP:

- The purpose is to: analyze existing aircraft noise and operations data to enable understanding by the public; inform efforts by policymakers to reduce noise impacts; and to identify, evaluate and propose mitigations to reduce impacts on residents of Arlington County, Montgomery County, and other communities north of Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport (DCA).

The contractor will provide Arlington and Montgomery elected officials, staff, and representatives on the Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority (MWA) DCA Community Working Group (CWG) with technical resources to better understand the nature of airspace management and possible alternatives and assist with coordination and broader community outreach among surrounding jurisdictions, MWA, and the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA). The Aircraft Noise Abatement and Mitigation Study is to be completed within 12 months from the date of the execution of the contract and provide support services from the date of the execution of the Contract for a period of up to two years following completion of the Study. The selected Contractor will be entering into an agreement with Arlington County, Virginia. The requested services have been agreed to by Arlington and Montgomery through a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU).

Since October 2015, Arlington has participated in the DCA Community Working Group as the venue for a regional discussion on aircraft noise impacts. The Community Working Group has a North of the Potomac County Committee composed of members from Arlington, Montgomery, and the District of Columbia. The DCA Community Working Group activities mirror those supported by the FAA and being undertaken across the country in other metropolitan areas seeking to address community impacts.

Many jurisdictions around the region have grown frustrated with the pace and process of the Community Working Group and the perceived lack of responsiveness from MWA and the FAA.

Participation in the Community Working Group consists robust as to no other regional venue exists to address aircraft noise issues. A group of residents in Northwest Washington unsuccessfully sued the FAA over the new DCA flight procedures, and the State of Maryland has an active lawsuit against the FAA. Arlington and Montgomery, with their common interests north of the airport, have elected to fund and initiate their own joint analysis and related tasks through this RFP.

The Counties aim through this RFP to take a holistic approach to procedure design, reducing noise proximate to Reagan National Airport. The contractor will provide Arlington and Montgomery with technical resources to enable understanding by the public; inform efforts by policymakers to reduce noise impacts; and to identify, evaluate and propose mitigations to reduce impacts on residents of Arlington County, Montgomery County, and other communities north of Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport (DCA).
