Great Falls Student Wins Rotary Essay Contest

News, Page 5

Great Falls Student Wins Rotary Essay Contest

News, Page 5

Uncertainties of the Fall 2020

News, Page 5

Langley High School senior and varsity volleyball player Nina Kernan, like many other senior student athletes, is concerned about how different her final high school season may look amid the pandemic.
As the fate of in-person classes for high schools in the fall remains unknown, another uncertainty – the fall high school sports season – is on many student athletes’ minds. Many of them haven’t missed a season in years.

“[Football] gives me something filled with hype and excitement to look forward to at the end of a week of hard work,” said Jaden Sarinana of McLean, a senior varsity football player at McLean High School.

“Cheer is literally my life, I love it so much,” said Camryn Frederick of Vienna, a senior varsity cheerleader at James Madison High School. “We don’t just cheer at games, we have competitions and we practice for hours and literally put blood, sweat and tears into everything we do.”

Many students are curious how different the fall season may look, given new precautions like social distancing between players and among the crowd, or having to wear a mask.

“Honestly, I’m not that worried for the players on the field but more about how we’re going to let the fans in and watch,” said Sarinana. “We don’t just cheer at games, we have competitions and we practice for hours and literally put blood, sweat and tears into everything we do.”

Many students are curious how different the fall season may look, given new precautions like social distancing between players and among the crowd, or having to wear a mask.

“Honesty, I’m not that worried for the players on the field but more about how we’re going to let the fans in and watch,” said Sarinana. “Football is a community event that brings people together for fun and memories.”

“The worst-case scenario is that we don’t play at all,” said Nina Kernan of McLean, a senior varsity volleyball player at Langley High School. “The potential for not having fans in the bleachers will definitely lower the energy in the gym and our game feeds off of that energy.”

Lauren Sung of Great Falls, a junior varsity volleyball player at Langley High School, also mentions how the pandemic may negatively affect team bonding, and in turn, how they play.

“[Team bonding] is really important because we’re constantly together so we have to create a good bond,” said Sung. “Then, we play so much better because there is no tension on the court – this shows when we’re playing.”

RISING SENIORS like Kernan are concerned about the fall season being cancelled altogether, and having to lose their final high school season.

“We’ve built such an amazing team chemistry during the time that I have been here and I have some close friends on the team that I won’t be able to play with again,” said Kernan, who’s committed to Lafayette College to play volleyball. “For some of my teammates who may not be playing in college, it may be the end of their volleyball experience.”

“I would honestly be really sad [if the season is cancelled] because I’ve been looking forward to my senior season since middle school,” said Frederick, who is planning on continuing competition cheer after high school, but not school cheer.

Student athletes in other classes – especially juniors – are also worried about the season getting cancelled or cut short and missing out on big future opportunities.

“If the season is cancelled I feel like I will lose a lot of my skill, and instead of improving, I wouldn’t be,” said Sung. “Junior year is a major year for recruiting to play in college, so it would push back recruiting because college coaches wouldn’t be able to see any film or practices.”

See Fall 2020, Page 7
‘We Can’t Wait Until 2021’

Calls for police reform intensify in the days since Fairfax officer charged with assault for tasing man in Gum Springs.

By Ken Moore
The Connection

T he institution of policing dates back to the institution of slavery. “It has to be acknowledged as such. What happened 400 years ago is actually manifesting itself in practice today,” said Fairfax County Chief Equity Officer Karla Bruce.

“The data has always been there and black people have always said that we are being policed differently,” said Lee District supervisor Rodney Lusk, also chair of the Public Safety Committee.

Last week, the Fairfax County Chapter of the NAACP held a Town Hall on June 16, and listed eight demands when Chairman McKay asked me to chair this committee, I never expected so many urgent priorities facing our county would end up under its purview.”

“We need to do something to not just address our community in crisis but our [police] department in crisis. The department really has lost confidence in its chief.”

Rodney Lusk, Lee District Supervisor

“We’ve had this data for a long time, but we’re now seeing protests across all 50 states,” said Perryman. “The data has always been there and black people have always said that we are being policed differently.”

“There is urgency here,” said Perryman. “I’m not sure people are recognizing that. This needs to be addressed.”

Fairfax County Police Officer Tyler Timberlake was charged with assault after shooting a Taser gun directly into a Black man’s neck.

Watch the Video

cpdp.officer.charged.with.assault-against-community-member/cause of the financial impact of the Covid-19 crisis. Shortly after the incident, the Board reversed course and now will go forward with implementing body-worn cameras.

“The number one thing is accountability, accountability is a must,” said Descano. “If you’re going to collect that video you have to have someone who is going to watch all of it.”

“I would argue that police have some responsibility in watching all of that as well,” said Lusk. He asked police to research technology that would help review the footage, as well as technology to automatically turn on body-worn cameras if an officer grabs his weapon, his taser, or uses his voice over a certain decibel or uses types of commands.

“We CAN ALL AGREE there are more issues demanding our attention and items that we can cover in a single meeting,” said Lusk, at the Public Safety Committee meeting on Tuesday, June 16. “I’ve got to say, when Chairman McKay asked me to chair this committee, I never expected so many urgent priorities facing our county would end up under its purview.”

“The best way to reestablish trust with the community and through dialogue and communications,” he said.

“I’m committed to looking at how we can alter the way we do policing here in Fairfax County,” Lusk said.

Perryman said one promise of policing data has been asked for since 2018. “We have had a lot of promises of data and transparency, but we’re not actually getting the data. We can’t wait until 2021,” he said.

Perryman and the NAACP are calling for an end to School Resource Officers in schools.

“That’s what we call the school to prison pipeline,” said Perryman. “An officer [in schools] will lead to arrests of Black students, Latino students and students with disabilities. It’s just not good policy. Police in schools are a danger because they can escalate situations that shouldn’t be escalated to a crime.”

The School Board has to make the decision first, said Lusk. “I’m certainly open to having the SROs removed from our schools.”

See Police Reform, Page 7

Rodney Lusk, Lee District Supervisor

“There is the need for a softer touch on some issues in our community. Imagine police running up to someone who is in the middle of a mental health crisis and demanding that person to put his hands up. That person is not in the condition to process all of that. If the police don’t understand that, they may make the wrong decision.”

Steve Descano, Fairfax Commonwealth’s Attorney

“The best person to respond to a situation is not always a person who holds a gun. ... Once people are in that system there is a narrow window of what that system can do. It pushes that individual down that path to more recidivism.”

Pat Herrity, Springfield Supervisor

“We need to do something that does not just address our community in crisis but our [police] department in crisis. The department really has lost confidence in its chief.”

Sean Perryman, NAACP

“It should be equally disturbing that some elected officials seem to have no recognition that black people have a very different lived experience than white people when it comes to law enforcement.”

Daniel Storck, Mount Vernon Supervisor

“Neighborhood patrols for me are a big deal. We don’t do enough of them. ... I think it’s an important part of how we change the dynamic at least in the Mount Vernon community and other communities that have had histories of policing that may have been less positive.”
Words Have Meanings

By Kenneth R. "Ken" Plum
State Delegate (D-36)

Words have meanings defined in the dictionary that can take on other meaning within the context in which they are being used. Never has it been more important that we understand the meaning and use of words than in present day politics.

Last week I wrote about “Black lives matter” and the importance that we hear the message that is being conveyed with that sentence. It is a group of words whose meaning has been ignored for too long. The current demonstrations literally around the world are intended to place an exclamation point at the end to emphasize that they must finally be heard and understood. I believe with each demonstration of thousands of people and with each that comes down the message that black lives matter is finally coming through. We need to get on with the changes that are needed in society and in our laws that show that we understand that we use to bring out those changes are not used against us. The societal needs for which our current police forces have been given responsibility in recent years are too broad and need to be reimagined and redefined. We cannot allow those who view societal challenges in law and order terms to use the term “defund the police” against those who understand that policing policies need to change. While some people mean a total defunding of police departments when they use the slogan, “defund the police,” many of us believe police departments will continue to need to exist but be demilitarized and not be the sole responders to community incidents. We need to define a role for public safety and community personnel who can keep our communities safe without confrontation and expand the availability of mental health workers in our communities. You can be sure that there will be a war of words over public safety and policing in the next several elections, and we must work hard to get our message clear.

In 1993 the first woman attorney general of Virginia was up by 20 points in a race to be the first woman governor of Virginia by defeating the Republican candidate, George Allen Jr. An incident of a person committing a crime while on parole from a Virginia prison during the political campaign led to Allen adopting an “end parole” theme to keep Virginians safe that led to his upset victory. The resulting end parole policy led to filling the jails and prisons, a massive prison building program, and lengthy prison terms for persons who were no longer a threat to society. We have only recently begun to undo the damage done by that simple bumper-sticker term “end parole” that led to many lives—disproportionately black—being destroyed by a terrible public policy. Words do have meaning, but we need to be clear what those words truly mean as they impact public policy.

Letters to the Editor

Terminate Memoranda of Understanding with US Park Police

To: Fairfax County Chairman Jeffrey C. McKay, Supervisor Daniel T. Storck, Supervisor Rodney L. Lusk; Mayor Justin M. Wilson, City of Alexandria; Chairman Libby Sayegh, Arlington

Dear Chairmen McKay and Garvey, Mayor Wilson, Supervisors Storck and Lusk:

As you know, on Monday, June 1, 2020, the United States Park Police (USPP) used tear gas on citizens at Lafayette Square who were peacefully exercising their constitutional rights prior to any curfew. While clearing the crowd, they also assaulted a journalist who was taking video of the event. The next day, they issued a public statement denying the use of tear gas. This was later contradicted by the USPP, which also shares jurisdiction with the USPP officers have completed de-escalation training:

That all USPP officers have completed de-escalation training;

That all USPP officers have completed diversity training;

That the USPP has a functional disciplinary process that is substantially similar and either equal to or more rigorous than those in use in our local police departments;

That the USPP has adopted policies requiring transparency practices public incidents that are as robust or more robust than currently utilized by your department;

Devise and implement team approaches to de-escalation and restraint situations that stress appropriate roles to insure that someone is focused on speaking up if policy and procedure are not being followed, to prevent over reaction and potential criminal conduct.

Your MOUs are the only leverage we have to effect change on these issues and the only measures that we can utilize to ensure that the rights and safety of our area residents is being maintained in a fair fashion.

Thank you for considering this request.

Senator Scott A. Surovell, 36th District Delegate Paul E. Krizek, 44th District Senator J. Chapman Petersen, 34th District Senator David W. Marsden, 37th District Senator Barbara A. Favola, 31st District Senator Adam P. Ebbin, 30th District Senator Jennifer B. Boysko, 33rd District Delegate Patrick A. Hope, 47th District Delegate Kathy K. Kan, 42nd District Delegate Kaye Kory, 35th District Delegate Vivian E. Watts, 39th District Delegate Mark H. Levine, 45th District black lives do matter. There is no turning back now. When the grossly disproportionate number of black persons are killed by white policemen that videos have made totally clear, the need for major and immediate changes to our policing system have become obvious. We need to make sure that the words we use to bring out those changes are not used against us. The societal needs for which our current police forces have been given responsibility in recent years are too broad and need to be reimagined and redefined. We cannot allow those who view societal challenges in law and order terms to use the term “defund the police” against those who understand that policing policies need to change. While some people mean a total defunding of police departments when they use the slogan, “defund the police,” many of us believe police departments will continue to need to exist but be demilitarized and not be the sole responders to community incidents. We need to define a role for public safety and community personnel who can keep our communities safe without confrontation and expand the availability of mental health workers in our communities. You can be sure that there will be a war of words over public safety and policing in the next several elections, and we must work hard to get our message clear.

Commentary

In 1993 the first woman attorney general of Virginia was up by 20 points in a race to be the first woman governor of Virginia by defeating the Republican candidate, George Allen Jr. An incident of a person committing a crime while on parole from a Virginia prison during the political campaign led to Allen adopting an “end parole” theme to keep Virginians safe that led to his upset victory. The resulting end parole policy led to filling the jails and prisons, a massive prison building program, and lengthy prison terms for persons who were no longer a threat to society. We have only recently begun to undo the damage done by that simple bumper-sticker term “end parole” that led to many lives—disproportionately black—being destroyed by a terrible public policy. Words do have meaning, but we need to be clear what those words truly mean as they impact public policy.
Great Falls Student Wins Rotary Essay Contest

Peyton Walcott of Great Falls, a rising freshman at Langley High School, won first place in the Rotary District 7610 Four-Way Test Essay Contest for his essay, “Applying the Rotary Club Four-Way Test in Today’s Polarized World.”

Sponsored locally by the Rotary Club of Great Falls at Cooper Middle School, the Four-Way Test Essay Contest asks middle school students to submit essays on the Rotary Four-Way Test of ethical behavior: Is it the Truth? Is it fair to all concerned? Will it build goodwill and better friendships? Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

Peyton wrote, “If implemented across society, the Four-Way Test could provide a framework to solve many pressing issues that pose a threat to rising generations, from calming panic over the coronavirus to making sure the same facts are reported on every media outlet.”

Upon winning the award, Peyton said, “I’m truly honored that my ideas and concepts of maintaining a more stable and factual political climate latched onto those in my community, especially given the inequalities our country is currently facing.”

Peyton’s superb essay won first place in the Great Falls Rotary Club competition and then top prize in the Rotary District 7610 competition, beating winning essays from 6 other local Rotary clubs. His prize winnings totaled $1,000.
An expert is someone who knows some of the worst mistakes that can be made in his subject and how to avoid them.

-Werner Heisenberg

CLASSIFIED

To Advertise in This Paper, Call by Monday 11:00 am 703-778-9411

Announcements

AUCTIONS

Commercial Wood Shop Liquidation Monday, June 29 @ Noon
415 Crowell Ln, Lynchburg, VA
Commercial woodworking equip incl. klm, saws, end matcher, moulding machine, briquetter, shop equip, tools, and more. Bid live or online at tfauctions.com

ABSOLUTE

102 Wooded Acres near Smith Mtn Lake Wed, July 8 @ 12:30PM
12253 Smith Mtn Lake Pike, Huddleston VA
Beautifully wooded with streams, trails, and hunting cabin. Offered in 2 tracts. Bid live or online at tfauctions.com

MCLEAN BRANCH AAUW USED BOOK SALE CANCELED

For the first time in 51 years, the McLean Branch AAUW must cancel the 2020 Used Book Sale due to the impact of Covid-19. The branch’s annual fundraiser raises thousands of dollars for substantial scholarships for women returning to college, local high school STEM awards, and AAUW fellowships and grants for women. There are plans for fundraisers that will partially compensate for the book sale proceeds. Watch for one in early July. It will not only enable contributors to support the scholarships and fellowships but will also please Nationals fans.

THURSDAY, JUNE 25

SATURDAY, JUNE 27

Veteran Donation Event, 10 a.m.-12 p.m. Drive-by donation event at Vienna Presbyterian Church Parking Lot, 134 Park Street NE, Vienna. Operation Golden Shield was founded by Caleb Suh, a first-year cadet at the U.S. Military Academy and a graduate of James Madison High School in Vienna - who coordinated with the Community Living Center at the D.C. VA Medical Center to identify the most urgent needs of healthcare providers and of CLC residents. Delivery to the VA is scheduled for Tuesday, June 30 at 10 a.m. Visit the website: www.operationgoldenshield.com

DRIVE-IN MOVIES AT THE BORO

The Boro is hosting a weekly summer drive-in theater series from now thru July 11. Gates open at 7 p.m. and the movie will begin around 8:30 p.m. with parking spots as first-come, first-serve. The address is 400 Westpark Drive, Tysons, VA. Tickets are available for $20 per vehicle and available at https://www.eventbrite.com/e/drive-in-movies-at-the-boro-tysons-tickets-109175222028. $20 tickets are also available for groups of four wishing to bring chairs or blankets.

Schedule:
- Thursday, June 25 | Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone (PG)
- Friday, June 26 | Back to the Future Part 1 (PG)
- Saturday, June 27 | Back to the Future Part 2 (PG)
- Thursday, July 2 | Batman (PG-13)
- Friday, July 3 | Mission Impossible 3 (PG-13)
- Thursday, July 9 | Willy Wonka & the Chocolate Factory (G | 1971)
- Friday, July 10 | Star Trek (PG-13)
- Saturday, July 11 | Jurassic Park (PG-13)

Submit civic/community announcements at ConnectionNewspapers.com*/ Calendar. Photos and artwork welcome. Deadline is Thursday at noon, at least two weeks before the event. See Bulletin, Page 7 www.ConnectionNewspapers.com

Tell Us What You Think

Submit your letter to the editor here
www.ConnectionNewspapers.com/contact/letter
PHASE 3 DATE NOT YET SET

Governor Ralph Northam presented the third phase of the “Forward Virginia” plan to continue easing public health restrictions while mitigating the spread of COVID-19. The Commonwealth does not yet have a targeted date for entering Phase 3. He added that the earliest that the Commonwealth can enter Phase 3 is Friday, June 26.

Police Reform

Del. Vivian Watts called for NAACP to expand its recommendation on removing officers from schools to include training school administration to refrain from involving law enforcement in what should be school disciplinary issues. Perryman agreed. “What should have been controlled behavior became a criminal issue because you have the presence of a police officer.”

SPRINGFIELD SUPERVISOR Pat Herrity said an elephant in the room had not been addressed in the Public Safety Committee meeting.

“We need to do something to not just address our community in crisis but our [police] department in crisis,” said Herrity, the only Republican on the Board. “The department really has lost confidence in its chief some time ago.”

“The rush to pad a national resume and the incident with Officer Timberlake has exacerbarated that. You compounded that with a Commonwealth Attorney who ran on an anti-police platform who filed not just one assault charge but three for a single incident... Our officers are at a loss.” Herrity said none of the officers he spoke to are of the opinion that Timberlake’s actions were criminal.

Fall 2020

In addition to their own precautions, schools are relying on guidelines from the Virginia High School League (VHSL) on starting up high school sports and the fall season. VHSL has stated that they believe “it is essential to the physical and mental well-being of students to return to physical activity and athletic competition,” in many of their COVID-19 related guidelines that have been released in the last several weeks.

THE LATEST set of guidelines from VHSL, released on June 19, details phase two in the reopening of high school athletics. Guidelines include precautions such as cleaning procedures to be completed at least every two hours, indoor and outdoor practices with at least 10 feet of distance between all participants at all times, and workouts being conducted in “pods” of groups of coaches and students of the same five to 10 people each week to limit exposure. In developing these guidelines, VHSL’s Sports Medicine Advisory Committee is working with the Virginia Department of Health.

VHSL is holding a meeting of the Executive Committee on Thursday, June 25 to discuss the fall season, according to Mike McCall, the Director of Communications at VHSL.
Great Time To List Your Home

Great Falls $1,450,000 Great Falls $1,099,000 Great Falls $2,690,000

Great Falls $2,269,000 McLean $2,399,500 Great Falls $2,399,000

Great Falls $3,499,000 Great Falls $2,650,000

Buyer Activity Has Spiked

Work with the #1 Realtor

Dianne Van Volkenburg and her team of real estate agents and marketing specialists are unsurpassed in providing first-class service to buyers and sellers. In fact, Dianne and her team have one of the highest rates of repeat clients in all of Northern Virginia as former clients, families and friends trust them for their real estate needs.

Inventory is Low - Call Me Today

DIANNE VAN VOLKENBURG
Buy with Confidence. Sell with Success.

9841 Georgetown Pike, Great Falls, VA 22066
703-759-9190 • GreatFallsGreatHomes.com
703-757-3222
sales@GreatFallsGreatHomes.com